Demonstrators March to Home Of Mayor Maier

Milwaukee School Boycott Scheduled To Last 4 Days

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Backers of a civil rights school boycott scheduled to last at least four days staged a protest march Tuesday night at the residence of Mayor Henry Maier.

About 250 persons marched 40 blocks to the apartment building where Maier lives.

Maier had said a similar demonstration the previous night at the home of School Board president John S. Foley "almost smacks of Ku Klux Klanism in reverse."

Pupil absence from public schools dropped substantially Tuesday. Leaders said they would continue the boycott at least through Thursday.

The Rev. James Groppi, 34, a Roman Catholic priest serving as a vice chairman of the boycott committee, withdrew from active participation on the direct orders of his bishop.

Protest March

Auxiliary Bishop Roman R. Atkielski, who had banned the use of parish facilities for "freedom" schools, said he had not barred priests at first from participation in the boycott "because I didn't think they'd be fools enough to go ahead."

The protest march on the mayor's residence started after a boycott leader read Maier's statement calling picketing Monday night at Foley's home "a kind of bigotry."

State Assemblyman Lloyd A. Barbee, only Negro member of the Wisconsin Legislature and head of the boycott committee, said the school protest would continue through Thursday, and possibly longer.

Absentee Level

The number of absentees among the 122,495 pupils enrolled in Milwaukee's 148 public schools dropped from 12,767 Monday on the first day of the boycott to 10,074 Tuesday. In the Negro area, officials counted 5,777 pupils absent compared with a normal rate of 358.

Dist. Atty. Hugh R. O'Connell has said the boycott violates Wisconsin's compulsory school attendance law.

Boycott leaders have asked the school board to adopt a positive policy to achieve greater racial balance.

Former Prime Minister Of Congo Returns From Voluntary Exile

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Former Congolese Prime Minister Cyrille Adoula returned to the Congo today after 14 months of voluntary exile in Europe.

Adoula was premier from August 1961 until July 1964. He was replaced by Moise Tshombe in a move to unify the nation and end the rebellion. Adoula, who had expected to be named premier again, went to Rome.

Body Found in Lake Was Kaukauna Youth

Stephen Kappell, 18, Missing Since Sept. 28 From Oshkosh Dormitory

OSHKOSH — The partially decomposed body found last weekend floating face up in Lake Winnebago, bound and naked, has been identified as that of Stephen Kappell, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Kappell, 1017 Hillcrest Drive, Kaukauna, a freshman student at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh.

Positive identification was made by Oshkosh police and state crime specialists who used dental records and fingerprints to obtain the identification.

In light of developments, Oshkosh Police Chief Harry Guenther today said he is not positively establishing the case as a murder and is leaving open the possibility that the student may have beaten and bound himself, tied a stone to his feet, and hurled himself into Lake Winnebago near where he was found Saturday.

Extensive Investigation

The police chief said he is not discounting suicide "because, even though the body is beaten, there is no report of a skull fracture."

Guenther said he is ordering an extensive investigation on the college campus where the student was last seen alive Sept. 23 and from where he disappeared without taking his clothing from his room in Breese Hall.

While police were pondering the fate of the Kaukauna student in Oshkosh, friends and family in his hometown 25 miles away could not help but wonder what did happen to the youth they knew as polite and serious, and a fine athlete.

Kappell, the oldest child in his family, was a member of the baseball, football, track, volleyball and wresting teams, active in the K-Club, a good, B average student, interested in literature, writing and music.

Mingled Well

One teacher said he mingled well and was well accepted by the students. He was courteous and never got into trouble. He had been looking forward to a teaching profession and a good college career.

Johnson Gets Word He Can Leave Hospital

Announcement Made After President Signs Pollution Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson got word from his doctors today that he can leave the hospital any time "after tonight."

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers, said, however, that Johnson will remain at Bethesda Naval Hospital tonight and he will have further word later on when the President plans to leave.

Doctors gave the word after examining the President late Tuesday night and this morning.

Moyers reported they found everything was in very good order.

The President's electrocardiogram was perfect, Moyers said, and his blood pressure better than any of the doctors in the group — even the youngest.

13th Day

Johnson underwent a gall bladder operation and removal of a kidney stone Oct. 8. This was his 13th day in the hospital. Doctors had said earlier that the average time for a gall bladder patient to remain hospitalized was 10 to 14 days.

Word of the clearance for Johnson to quit the hospital came after the chief executive had signed into law in his hospital room a bill to fight air poliution and require exhaust controls on all cars beginning with 1968 models.

A delegation of about a dozen congressmen, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and secretary of welfare John Gardner looked on as the president signed the measure at a long mahogany desk in his third-floor hospital suite.

Reynolds Gets Committee Nod

Former Governor Would Get Bench In East Wisconsin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee approved today President Johnson's nomination of former Gov. John W. Reynolds of Wisconsin to be a U.S. district judge for eastern Wisconsin.

In Central Highlands

150-200 Viet Cong Killed in 2 Attacks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two big Viet Cong attacks on government troops in South Viet Nam's central highlands were beaten off during the night and an estimated 150-200 guerrillas killed, U.S. military advisers reported today.

A U.S. army helicopter was shot down during one of the battles and four Americans aboard were killed.

U.S. advisers said government troops beat off attacks by two Viet Cong battalions in a fierce battle in the Ba Long valley, about 400 miles north of Saigon near the North Viet Nam border.

94 Bodies

The advisers reported 94 Viet Cong bodies had been counted and "they're still counting." Vietnamese casualties were described as light.

"You know they were hurt badly when they left so many of their dead lying around," said one American. "You can rest assured they carried some more away."

Guerrilla bodies were strewn in the mud and barbed wire around the government outpost.

The Viet Cong tried to cross a moat with a bamboo bridge but a mine detonated from the main outpost stopped them.

The government forces also took one wounded captive, a regular North Vietnamese soldier who told intelligence officers that he was with the Viet Cong 800th Battalion which rendezvoused two days ago west of Hue. H said he came from North Viet Nam six months ago with other Hanoi regulars to fill out the battalion.

Seize Weapons

A large store of Viet Cong weapons was seized, including seven Chinese antitank weapons, four machine guns and a rocket launcher.

The American helicopter was shot down during an attack by 200 to 500 Viet Cong on the Plei Me special forces camp, 25 miles south of Pleiku. The camp was defended by 300 mountain tribesmen with 10 American advisers.

Other U.S. planes pounded the enemy. Twenty Viet Cong bodies were counted on the barbed wire around the camp, and a U.S. observer said 60 to 100 guerrilla bodies were sighted in the general area.

Casualties among the tribesmen were described as light, but there were fears for a small village just outside the camp where many of their families lived.

A patrol which set out from the camp Monday had not been heard from and its position was not known.

It was the first Communist attack on the camp since it was set up two years ago. The camp lies on a flat expanse surrounded by low hills.

A U.S. Air Force B57 bomber, believed to have been on a mission to Plei Me, crashed on the outskirts of Pleiku. One crewman was injured.

Court May Delay Rights Killing Trial

Ruling Needed on Juror Selection Law by Today

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A young Ku Klux Klansman's murder trial may be put off until spring unless the Alabama Supreme Court can hand down a speedy ruling today on a juror selection law.

The question asked of the Supreme Court: Can jurors who say they regard Negroes and white civil rights workers as inferior be dismissed from the trial on grounds they are prejudiced?

The Klansman, Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, of Fairfield, Ala., is charged with the slaying of a white civil rights worker, Viola Liuzzo last March 25 near Hayneville.

Must Resume

Mrs. Liuzzo, a 39-year-old Detroit housewife and mother of five children, was killed as she ferried Negroes back to Selma after they staged a 50-mile march on the Alabama Capitol.

Circuit Judge T. Werth Thagard said the trial in Hayneville, 28 miles west of here, must resume by this afternoon or be rescheduled next May.

Thagard called a 24-hour recess Tuesday to permit the chief prosecutor, Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, to appeal for a ruling on the question of prejudice to the high court.

Flowers had protested that 11 of 30 jurors qualified to hear the case should be dismissed because they indicated prejudice which would keep the state from getting a fair trial.

Chief justice J. Ed Livingston scheduled oral arguments by the red-haired attorney general for this morning and said he would appoint four of the court's seven justices to hear the appeal.

Thagard said that unless the trial resumes this afternoon there would not be enough time remaining this week to hear evidence and he has other court commitments next week.

Stream of Refugees From Cuba Stops

Havana Radio Blames Weather; U. S. Bureau Says It's Perfect

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The stream of small boats carrying Cuban refugees across the Florida Straits came to a mysterious halt today.

A U.S. Coast Guard spokesman said planes and cutters have sighted no approaching boats in the past 24 hours despite calm seas.

Havana radio said today that bad weather Tuesday prevented boats from leaving Cuba. But the U.S. Weather Bureau in Miami said the weather was fine. "One of the best days we've had in two weeks," said one forecaster.

The Cuban government reportedly agreed to curtail the disorderly exodus more than a week ago during negotiations for movement of thousands of refugees.

That was disclosed in the Cuban government's note of Oct. 12, which has been distributed to some exile groups in Miami, the New York Herald Tribune said. The newspaper said U.S. officials felt that Cuba's making the text available was a blatant breach of diplomatic procedure.

The note also said that the United States offered to fly 100 to 130 persons daily from Cuba. Cuba offered to increase the number to 400 a day by adding its own planes to the ones the United States proposed to fly, the note said.

The Cuban government also agreed to exchange its political prisoners on a one-for-one basis for political prisoners in 12 Latin-American countries. The Herald Tribune said the United States had turned down the offer in its reply.

Ten boats carrying 160 refugees arrived in Key West Monday.

Asked to Leave

However, a spokesman for the Cuban Foreign Ministry announced that 11 U.S. newsmen who went to the island to cover the refugees' departure have been asked to leave on the ground their work is finished.

Though the statement that the newsmen's work is over might indicate an end to the exodus, Cuban officials also said the 11 are waiting at Camarioca for transportation to Florida on refugee boats.

Many exiles in Miami have said they are fearful that Fidel Castro will threaten to cancel departures unless those opposed to his regime halt their efforts to overthrow him.

For this reason, they say, they are hastening to get relatives and friends out of Cuba without awaiting negotiations by the United States to establish an orderly exodus.

Won't Go

Havana radio reported that at least one family, separated for four years, will not be reunited.

A broadcast said Fernando Rodriguez Perez, an exile since 1961, arrived at Camarioca to pick up his wife and two children.

"Positively I will not go," the radio quoted Mrs. Rodriguez as saying.

The radio said the Rodriguez children joined their mother in refusing to leave Cuba.

Where the Money Goes

Imperial Wizard Shelton Stays Silent Through Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton kept silent today under a fire of questions from congressional investigators about where Ku Klux Klan money goes.

He was asked about the purchase of a Cadillac, about money spent in a jewelry shop, about an insurance company and about checks drawn on the Klan account.

To each query, he gave the same response he had to questions Tuesday about his United Klans of America. This was read from a card:

"I respectfully decline to answer that question for the reason that I honestly believe my answer might tend to incriminate me in violation of my rights guaranteed to me by Amendments Five, One, Four and Fourteen of the Constitution of the United States of America."

Grand Dragons

Shelton again was accompanied by some of his grand dragons when he came to the second session of the hearings by the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

He was wearing a lapel button with the single word "Never" on it.

Whatever other significance it may have, it could have meant "never talk" on this day. For he refused to tell newsmen about the button. And, when Committee Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., asked him to explain it, Shelton replied that he must refuse because his answer might tend to incriminate him.

Donald T. Appell, a committee investigator, did most of the questioning of Shelton about Klan finances. He presented a Klan income tax return which he said was signed by Shelton.

The period covered by the return was not clear.

Total Income

Appell said the report showed an income of $18,447 but said outgoing checks totaled some $12,036. He asked if that meant the total net income for all of

150 Freshmen Involved

Eggs Pelt Police in Fracas at Lawrence

Three Appleton policemen were pelted during an egg throwing melee at a campus fraternity house at Lawrence University Tuesday evening. Approximately 150 freshmen took part in the disturbance.

The outbreak, which started about 9 p.m. at the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity house, lasted about a half hour and attracted a large throng of spectators in addition to the students.

The disturbance began when a group of Lawrence freshmen attempted to capture a large French flag placed on the fraternity house. The flag was used to call attention to an upcoming fraternity event. Upperclass students occupy the fraternity house.

One squad car was sent to the campus following an initial call to the police department. Three more cars and several additional policemen were dispatched a short time later following a call for assistance from the first patrolman at the scene.

Students and spectators were blocking the Lawe-Alton street intersection when officers arrived. Persons in the crowd began pelting the squad cars with eggs.

Policemen used car-mounted public address systems in appealing to the crowd to disperse but their efforts were met with catcalls and more egg-throwing.

Hit with eggs hurled by the students were Charles List, David Head and Leo Bosch. They were not injured.

The fraternity house also was splattered with eggs and water-filled balloons. Empty balloons littered the front and rear lawns at the house. A spokesman at the house said the students living there will clean the building.

Policemen pulled back from the scene and stood by at a distance following a request by Lawrence officials.

The crowd began dispersing about 9:30 p.m. after Dean of Men Kenneth Henderson talked to the freshmen. President Curtis Tarr also was called to the scene by police.

Police Capt. Donald Pauli said today there was no violence and there were no reported injuries stemming from the disturbance.

Look for It Tonight

Scientists Describe Way to View Comet

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists say this is the way to get the best view of the comet Ikeya-Seki tonight, when it is expected to whip around the sun.

—Look in the direction of the sun tonight just after sundown— and at sunrise Thursday. If the comet is visible, it will be south of the sun at sunset and north of the sun at sunrise.

—Even if the comet's head isn't visible, you may be able to spot its 10-million-mile tail of frozen gases stretching halfway up the sky.

—Be careful, however, not to look while the sun is above the horizon, because direct sunlight can cause temporary or permanent eye damage.

—Regardless of your geographical location, you may be able to see the comet or its tail at sunset or sunrise. The actual swing around the sun will be visible only from the Pacific side of the earth.

Nun Launches Ship Named After Priest

BAY CITY, Mich. (AP) — A U.S. Navy ship is to be christened by a nun—it is named for the only Navy chaplain to be awarded the Medal of Honor—and launched at the Defoe Shipbuilding Co. today.

The 3,400-ton destroyer escort O'Callahan is to be named after the late Rev. Joseph T. O'Callahan, a World War II Navy chaplain.

His sister, Sister Rose Marie, a missionary nun serving in the Philippines, will christen the ship. She is head of the literature and arts division of Maryknoll College, Quezon City.

The Very Rev. Raymond J. Swords, president of the College of Holy Cross, Worcester, Mass., is to be the principal speaker.

Father O'Callahan, who died in March 1964, was awarded the United States' highest military decoration by President Harry S Truman in 1946 for heroism while serving aboard the aircraft carrier Franklin in March 1945 off Kobe, Japan.

Although wounded, he tended other wounded and gave last rites to the dying as heavy firing swept the flight deck and shells exploded about him. He also helped toss live shells over the side and recruited and led a firefighting party into an ammunition magazine and flooded the compartment to prevent further explosions.

Unions Heading for Time of Revoution

AFL-CIO to Ease Out 'Nine Old Men' of Powerful Executive Board

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American labor movement is heading into a period which may well bring the most revolutionary changes in a decade.

First will come the belated move by the AFL-CIO to gently but firmly ease the nine old men — retired or ousted union chiefs — off its powerful executive council.

They will be replaced by some of the new breed of labor executives gradually pushing aside the old guard of their bosses who cut their teeth in the rough and tumble organizing battles of the 1930s.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, long reluctant to brush aside venerable associates of half a century, is reportedly determined to go through with it in December at the AFL-CIO's convention in San Francisco.

New Policies

In replacing one-third of its vice presidents with younger men, the AFL-CIO hopes to set forward new policies to recoup some of labor's lost ground in the nation's dramatically shifting work force.

Although total union membership edged upward in the past few years, it has dropped from 33 per cent to 29 per cent of the nation's growing labor force, over the AFL-CIO's 10-year history.

Rapid shifts in technology and automation are creating an increasingly more difficult organizing problem for labor unions. So is the sharp increase in service jobs outstripping manufacturing in recent years.

Mass Organization

There will never again be any mass organizing campaigns as in the 1930s," said one labor spokesman.

The problem now is a more patient, persuasive approach to organizing small units of white collar workers operating automated office machinery — many of whom cling to a traditional resistance to unions.

The flood of youths into the work force with no memory of depression days when labor won its place in the sun is another problem for union organizers.

Just how the revamped AFL-CIO executive council will seek to meet these and other labor goals will not become apparent until the council's meeting in Honolulu next February.

Rejoin Union

An even more dramatic — but by no means certain — labor prospect in the months ahead is the possibility of the giant Teamsters Union rejoining the AFL-CIO.

It all depends on what the Supreme Court does with Teamsters President James R. Hoffa's appeals of two criminal sentences — eight years for jury tampering and five years for defrauding the union pension fund.

Reliable labor sources say the 1.7 million-member Teamsters would be invited back into the AFL-CIO if Hoffa is forced to step down and go to prison.

The impending changes in the AFL-CIO power structure in December are expected to ease out labor leaders such as David J. McDonald, ousted Steelworkers president, and fiery little James B. Carey, who quit as chief of the International Union of Electrical Workers when the Labor Department declared his re-election fraudulent.

Guess At Replacements

I. W. Abel, new Steelworkers president, is almost certain to replace McDonald on the AFL-CIO executive council, but who will fill the eight other vacated seats is sheer guesswork.

The only word from informed sources is that they will be younger, active union presidents.

The average age of the nine slated for forced retirement is just under 69, although federation spokesmen insist age has nothing to do with it.

Meany — who at 71 doesn't like to talk about age — will run for a new two-year term as president of the 13 million-member federation without opposition.

In addition to McDonald, 62, and Carey, 54, other ex-union presidents slated to be shunted off the executive council to an unofficial advisory role are:

Harry C. Bates, 62, bricklayers; William C. Birthright, 78, barbers; A. J. Hayes, 65, machinists; O. A. Knight, 63, oil workers; William C. McFetridge, 71, building service employes; Lawrence M. Raftery, 70, painters, and Emil Rieve, 73, textile workers.

Church Wants Property to be Tax Exempt

Appleton Parish in Building Program Sends Letter to City

Memorial Presbyterian Church, engaged in a quarter million dollar building program, has requested the city of Appleton to designate some of its holdings as tax exempt properties.

The letter from church officials was considered during a meeting of the common council's finance committee and referred to the assessor for his recommendation.

Sometime ago the church purchased three pieces of property for a building program and used them temporarily as rental units. They have now been razed and the church seeks to have the property taken off the tax roll.

The pastor has been residing at 872 E. Alton St. in another home the church purchased and the request is to also make that tax exempt.

No Action on Bill

On another matter, the committee took no action in approving payment of a bill received from a Madison law firm for recodifying the Appleton city ordinances. The cost is more than the original contract and Ald. John MacDonald (7th) has raised objection.

The firm sent the city a letter explaining the additional costs came about due to considerably more work performed over terms of the contract and the welfare department had not approved of the additional expense involved. MacDonald says he will oppose payment of the voucher until he finds out who authorized the extra expenditure.

Manslaughter Charged in Manawa Death

Bernard Gallagher To Face Trial on Rodeo Stabbing

WAUPACA — Bernard E. Gallagher, 20, Mildstadt, Ill., accused in the July 4 stabbing at Manawa of James Genke, 21, route 1, New London, has been charged with manslaughter, according to Waupaca County Dist. Atty. Richard E. Johnson. The charge was filed in County Court Tuesday.

Gallagher had been charged with mayhem, carrying a concealed weapon and causing injury by conduct regardless of life. These charges will be dismissed, Johnson said. Gallagher is free on a $2,000 cash bond and will be brought to trial Dec. 15. The manslaughter charge carries a possible prison sentence of up to 10 years.

The incident, in which Genke allegedly was stabbed with a pocket knife, occurred during the Manawa Rodeo festivities. Genke was taken to New London Community Hospital, where he underwent emergency surgery. He died July 15. The alleged stabbing was witnessed by two Manawa policemen and Gallagher was taken into custody a few minutes after the incident.

"I Only Did What had to be done," said Mrs. Joseph Kohl after she used mouth to mouth resuscitation in saving the life of Cindy Teague, 14 months, who nearly drowned in a pool near her home at 2600 W. Wisconsin Ave. Tuesday. With Mrs. Kohl are her husband who assisted by artificially working the tot's lungs, and their dog, a witness to the accident. Both the Kohls have heart trouble. Kohl also is recovering from a broken hip. The girl, is listed in good condition at Appleton Memorial Hospital where she will be confined for a few more days. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Public Works Board Balks At Financing for AHS East

Refuses to Recommend Bond Issue

The Appleton Board of Public Works balked Tuesday on accepting the board of education's latest proposition for financing a proposed new senior high school.

There also were claims the school board did not live up to a so-called gentlemen's agreement arrived at with the council two weeks ago.

At its last meeting the council said it would approve a $5 million bond issue for the school board to build and equip Appleton High School East. Originally, the board requested $5.6 million.

However, the school board met recently and after reviewing the school costs, cut $199,000 and deferred about $419,000 in other items, claiming it was meeting the council's $5 million ultimatum.

'Given Assurance'

By a 5 to 3 vote yesterday, the board of public works refused to recommend acceptance of the school board's latest proposal, which came under fire from some aldermen.

"I'm not against a new high school but I am going to vote against the latest proposal by the board of education. We asked for a school to be built and fully equipped for $5 million and were given assurance this could be done," Pointer declared.

Ald. R. P. Groh (8th), council president, said he would vote against the board's proposition too.

"As I see it under its latest proposal, the board of education will fare better by asking for a $5 million bond issue instead of $5.6 million," Groh said.

More Than in Request

Groh explained that with more than $400,000 in school building deferments, plus federal aid that will become available once the school is up, the board of education would actually have more income than its original request.

The board had before it a letter from the school board asking approval to award contracts totaling $4.1 million to the five prime contractors who submitted low bids. Included in the $4.1 million figure is the

State Hospital Dental Section Is Accredited

Winnebago First State Institution To Receive Honor

WINNEBAGO — The Winnebago State Hospital dental department has been granted accreditation by the American Dental Association Council (ADAC).

This distinction is the first conferred on a state institution and the honor has gone to few mental hospitals in the nation.

Dr. C. A. Frey, Appleton, director of dental services at WSH, said today the clinical dental services were evaluated during the early part of 1965 and full accreditation was granted in late June, 1965.

The hospital dental service of ADAC encourages accreditation of all patient dental services. Seeking the accreditation is voluntary on the part of a hospital's dental service.

High Standards

Dr. Frey said accreditation is sought "Simply because this is proof that the dental service desires to meet and maintain the highest standards of the dental profession." Plans for accreditation were started when plans were made for the new dental clinic housed in Gordon Hall. The new section is designed so patients are not subjected to a clinical atmosphere.

Each operating area is a pleasant individual room. One operating area is equipped for general anesthesia and has an adjacent recovery room. "We are equipped to give complete dental rehabilitation to the most difficult patient," Dr. Frey said.

The staff includes Dr. Frey, Dr. Charles Williams, Mrs. Mildred Fasel, dental assistant, and Mrs. Elsie Lautenschlar, hygienist.

Wisconsin Missing Wave of Prosperity, UW Professor Says

Research, Development Booming, But Industry Ills Causing Lag

University of Wisconsin Prof. John Smith, addressing 150 members of the 8th District Research and Development conference today at the Terrace Motor Inn, said research and development are enjoying their greatest boom, but Wisconsin and the rest of the midwest have fallen behind other states in the prosperity wave.

He cited examples of research and development centers connected with universities and other institutions which have worked hand-in-glove with development of "bread and butter materials" as well as space age explorations.

Must Tend to Ills

Research and development only 40 years ago involved about 300 known industrial laboratories and employed less than 6,000 persons. Five years ago more than 5,000 laboratories were known to be in existence, employing more than 400,000 persons and using the knowledge of 36 per cent of the engineers and scientists known in American today.

In less than five years, Prof. Smith estimated, the industry will be hiring close to one million persons and demands for engineers and scientists will exhaust the suppiy.

He said the Pacific coast and states in the northeast section of the country expend more than 30 per cent of research funds and only five cities hire the greatest share of scientists and engineers in connection with research and development.

Smith said Wisconsin has not fully participated in the national growth of research and told those attending that the state must tend to the ills of its present industry and make it a healthy climate, before it can expect to attract other industries. He said small and medium-sized businesses have found it difficult to get interested in research and development programs, but, he reminded the audience, many of the giants of the industry today were once small and medium-sized businesses struggling for existence.

Outagamie Tavern Operator Fined $5 on Malt Beverage Charge

Two Outagamie County tavern operators appeared in County Court Branch 2 Tuesday afternoon on charges they acquired fermented malt beverages from a licensee at a time when they were indebted for similar purchases made more than 15 days prior.

William Geurts, 37, 517 Pine St., Little Chute, was fined $5 and costs on his plea of guilty.

Howard C. Kamkes, 1101 W. Wisconsin Ave., filed an affidavit of prejudice against County Judge Gustave J. Keller. The matter against Kamkes was continued for assignment to another judge and bond was set at $100.

The complaints were signed by the Beverage and Cigaret Tax Division, Wisconsin State Department of Taxation.

Officials Claim U. S. Doesn't Force Its Policy Upon Others

Say Protests Show Disrespect For Country in Talk at UW Center

A University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center audience was told Tuesday that the United States "does not force its policies down the throats" of other nations.

Scott C. Lyon, deputy director of the office of special consular services, pointed to President Charles DeGaulle of France as an example where the U.S. is having problems with its foreign policy.

A second State Department official, Harrison Holland, charged that protestors of U.S. policy in Viet Nam are "showing disrespect for the country." Holland, second secretary consul in Tokyo, Japan, said he does not understand what motivates the protestors.

Having returned recently from Japan, Holland wondered where the government's efforts to communicate its purposes to the American people have broken down.

New Aggression

He said the U.S. is facing a "new type of aggression" in Viet Nam. "It is nothing like we faced at Pearl Harbor, Munich or in Korea" he claimed.

Holland said the Communists are "trying to cause frustration for the U.S. in its attempts to provide security there."

"We are in Viet Nam to prevent the same thing from happening elsewhere," Holland asserted. He said the U.S. is "trying to defeat the Communists" and "give our Southeast Asian allies the assurance that the U.S. fulfills its commitments." Holland claimed that if the U.S. does not fulfill its commitment, it will "create doubts among the Southeast Asians and seriously undermine our efforts in that area."

He told the audience the "issues are not clear cut" in Viet Nam. "The more light the State Department can throw on the problem the better for all of us," he added. Holland said that he and Lyon "hope to clarify some of the terribly complicated problems" by traveling throughout Wisconsin, speaking to audiences at universities and elsewhere.

No Easy Solution

Asked what is the fastest way to solve the Viet Nam problem, Holland replied there isn't any easy solution. "A great deal depends on the other side," he said. Whenever they are ready to sit down at the conference table, we are ready." He didn't think however, that the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were ready, based on efforts made by the U.S. to call a conference.

"We must convince Hanoi and Peking they won't succeed on their venture" Holland asserted. He told the audience the U.S. is using "very calculated action" such as bombing raids, and land attacks "to get maximum pressure, but not cause any new problem." Holland added it is important that U. S. action "avoid alienating the Soviet Union."

He felt the U.S. "must stop the fighting first." "There are ways to tighten pressures to get the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese to the conference table," Holland commented.

Asked what impact U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic has had in Latin America, Lyon said the Latin Americans are "quite sensitive about intervention" but have an "innate respect for people who can act quickly and decisively when necessary." He claimed

Mental Health Group Cites Winnebago Unit

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County institutions will be honored by the Wisconsin Association for Mental Health at its annual meeting Thursday at the Schroeder-Sheraton Hotel at Milwaukee for "the excellence of its volunteer program."

Mrs. Maxine Seivers, part-time volunteer coordinator for the county institutions, will receive the award on behalf of the county institutions.

Traffic Lights May be in Use Late This Week

LITTLE CHUTE — Work on the first set of automatic traffic control signals in the village is expected to be completed late this week, according to Robert Nechodom, chief of police.

The signals will be located at Madison and Main Streets where heavy traffic congestion is reported as Madison serves as a link to Kimberly across the Community Bridge and Main Street is the busiest street in the community.

Traffic signals are particularly important during periods when shift changes are made at the Combined Locks and Kimberly-Clark mills which often coincide with the time youngsters are attending or leaving school.

Chief Nechodom advised motorists to approach the intersection with caution even though they may have the green light until everyone becomes accustomed to the automatic signals.

Scout Training Class Location Changed for Thursday's Session

LITTLE CHUTE — The training sessions for adult leaders in Boy and Cub Scout work have been transferred from the State Graded School to the village hall for the 7:30 p.m. Thursday session, according to Russell Johns, publicity chairman.

Joseph LeBlanc will discuss "How To Train Junior Leaders" for the Boy Scout session and Edward Farrell will speak to Cub leaders on "Planning A Cub Scout Program."

Harold Miller Is Easter Seal Head

Outagamie Group Picks Officers, Delegates to Its State Meeting

Harold W. Miller was elected president of the Outagamie County Easter Seal Society at its annual meeting Tuesday evening at the Conway Hotel.

George Leary was named first vice president, Dr. Paul Hodges, Jr., second vice president; Mrs. William Helm, treasurer, and Mrs. Arnold Wichos, secretary.

Directors for three year terms are Miss Fern Mead, Appleton; Mrs. Louis Kaphigst, Black Creek; Lloyd S. Taylor, Appleton; Lyle Martens, Seymour; Mrs. Albert Osenroth, Appleton; William Morrissey, Hortonville; Earl Kuether, Shiocton; Victor Mueller, Appleton, and Mrs. Carl Nagan, Combined Locks.

County delegates to the state society's annual meeting at Waukesha Friday and Saturday will be Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gehrke.

A $12,000 budget was presented for the 1965-66 year. Mrs. Helm, treasurer, reported receipts of $14,702 and disbursements of $11,294 for its various programs for the past year.

Miss Mead, Camp Wawbeek chairman, said 32 county residents attended the camp. Two mothers and their cerebral palsied children from here attended the institute conducted prior to the camping session.

Loan Equipment

Mrs. L. H. Chudacoff, chairman of the loan equipment closet, said additional orthopedic equipment has been purchased this year. The county nurses supervises placement of the equipment pieces.

A. H. Blankenburg is chairman of the new architectural barriers committee assisted by George Leary and Dr. Hodges. Its program is in conjunction with the president's committee for the physically handicapped intended to make public buildings and public transportation accessible to the handicapped.

School, Garage Bonding Okayed

Appleton Council to be Asked To Approve $1.9 Million Issue

Bonding for underwriting the cost of the Huntley School addition and new municipal garage was given the okay by the Appleton board of Public works Tuesday.

The city council will be asked next week to bond for $1.9 million including $800,000 for the garage, $300,000 for the school and $800,000 to cover a storm sewer construction note which is due.

It is common procedure to obtain a short term note to cover major sewer construction costs and later include the amount in a bond issue.

The board indicated it would keep the proposed $5 million allocation for a new senior high school in a separate bond issue—once it's approved. The school proposition has encountered opposition.

$6.9 Million Issue

However, once all bonding projects are approved the city intends to float one issue for $6.9 million. There is the possibility though that two issues would come about by splitting up the projects.

Aldermen indicated there was no reason for delaying the city garage or Huntley addition because low bids were close to original estimates.

The senior high project was about $1.1 million higher than originally estimated by the school board.

The board withheld action on a proposed charter amendment easing terms of the city's elected officials four years instead of two. The matter will be discussed by the entire council Monday night.

Youth May Lose Sight of Eye After Shooting

A 17-year-old Appleton youth faces surgery for injuries he received when he was shot by his 13-year-old brother at their south side home Tuesday evening.

Appleton police, who did not release the name of the injured youth, said the incident occurred about 8 p.m. The matter is under investigation.

Pellets from a 20-gauge shotgun struck the youth in the face, including the left eye, and in the upper part of his body.

He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital. Police were told he may lose the sight of the eye.

Kaukauna Public Works Budget Cut

Finance Committee Slashes $316,000 Request by $40,000

KAUKAUNA — A $316,800 000 for sanitary sewers, $57,100 public works budget for 1966, for storm sewers $10,000 for recommended by the board of sidewalks, $15,000 for equipment public works to the Kaukauna including two trucks and two Council Tuesday night, was cut plows and $20,000 for water to $276,700 by the finance main installation.

committee for study with the 1966 budget.

The clerk was authorized to notify the county highway commission the city has no objection to removing from their budget an appropriation for the improvement of County Trunk Q. A survey to determine whether sanitary sewer could be extended to Cleveland Avenue south of Tenth Street was ordered. Property owners in that area will be given to May 1, 1966 to install septic tanks if extension of sanitary sewers did not prove feasible.

The program recommended by the finance unit calls for $100,000 permanent street paving program, $20,000 for off-street parking, $1,600 for paving of parking lots, $10,000 for seal coating, $10,000 for oiling, $33-

Advertise For Trucks

The city engineer was instructed to prepare specifications for two new trucks for the street department, one truck for the park department and a vanette for the public works department. Trucks are to be bid as a group. Approval was given to the purchase of two Drott snowplow blades at a total cost of $4,500, the bid deemed most advantageous to the city.

Victor Luedtke, park superintendent, and a member of his crew were authorized to attend a shade tree conference at Madison Nov. 9 and 10. Approval was also given to a member of the police department to attend a Madison meeting next Tuesday and Wednesday at which the attorney general will discuss recent legislation concerning information police may hold confidential pending trial of persons arrested.

A complaint from a citizen, about the city health officer also serving on the board of education despite the two positions being classed as incompatible by the League of Municipalities and attorney general, was referred to the board of health, legislative committee and city attorney.

Plans were made to meet with representatives of City Employes Local 130 Monday to discuss 1966 contract terms.

Officers of the Oshkosh Police Department and Winnebago County Sheriff's officials Tuesday returned to the scene where the beaten and bound body of Stephen Kappell, 18, Kaukauna was found floating in Lake Winnebago near Miller's Bay. Police Chief, Harry Guenther, in charge of the investigation ordered scuba divers to comb the bottom of the lake for possible clues to help solve the murder. (Story on A-1.) (Post-Crescent Photo)

Library, Plan Budgets OK'd For Kaukauna

Council Defers Approval of Other Units' Requests

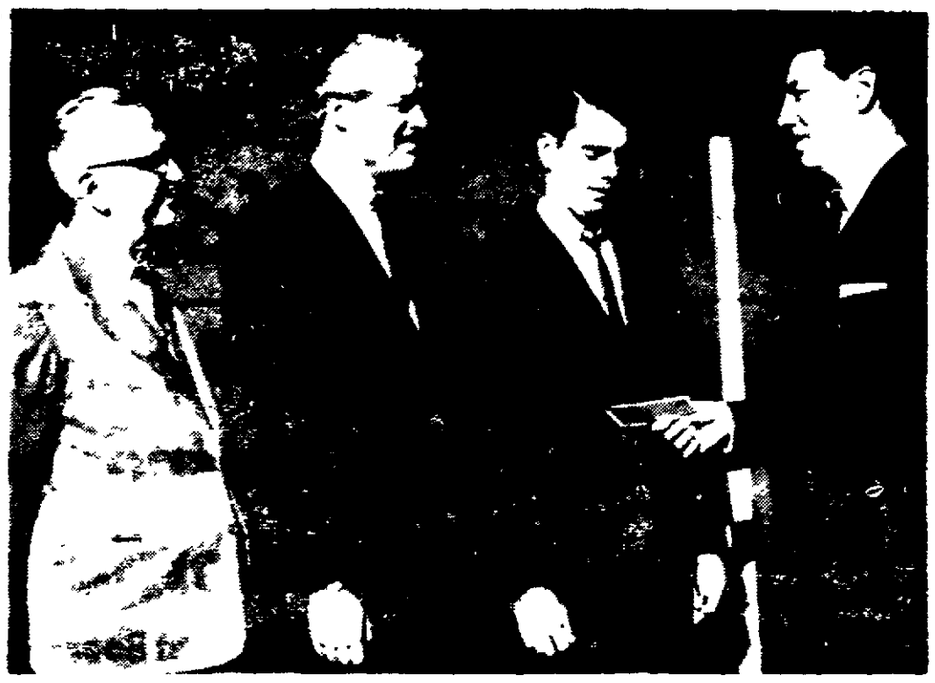
KAUKAUNA — Two 1966 department budgets were approved by the common council Tuesday night with others being held over for study by the finance committee and representatives of the departments involved.

Approved was a $39,650 library budget of which the city will pay $32,654 and the recreation and planning operation budget of which the city's share will be $2,737. Both are slightly more than in the 1965 budget.

A $52,070 vocational and adult school budget was deferred pending a report from the school director on plans for an area vocational school.

Action on park, recreation and recreation department budgets was postponed subject to salary adjustments to be considered at a later date. Plans were made to meet with the municipal justice to discuss purchases he has requested.

Aldermen set 7 p.m. Tuesday for a meeting of the board of education and representatives of towns in the school district to discuss the proposed 1966 school budget. Each year aldermen invite representatives of other areas in the district to participate in discussions on the school budget, although most of the total budget is picked up through city taxes.



A Jeffrey's Scholarship has been awarded to James A. Ueber, second from right, a senior at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh and son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ueber, 1335 W. Glendale Ave., Appleton. At the presentation from left were Dr. Lothar F. Iversen, WSU-O professor of economics; Dr. Robert P. Hungate, dean of WSU-O's school of business administration; Ueber, and Sidney R. Hirschberg, Oshkosh Jeffrey's owner who presented the award. The scholarship is awarded annually to a WSU-O senior or junior majoring in marketing or general business administration and covers all incidental fees for the entire academic year. Leadership and character are award bases. WSU-O Photo.

Main Office of C of C to Change

KAUKAUNA — Directors of the Chamber of Commerce voted Monday to relocate its main office from Crooks Avenue to 122 W. Wisconsin Avenue. The move will be made later this month.

Preliminary plans were discussed for the Oct. 27 good will tour of the community by a group of Sheboygan businessmen. The executive secretary was instructed to write letters to the Lions Club, Jaycees and Kiwanis Club asking them to participate in the dinner.

Discussion was held on the annual dinner and membership drive. Directors were invited to participate in an industrial development and brochure planning talk to be given at 10 a.m. Friday at the Utility Office by a representative of the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce.

Train, Auto Collide At Entrance to Paper Company Parking Lot

NEENAH — A North Western Railway engine and a car collided entering the Neenah Paper Co. parking lot at 7 a.m. today.

Police said the train was traveling south past the parking lot when Joseph P. Wimberger, 24, route 1, Larsen, was leaving the lot and failed to see the train approaching from the right. The train blew the whistle but too late to avoid the collision, police said.

Police said the train traveled three blocks before being able to stop. The engineer was Leonard Trexell, Fond du Lac, police said.

Damage was estimated to be in excess of $100, police said.

Defer Several Recommendations

Kaukauna Aldermen Refuse to Act As Finance, Police Groups Clash

KAUKAUNA—Aldermen refused to take action on several recommendations made by the public protection and safety committee of the common council meeting Tuesday night unless the stipulation were included that the finance committee review all items involving financial expenditures.

Although most of the recommendations involved finances, Ald. George Simon, chairman, public protection and safety committee chairman, defended the committee report. He indicated the committee had met with representatives of the police and fire departments and, although other aldermen had been invited, only committee members were present. He felt it unfair that the committee hold meetings and make recommendations which are to be questioned later.

Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon said if more persons can discuss issues before study by the council, better government must result, as more pros and cons can be studied on the issues. Simon agreed but felt aldermen should have appeared at the committee session to be heard rather than wait for the subjects to be brought before the council.

Items Deferred

Committee items scheduled for finance committee study include addition of a police stenographer and an additional man for the police department, adding a fourth sergeant to the police department to work on a rotation basis with one sergeant on duty at all times and one man behind the desk in the office, a complete radio system for the police department and department salary increases.

Other committee recommendations to be studied by the finance committee include an adjustment of $15 per month pay for the fire department mechanic, addition of two full-time firemen, four weeks vacation with pay after 20 years service for police and fire personnel, $15,000 appropriation for a new fire truck, purchase of a refrigerator at a cost of no more than $250 for the fire department and pay increases for firemen.

Recommendation Passed

The lone committee recommendation passed was that the utility commission investigate the possibility of remodeling the police department building. At a finance committee session following the council meeting, finance committee members indicated police and firemen pay increases and vacation plans would not be considered pending the results of negotiations with other city employes on salary adjustments.

Ald. William Rogers (4th) asked for further study on purchase of a new fire truck, as the 1966 budget included a $15,000 appropriation to be set aside toward future purchase price of the vehicle. He questioned whether the truck was necessary, stating it appeared the department did not have sufficient men to handle the vehicles presently owned.

Other aldermen pointed out a similar appropriation was made last year and the 1966 figure was continuing a long-range plan to make purchase of the vehicle possible without hitting taxpayers in one year for a major purchase.

'Edith' Given At Kimberly

Menasha Unit's Fire Prevention Program Popular

KIMBERLY — The volunteer fire department arranged to have the Menasha Fire Department program, "Edith," presented today at Holy Name Grade School, John R. Gerritts Junior High School and the senior high school as part of its fire prevention week program.

The program was also given during the noon hour at the clubhouse for foremen and supervisors at the Kimberly-Clark Mill. Presenting the program were firemen Thomas Miller, David Rippl and Jerome Obright. The name stands for Emergency Exit Drills in the Home." Although fire prevention week has passed, the program was in such demand it had to be scheduled later in the village, according to John Fiers, fire chief.

During the programs at Holy Name and the senior high, the village fire chief presented certificates to Steven Subert, Michael Winius and Josephine Marcinak for their actions during fires reported in the past year. The former two turned in fire alarms from boxes on street corners and then stood by until firemen arrived to direct them to the scene of the fire.

Miss Marcinak was responsible for removing several youngsters from a home where she was baby sitting when she smelled smoke. She carried the youngsters to the home of a neighbor for safety while firemen were notified. The certificates carry the village seal and are signed by the village president and fire chief.

Guidance Service Gets Twin Cities Approval

NEENAH - MENASHA — A pupil personnel service (PPS) for further aid to the youth of the Twin Cities community was endorsed Tuesday at the monthly meeting of the Community Council of Neenah-Menasha.

The ideal personnel service, which would include both secondary and elementary students, was outlined by Mrs. Robert R. Melson, chairman of the Youth Guidance Committee of the Community Council at the meeting in the Hotel Menasha. The recommendation is the final format of a year-long study conducted by the committee.

American Can Breaks Quarter Earning Record

9-Month Return Higher Than Any Previous Year's

NEW YORK — The American Can Co. announced today it had shattered all previous records for third quarter and nine months' earnings.

William F. May, chairman and chief executive officer, said net earnings for the first nine months of 1965 were greater than any year's total net earnings by American Can and that the third quarter was a record for any one quarter in the corporation's history.

The company reported earnings of $1.29 per share of common stock for the third quarter compared with $1.00 for the third quarter of the previous year and $2.92 for the first nine months of this year compared with $2.19 for the first nine months of 1964. The 1965 earnings in these two periods represent gains of 29 per cent and 33.3 per cent, respectively.

"This report represents a continuing surge at American Can and is attributable to two factors, successful and aggressive programs in both our consumer and industrial product lines and consistent operating efficiencies," May said.

Third quarter net earnings for 1965 were $21,855,000 compared with 1964 third quarter earnings of $17,061,000. Net earnings for the nine months were $49,924,000 compared with nine months' earnings in 1964 of $37,831,000.

Net sales in the third quarter of 1965 amounted to $357,389,000 compared with $349,876,000 in the similar period for 1964. Sales for the first nine months of 1965 were $953,828,000 compared with $927,476,000 for the first nine months of 1964.

The net income reported is unaudited and 1964 results are adjusted to include Hanson - Van Winkle - Munning Co., acquired by a subsidiary in September, 1964.

Board Suggests Second Firm for Water Pipeline

A recommendation that the City of Appleton enter into a contract with a second engineering firm for the Lake Winnebago water pipeline was made Tuesday by the board of public works.

The council will act on the matter when it meets next Monday night. It previously approved a contract with Consoer Townsend Associates, Chicago, for the pipeline phase of the water expansion project.

A second contract is with Alvord, Burdick and Howsen, Chicago, for the treatment plant expansion portion of the project.

Ald. Roy Pointer (15th) questioned the need for the city to split the project between two engineering firms, contending it would be paying for duplication of services.

But Public Works Director Robert W. Bues said it was in the best interest of the city to have resident inspectors on the jobs as required in the contracts.

Member of Lawrence Staff Attends Sports Institute in Michigan

Mary F. Heinecke, assistant professor of physical education at Lawrence University, was among the participants in the second National Institute on Girls and Women's Sports held recently at Michigan State University.

Five representatives from each state were selected for the institute, which was co-sponsored by the national women's board of the United States Olympic Development Committee. Miss Heinecke was chosen for her interest and ability in the area of fencing.

Plans were made for each delegate to conduct workshops on women's sports programs in her respective state.

Neenah Firm to Construct New Utility Plant

KAUKAUNA — Kerr and Werner, Neenah, submitted low bid of $65,256 for general construction of the standby diesel electric generator plant site preparation, foundations, wiring, and fuel tank, according to Norbert Rhinerson, manager of the Electric and Water Utility.

Three other bids were received, two a few hundred dollars higher than the low bid and the highest $68,891. The consulting engineering firm of Black and Veatch, Kansas City, Mo., will review bids to determine compliance with specifications.

Three generators of 2,000 kilowatt capacity are to be erected. The stand-by diesel units will help the utility meet peak power demands.

7-Month-Old Dispute

Kampo, Union Hearing Rescheduled for Dec. 7

NEENAH — The reopening of charges against Kampo Transit in the National Labor Relations Board hearings on the already seven-month-old dispute between Kampo Transit Inc. and Teamsters Local 563 of Appleton has been rescheduled to Tuesday, Dec. 7.

The new NLRB hearing originally set for today was delayed to allow both sides to investigate additional charges.

The initial two-day hearing set for 23-24 involved charges by the company and the union of interference in the union election at the transportation company last March 10.

Added Charge

The added charge of company pressure against the establishment of the union in the plant concerns statements allegedly made by Fred Kampo Jr., sales representative and safety director for the company, prior to the March 13 union election in which he threatened drivers with loss of jobs.

General Counsel for the NLRB, Alex Barbour and Dennis Selby, appealed to Washington after Trial Examiner John Funk refused to grant an amendment to the union's charges against Kampo Transit on Sept. 24. The NLRB overruled Funk's decision and counsels for both sides asked for an additional hearing on the new evidence.

Mar. 13 the company truck drivers voted all to 21 for the union. The company objected to the election saying workers were coerced to vote in favor of the union.

Move to Appleton

Local 563 countered claiming Kampo Transit had interfered with the union organization. The election has been held in abeyance, pending decision of the NLRB.

Gerry Miller, Milwaukee, counsel for Local 563, Appleton Attorney Gordon P. Gill, counsel for Kampo Transit, and the two NLRB general counsels have agreed on the new date to further study the charges.

The initial hearings were in the council chambers of city hall but later changed to the juvenile court room of the Neenah Police Station because of acoustical problems. The new hearings will be held in committee Room B of the city hall, Appleton.

No Medication Exists To Prevent Gallstones

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr Molner I have read your articles on gallstones The only questions left are why does bile solidify into stones, and why is the removal of the gallbladder becoming such a common operation? Even thin, young people err somehow in their way of life — E E W.

Gladly would I give you a terse definitive explanation, but I don't have any Several theories have been advanced as to the cause of gallstones Lack of agreement indicates either that nobody has hit on the correct one yet, or that — and this is my belief — a lot of different causes, singly or in combination, are responsible

Likewise I doubt that you should conclude that young people err in their way of life, or "do something wrong cause stones I'm rather sure that part of the reason for more gall bladder operations is more accurate diagnosis.

Plenty of bum gallbladders are detected after people complain of "pains in the stomach or pains in the chest, or "indigestion," and so on A fair to number of people even feel sure they have heart disease, and sometimes it takes very careful study to discover which is which In past decades, I have no doubt, many folks with pebbles in their gall bladders just struggled along taking stomach remedies, or just suffered with their cramps, burps and colic

Gallstones may consist of different chemicals Bile acids cholesterol, calcium salts in various combinations Now bile itself is a concentrated solution, and concentrated solutions of anything will form crystals "stones" when the chemical and physical conditions are right That's how rock candy is made, and why jelly and grape juice and other things sugar

In some people there may be excessive cholesterol Or there may be sluggish emptying of the gall bladder due to infection, pregnancy, or an obstruction somewhere Bacteria may be present and serve as a nidus or focal point about which stones can form

No particular diet — or diet fault — has been observed to account for gallstones nor has any particular way of life The accidents of other illnesses, and accompanying germs or chemical changes, certainly play a part

I can say with assurance that there is nothing we can do to avoid gallstones I'm all for preventive medicine when we know what is effectively preventive, but for gallstones the best we can do is to recognize the condition after it has insidiously developed, and then do something to correct it, meaning removal of the gall bladder if symptoms so indicate.

Dear Dr Molner What is pink eye and how is it transmitted? Is it a self-limiting infection? What if it is left untreated? — M B

Pink eye is an acute and contagious inflammation It's a form of conjunctivitis, if you'd like a more formal term The conjunctiva, or lining of the eye, is infected

Several kinds of germs can be involved Streptococcus, staphylococcus, influenza virus It is usually self-limiting meaning that eventually the patient fights off the germ However, in untreated cases it may become chronic and linger on and on

For practical purposes, follow two rules First since it is highly contagious especially among children, keep the patient isolated second, treatment, particularly if the strep or staph germ is involved speeds up the recovery greatly

How to Succeed—Part XII

Balance Activities for Success

BY LESLIE J. NASON, ED.D.
University of Southern Calif. ace

Will extra-curricular activities open college doors?

Should you take accelerated classes if you have an opportunity, or should you stick to regular classes

Will taking courses while in high school for college credit or for advanced standing improve your grades?

Unfortunately, there are no "Yes or No" answers. Each individual decision will require study on your part

Extra-Curricular

By entering extra-curricular activities you can gain experience not only in leading others but in following the leadership of others

College admissions officers recognize the value of student participation in school activities. Although they make scholarship their first consideration, they will consider favorably a well balanced program of activities. But where a little is good a lot is not necessarily better.

Quality of participation is important. Good athletes, debaters and journalists are welcome on all campuses. Participation in many clubs and activities is also important. Summer job experience may also count in your favor. However extra-curricular activities will in no way compensate for low grades toward admission to college. Admissions officers look askance at long lists of extra-curricular activities coupled with mediocre grades.

Honors Courses

Courses designated as Honors or Accelerated offer opportunities and, at the same time, present hold dangers. In these courses the competition is keen — you'd better get used to it as you will get the same kind in college. Materials are presented faster which is more enjoyable to superior students. Time is saved for the enrichment of the courses.

All this can be valuable to you provided stress is laid upon independent study, research type investigation and library work. This may be just the training you need for success as a college freshman.

However when the emphasis is upon doing more work at high school level without reference to special training and study procedures no particular advantage is gained.

When topics from college courses are introduced, rather than enrichment, a student often gains a false sense of security as a college freshman. In his first days in a college class he is lulled into thinking this is a mere repetition of what he has had before. Usually the first examinations shock him into the realization that the work done in high school was no substitute for serious study at the college level.

The way the course is to be graded is of prime importance to you. If distribution of grades will be from A to D, BE WARE! If you are eligible for an accelerated class you would normally make A and B grades in a regular high school class. In the Honors class you risk getting C or D and this could jeopardize your chances for admission to college.

Your decision must depend [illegible] and your ability to do college work. Some students might well make A's in Honors classes and still not be in the upper 25% of their graduating class. The admissions officer may [illegible] a C grade in an Honors course as equivalent to a B grade in a regular course.

Advanced Placement

College level courses may be given in your high school. By [illegible] and passing an examination you could receive advanced placement credit when you enter college. Such courses might make possible for you to complete college in less than four years and thus save on costs.

By taking and passing such a course you can present evidence to the admissions officer of your ability to do college work. Most colleges grant advanced placement. Check on this in the college catalog before entering into such an endeavor.

Freshman courses on many college campuses are revised from time to time. The courses you take in high school may not be as significant for a freshman requirement. However taking such a course can give you a chance to "try out your study procedures on college work. If you feel that you are just marking time your last year in high school this is your chance to forge ahead.

Advanced placement examinations are given in May in schools throughout the country. They are three hour tests in each of 11 subjects. They include some multiple choice questions and some essay type questions. There is a $5 fee for registration and an $8 fee for each subject examined. Two sample booklets are available for Advanced Placement Program Studies and a booklet of information on Advanced Placement Examinations describing the content and procedures of the examinations. These are available by writing to:

College Board Advanced Placement Examinations
Box 592
Princeton, N.J. 08540

In each examination based on the corresponding advanced placement courses are offered in American History, Biology, Chemistry, European History, French, German, Latin, Literature and English Composition, Mathematics, Physics and Spanish.

Three Hurt in Auto Crashes

Man Injured When Cab Jumps Curb, Hits Two Trees

Three Appleton residents received minor injuries in accidents Tuesday afternoon and early this morning.

Robert C. Anderson, 44, 1215 S. Oneida St., received a neck injury when the taxi cab in which he was riding left S. Oneida Street near Water Street and struck two small trees at 3:15 a.m. today.

Driver of the cab, owned by the Yellow Cab Co., was Richard I. Bendixen, 59, 3600 N. Lynndale Drive. He told police he slowed the car for bumps in the street and when he accelerated the vehicle started to swerve, jumped a curb and sidewalk and struck two small trees owned by the Fox River Paper Co.

Damage was to the left side of the cab. Anderson was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was taken by private car.

A mother and her child, were injured at 2:35 p.m. Tuesday when the car in which they were riding was involved in an accident at Packard and Richmond Streets.

Injured were Mrs. Marion Hoff, 35, 1219 S. Oneida St., and her son, Lin Hoff, 5. Mrs. Hoff remains in St. Elizabeth Hospital today for treatment of neck and back injuries, while her son was treated for a shoulder pain and released.

They were passengers in a car driven by Mrs. Hoff's husband, Edward, 36. The Hoff car was struck in the rear by a car driven by Ruth E. Rosera, 1716 N. Alvin St. Both cars were traveling north on Richmond Street, police said.

Foreign Policy Talk Topic at UW Center

"certain imperatives of the situation required intervention."

Admire Action

Lyon felt sure the Brazilian friends he knows "privately admire the U.S. for its action" although they probably would refrain from expressing their views publicly.

He said U.S. foreign policy has three objectives.

Security of the U.S. gets top priority. "When working to make the U.S. strong, we are working to keep the world free," he commented. The U.S. is the "citadel of democracy," Lyon added.

"We must maintain the American way of life," Lyon said, and "protect our freedom."

He said the least important of foreign policy objectives is preservation of the nation's economic well-being.

Lyon told the audience letters to congressmen from their constituents can influence votes on foreign aid bills. "Our foreign policy is democratically influenced," he added.

Red China and U.N.

Asked what chances Red China has of being admitted to the United Nations, Holland replied "they wouldn't make it today." He said recent events along the Indian-Chinese border, in Indonesia and elsewhere have reduced the number of votes for Red China compared with two months ago.

Holland also said there is some question if Red China "really wants to be in the United Nations or be recognized by the U.S." He said the State Department is "not entirely sure Red China would accept recognition by the U.S."

The two officials left immediately after their talks for Green Bay, where they were scheduled to talk at the Green Bay Center Tuesday night.

Holland was substituting for Marshall H. Noble, who was unable to appear because of an illness in the family. Noble had served in the Saigon embassy as a reports officer in 1964.

U.N. Editor To Speak at LU, WSU-O

Talk Is Part of 20th Anniversary Of Charter Signing

William A. Richardson, a citizen of Trinidad and Tobago and editor-in-chief of the United Nations' monthly "Chronicle," will speak to Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh and Lawrence University audiences Sunday at special United Nations Day programs.

Sunday is the 20th anniversary of the signing of the UN charter in San Francisco. Richardson's talks will be at 3 p.m.

William Richardson

in Riverview Lounge of the Lawrence Memorial Union in Appleton and at 8 p.m. in the lounge of Reeve Memorial Union in Oshkosh.

Richardson joined the secretariat of the United Nations in 1962 in the office of public information. He earlier worked as a reference librarian in the Trinidad Central Library and as a commentator and producer of radio news and feature programs.

He was later employed by the British Broadcasting Corp. for eight years in which he traveled to African, Caribbean and Central American countries to record and edit material for use on the home and general overseas services of the BBC.

He next served the government of the Federation of the West Indies for five years, developing the Federal Information Service and acting as advisor to the governor general and prime minister of the federation on public relations matters.

Richardson received his early education in Port-of-Spain, Trinidad, at Queen's Royal College. He later studied at King's College, University of London, where he received a master of arts degree in English language and literature.

Public Works Members Balk at Cost Proposal

cost of a pool which the council says should be built.

Ald. Arthur Mueller (19th) made the motion that a recommendation be forwarded to the council, calling for awarding the contracts. It lost.

Public Works Director Robert W. Bues, who served on a special school evaluation committee, said that, based on the latest list of deletions and deferments submitted by school authorities, he could not vote approval.

Bues said he also questioned why some modifications could not be made to the building plans without having to rebid the entire project.

"We make change orders on public works projects a lot of times," Bues commented.

Mueller said he was under the impression the plans could not be touched without having to rebid the entire project.

Pointer told the board it was his understanding a solarium constructed at the new Einstein Junior High School was not in the original plans, but it was eventually included.

"I think the board of education has wasted enough time on this school matter. By this time it could have come up with a solution," Pointer declared.

He said the school board's latest approach represented "a piecemeal attempt to get everything it wanted in the first place".

The board was informed that when the council does approve a bond issue for the school there is a mandatory 30-day waiting period to allow persons to petition for a referendum if they desire.

So the school board's latest proposal is not held up because of normal procedures, the board of public works did vote to submit it to another committee of the whole meeting Monday night and let the city's 20 aldermen make a final decision.

Pair Hospitalized After 2-Car Crash On State 125

Two persons were hospitalized following a two-car accident Tuesday evening on State 125 at Lyndale St.

Taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by Larry's Ambulance were Lawrence R. Mitchler, 23, route 1, Neenah, with bruises and abrasions, and Maripat Van De Hey, 17, 1600 S. Memorial Drive, with a right arm injury and scalp lacerations.

The accident occured at 5:50 p.m., according to Outagamie County traffic police. An incomplete report of the accident notes that the Mitchler car was traveling west on 125 when the vehicles collided.

Property damage was estimated at $2,600, with the Van De Hey car listed as a total wreck. The front end of the Mitchler car was damaged.

State Court Denies Writ

Kenneth Parent, Appleton, Serving Term on Forgery

A petition to the State Supreme Court for a writ of habeus corpus has been denied Kenneth Parent, 45, who is presently serving a term in the state prison for check forgery.

Parent, who lists his address as Appleton and Iron Mountain, Mich., pleaded guilty Oct. 17, 1963 to three counts of check forgery. He was sentenced in Outagamie County Court to three years for each conviction, with the terms to run concurrently.

Parent applied for the writ June 2. In four separate complaints he contended that he had not been permitted to contact a nattorney following his arrest Oct. 3, 1963; that evidence against him was discovered as a result of an unlawful search of his hotel room; that his guilty plea resulted from coercion on the part of police, and, although not specifically alleged, that he was not advised, as an indigent, of his right to counsel at public esperse.

Outagamie Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer pointed out this morning that the Supreme Court denied the petition "after it was concluded that Parent knew of his right to counsel at public expense and intelligently waived and his petition presented nothing violative of his constitutional rights."

Wisconsin's Health

Anticipate Prevalence of Influenza With Shots Now

BY E. B. JORRIS, M.D.
State Health Officer

Influenza will probably be more prevalent during the winter of 1965-66 than it was a year ago. That is the prediction of the advisory committee on immunization practices of the U.S. Public Health Service.

The report noted that influenza was relatively limited last year and that the last major outbreak occurred in 1962-63 in most of the country and in 1963-64 on the West coast. Because the incidence of influenza seems to run in 2 to 3-year cycles the committee foresees a probable increase in influenza this winter.

Immunization for influenza is recommended. Persons who have not been vaccinated since July, 1963, when the last major change was made in vaccine composition, should receive two doses with an interval of about 2 months between. It is pointed out, however, that even a single dose can afford significant protection.

Fortified Vaccine

Adults and children over 12 who were vaccinated last year need only a single booster shot. This year's vaccine, it should be noted, has been fortified by the addition of a fifth strain of influenza virus.

There are certain groups of individuals to whom influenza is a greater hazard and who should make it a point to obtain annual immunization. Among these are:

Persons of all ages who suffer from chronic debilitating disease such as those with heart and circulatory ailments, those with respiratory diseases such as asthma and emphysema, and those with metabolic disorders such as diabetes.

Persons in older age groups.

Pregnant women.

Patients residing in nursing homes, chronic disease hospitals and other such environments since their more crowded living arrangements may allow for greater spread of disease.

No one can predict the severity of influenza incidence with certainty. But the advisory committee, which was established to provide guidance in this field, has issued a strong recommendation for immunization this year. See your doctor now.

Soviets Make No Move To Fulfill Promise to U. N.

U. S. Threatens to Stop Payments If Other Nations Don't Contribute

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U N General Assembly has been back in business for a month but there has been no sign of the contribution the Soviet Union promised to pay into the dwindling treasury once normal voting was restored

The United States made clear Tuesday that unless the Soviet Union and other nations in arrears on their peace-keeping dues do something to ease the $100-million U N. deficit, the U.S. government won't put money into new U N projects.

Rep. Peter H B Frelinghuysen R-N J told the assembly's 117-nation Financial Committee that the United Nations should put its finances in order before embarking on any new spending program

U. S. Contribution

Noting that the United States had contributed $2 5 billion to the United Nations and its agencies in 20 years Frelinghuysen said "We are clearly entitled to demand tha the United Nations as a whole face up to the necessity of financing its existing obligations before it embarks on new endeavors."

The U S delegate pinpointed the lack of voluntary contributions toward the deficit for U.N. peace-keeping operations, an issue that paralyzed the assembly's last session.

The United States finally backed off in its fight to deprive the Soviet Union and other debtors of their assembly vote. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg told the U.N. peace-keeping committee in August that the United States had yielded because the United Nations was faced with a life-or-death decision.

Promised to Give

The backdown came after the Soviet Union had given assurance it would make a substantial contribution once the assembly had returned to normal operations.

Frelinghuysen, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said that one of the elements in resolving the financial impasse was a proposal that the major powers make "substantial voluntary contributions."

"Accordingly," he said, "voluntary contributions should have been forthcoming promptly from appropriate quarters in sufficient magnitude to achieve solvency. Yet the sad fact is that no real progress has been made toward solvency."

Opposed Retreat

Several congressional leaders opposed the U S retreat, and it is considered doubtful the Johnson administration or the U.S Congress will underwrite any new spending for the United Nations unless the other big powers make similar contributions

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A Gromyko ended his stay at the United Nations Monday with no announcement about the promised Soviet contribution.

U N. Secretary-General U Thant made an appeal in the Financial Committee last week for contributions to pay off the $100 million deficit So far members have pledged a total of about $18 million The Soviet Union is $62 2 million in arrears, and France owes $17.7 million.

Pontiff Wants To Get Younger Men Into Curia

Church Leadership Now Dominated by Italian Conservatives

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI is reported ready to issue new regulations designed to bring new and younger men into the top levels of the Roman Curia.

The Curia the central administrative body of the Roman Catholic Church, is dominated by conservative officials, most of them Italian. Progressives at the Vatican Ecumenical Council have been urging major reforms to internationalize the organization and end the entrenchment of the old men at the top

Vatican sources said the Pope would issue a two-part document which would —Make 70 the mandatory retirement age for all high positions in the Curia, including cardinals and papal nuncios of archbishop's rank.

Papal Appointments

—Provide, for automatic suspension from their jobs of all cardinals who head Curia departments upon the death of a Pope. The new Pope could then replace or retain each man.

It was not known if the retirement rule would apply to those now in control of the 12 congregations, three tribunals and six special offices that make up the Curia Of 28 cardinals in ranking Curia posts, 22 are over 70.

They include the militant leader of the conservative faction in the Ecumenical Council, Alfredo Ottaviani, head of the Holy Office, who will be 75 next week. Amleto Cicognani, the 82-year-old secretary of state, and Eugene Tisserant, 1. the prefect of the Ceremonial Congregation and the dean of the College of Cardinals.

Progressive Cardinal

One of the church's leading progressives, Augustin Cardinal Bea, is 84. But he heads the vatican's Christian Unity Secretariat, and his office is not classed as part of the Curia.

The Pope is expected to issue his document by the time the Ecumenical Council ends in December, before he holds his second consistory to name new cardinals. Some of these will be named also to Curia posts

Pope Paul said in the fall of 1963, three months after his election, that the Curia would be streamlined to bring it more in tune with the needs of the modern church.

New Dominican Rule Menaced

Fresh Fighting in Capital Pits Rebel Bands Against Army

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) Rumors flew in Santo Domingo today that the Dominican Republic's provisional government is threatened with overthrow.

Lights burned late in government offices following fresh bursts of fighting Tuesday in the heart of the capital. Three persons were killed and seven wounded in shooting between rebel snipers and army troops before fighting subsided in the afternoon.

President Hector Garcia-Godoy held an emergency Cabinet session and met far into the night with his staff in an effort to stem the upsurge of violence.

He also met with the former rebel chief, Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, and appealed to him to try to halt the rebel sniping.

OAS Trouble Shooter

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, top trouble-shooter for the Organization of American States, hurried back to Santo Domingo from Washington. He played a key part in the agreement under which the provisional government was established in early September to end the April rebellion.

An aide to Garcia-Godoy described everything as normal at the president's home. But the president postponed a radio-television appearance after army units ringed the government's Radio Santo Domingo and prevented transfer of mobile television equipment to the National Palace.

Garcia-Godoy had planned the broadcast to announce a system for collecting weapons still held by civilians. Informed sources said army leaders wanted to examine the plan before it was made public

In an effort to prevent inflammatory broadcasts, Garcia-Godoy ordered all radio stations except the government's and one operated by the OAS shut down

Hearing Slated on Draft Card Issue

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — David J. Miller, 22, faces a hearing Friday on whether he will be returned to New York City to answer to an indictment charging him with burning his draft card.

Miller, from Syracuse, N.Y., was freed in $500 bail Tuesday from Hillsboro County jail.

On his release, Miller was asked by a reporter whether he had burned his draft card and not some other card and he replied. "It was my draft card — and I burned it."

The maximum penalty for such an offense is five years imprisonment and a fine of $10,000

"I would hope the law would be repealed," Miller said, "but if jail comes I'll go."

Try to Stop Bogalusa Teen-Agers

Protest Injunctions Issued

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — Officials turned to a court injunction and criminal charges today in an effort to stop Negro teenager demonstrations

The demonstrations, protesting alleged unequal educational facilities, threaten to bring Bogalusa's simmering, sometimes violent civil rights fight back to a boil

Dist Atty. W W Erwin said he filed a criminal bill of information in City Court accusing six leaders of the Bogalusa Civic and Voters League of contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile.

Erwin said identities of the six would be withheld unless they were arrested.

The injunction against the league was signed Tuesday night by Civil District Judge Jim W. Richardson.

Forbids Soliciting Students

Erwin said the order forbids the league or its members from "enticing, compelling or permitting anyone to solicit any of the pupils of the public schools to absent themselves for the purpose of picketing, marching, parading or doing any other acts of like nature. . ."

A total of 1,424 students boycotted classes Tuesday. It was the third day that more than half of the city's 2,332 Negro school children had skipped classes.

About 280 singing, chanting Negro youngsters staged a protest march to the school board office. Four youngsters went in to talk to M. J. Israel, superintendent of schools.

"We want to ask about proposals that were presented yesterday," said Don Expose, one of the teen-age leaders of the Bogalusa Youth Organization

"Proposals you presented yesterday were presented to the school board," replied Israel. "At this time, you are still students illegally out of school for the third day in a row. We have nothing whatever to answer to you about."

Kennedy Foresees Morrissey Okay

Dirksen Expects All Republicans, Others to Vote Against Judgeship

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says there are more senators ready to vote for confirmation of Francis X. Morrissey as a federal judge than there are opposed.

But Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen says he expects all 32 Republicans and more than half a dozen Democrats to join him in voting to send the nomination back to committee.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield once again has put aside the controversial appointment even though the session is growing shorter.

Kennedy, Massachusetts Democrat who is Morrissey's chief sponsor, said Tuesday night a large number of senators have told him a new FBI report on the Boston municipal court judge "cleared up any question they had and they are now fully prepared to support the nomination."

More in Favor

"There are more votes in favor of the nomination than opposed," he said.

Kennedy issued the confident statement after Dirksen renewed his attack on President Johnson's nomination of the old friend of the Kennedy family to be a U.S. District Court judge in Massachusetts.

Kennedy, said Dirksen, is using the nomination "for partisan political purposes."

Following a meeting of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, Dirksen described Morrissey as unqualified by intellectual capacity and legal training and experience for the federal bench.

No Defectors

He said he thinks all 32 Republicans would vote to send the nomination back to the Judiciary Committee for further consideration. "I know of no defectors," he said.

And, Dirksen added, half a dozen or so Democratic senators are prepared to speak against Morrissey's confirmation and even more Democrats can be expected to vote for returning the nomination to committee.

Senate approval of a presidential nomination requires a simple majority, 51 if all 100 senators vote. Similarly, a simple majority of those voting can send a nomination back to committee.

The voluntary plan supplements the basic medicare program which pays hospital bills for those 65 and older. Both go into effect next July 1.

The voluntary plan covers doctor bills, and costs $3 a month.

UW Center Enrollment Up 39 Per Cent

4,770 Students at Nine Institutions; 606 at Fox Valley

A 39 per cent increase in enrollment is reported at the nine University of Wisconsin Centers this fall by Mrs. Gladys S. Meier, Center System registrar.

A total of 4,770 students have registered for classes, 1,332 more than last fall. The increase last year was 11 per cent over the previous year. Ten years ago there were only 1,496 students in the entire center system.

The total enrollment is well over the estimated 4,500 students. Several centers showed spectacular increases, with 161 per cent at the Marinette County (Marinette) Center and 119 per cent at the Marshfield (Wood County) Center.

The two largest Centers, Green Bay (Brown County) and Racine, gained 36 per cent and 47 per cent, respectively. These Centers also had the largest numerical rise, with 246 new students at Green Bay, and 226 at Racine.

The report shows that men outnumber women at every Center, with 2,693 men (60 per cent) and 1,677 women enrolled. The men are losing ground, however, outnumbering the women by 61 per cent one year ago. The Manitowoc County (Manitowoc) Center has the largest percentage of men, with 69 per cent, and the Marshfield (Wood County) Center the smallest, with 53 per cent.

Enrollment at the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center is 606, compared to 499 last year; Green Bay, 931 compared to 685 last year; Kenosha jumped from 558 to 700; Manitowoc County increased from 305 to 372; Marathon County went from 397 to 487; Marinette County increased from 89 to 232; Marshfield from 142 to 311; Racine from 480 to 706 and Sheboygan County, 283 to 425.

The breakdown by classes shows a total of 3,029 freshmen, 1,130 sophomores, and 611 special students.

Committee Job

Purchase of New Suit Has Epic Proportions

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Why don't you break down and buy yourself a new suit, Rover?" said the gal who burns my breakfast toast.

"What's wrong with the one I've got on?"

"Well, it looks like you wore it through a heavy downpour to vote for William McKinley. Except I don't believe lapels that wide have been in style since Grover Cleveland's first administration."

"When you married me, you knew I didn't look like Cary Grant," I replied.

"Yes," said my wife sweetly, "but I didn't realize the difference would increase so much—year after year."

Needs Help

That day I walked by a men's store several times but didn't have the courage to go in. I have a born fear of clothing salesmen. With me buying a new suit is a committee job. So I asked a couple of office pals to go with me.

The salesman took one look at the three of us and promptly went to work on my two friends. Left alone, I walked down a rack of suits gingerly feeling the fabrics.

I overheard two other salesmen discussing me:

"Think the fat guy is a customer?"

"Naw, he's just another sleeve milker. He's already got half the sleeves on the rack out of line."

I went over to a three-way mirror. Who was that seedy-looking character staring back? Could it be me?

Cruel Mirror

Where do clothing stores find such cruel mirrors anyway? It takes all of a middle-aged man's self-flattery to get used to looking at himself in the single-imaged bathroom mirror.

But to see one's self from three angles is unnerving to any unprepared fellow. I bent down and saw the gray on back of my head as well as on the sides, the spreading baldness on top. The wrinkles in my suit seemed to match those under my eyes.

A few moments before that mirror had aged me 20 years. Why, I look better in those comic mirrors at Coney Island.

"Come on—we've got to get back to the office," said my friends. One had bought two suits, the other a sports jacket and a raincoat. I hadn't even bought a handkerchief to dry my tears.

A month later my wife cajoled me into making another attempt by agreeing to go along as bodyguard. She isn't afraid of clothing salesmen at all.

'We'll Take It'

The very first suit I tried on felt fine and I said, "We'll take it."

"No, better look at this one to be sure," suggested Frances.

So I tried that one and another and another and another. Then we left that store and went to another and another and another.

At the fifth store while trying on the 29th suit my strength finally gave out. The suit was $25 more than I could afford. I didn't like the color, and it rather made me look like the late Charles Laughton playing the role of a Princeton freshman. I bought it.

First Was Best

When the suit was delivered at home and I put it on, my wife studied me critically, sighed, and said:

"Well, I guess it will do, but frankly I really thought you looked best in the first suit you tried on at the first store."

"Now you tell me!" I groaned.

"Well," said Frances, "I'py."

I wasn't sure you were thrilled by it — and I want you to be happy.

Sometimes I think it would be better to live again in the days of old when knights were bold.

Walkout Halts Operation of Indian Sawmill

Management Will Keep Big Plant Closed for Repairs

Post-Crescent News Service

NEOPIT — The big Menominee Enterprises sawmill here closed since Friday by a walkout was still idle today and will be closed for "possibly two weeks" while needed repairs are made to the plant.

George Kenote, manager, said that as far as he knew no one reported for work this morning and the decision was made to keep the mill closed while repairs are made. He estimated that the repairs will take as much as two weeks. Repairs will be made by foremen and repair crews totaling 18 to 20 men.

The walkout began Friday when a night crew refused to work and Monday morning not enough men went in to work to operate the mill. The corporation, a holding company which controls all assets on the former Menominee Indian reservation, emphasized that it was not staging a lockout but warned that if the mill did not start up when whistles were blown at 1 p.m. and again at 5 p.m. Monday, the mill would be closed until repairs are made.

'State of Flux'

George Kenote, enterprise vice president, said Monday night that things are in a state of flux, since the union had not authorized the walkout but workers were refusing to work. With no authority from the union or the leaders to negotiate, things were at a standstill, Kenote said.

Kenote pointed out that under the terms of the union contract which runs until next Sept. 1, wage adjustments are not subject to grievance procedure and the mill management has sole authority to set the hours and the starting and stopping time for each shift. He said the scale paid by Menominee Enterprises equalled that paid elsewhere in the logging industry and workers had recently been granted a four cent per hourly wage increase and more vacation time.

Wildcat Strike

While the union must give five day strike notice, Kenote said, the fact that the strike is a wildcat one, which most workers are apparently honoring, complicates any attempt at settlement.

He said some workers went into the mill Monday morning but, while there was no violence or threats that he knew of to prevent entry, not enough men were on the job to operate the mill.

The mill was idled briefly last month when another unauthorized walkout was staged, but union and management leaders issued a joint statement that the walkout was over a misunderstanding and work was resumed after a one-day shutdown.

Students May Benefit in Social Security Changes

Many students in the Fox River Valley area are benefiting from a new change in the social security law. Several important Social Security changes have been made.

Among these was a provision to extend to age 22 the payment of "childs" benefits, if the child is a full-time student. Previously, except where the child was disabled, his payments stopped at age 18. The extension applies only to full-time students. Attendance in school will be verified.

As in the case of any child's benefit under Social Security, only those will qualify where a parent died, retired or became disabled while insured.

If you meet these qualifications and you, a parent or guardian has not already filed, get in touch with the Appleton Social Security office.

Frank M. Donnick, Social Security District Manager in Appleton, said some students may recall having received social security as a younger child, due usually to the death of a parent. Donnick said there are no doubt some cases where the student, not yet 22, lost a parent after his 18th birthday and never had reason to claim benefits. This would also be true where a parent became entitled to Social Security retirement or disability benefits in the student's years between 18 to 22.

He advised the student to visit the Appleton Social Security office to see about filing a claim. Depending on the individual situation the student, or a surviving parent or guardian, may receive the payments on the student's behalf. Donnick said benefits will, in some cases, run as high as $100 a month, and are retroactive to January, 1965.

Pilots in Viet Nam Now Can Bomb SAM Sites

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

U.S. pilots finally are being allowed to go after those murderous Russian ground-to-air (SAM) missiles that have killed a number of them in North Viet Nam.

In the brief period this new unannounced policy has been in effect, an estimated six SAM launchers have been destroyed.

While belatedly authorizing these attacks, President Johnson at the same time imposed two severely restrictive limitations — that drastically minimize the scope and effectiveness of his action:

— SAM missile sites in the crucial Hanoi-Haiphong area are still off limits. Air strikes against any targets in this key Communist stronghold are rigidly barred. Between 15 and 20 fixed SAM sites have been spotted around the Red capital and principal sea port. But they continue untouchable under Johnson's edict.

Only Launchers

— Only mobile SAM launchers can be attacked. Most of these deadly Soviet weapons have been encountered at important bridges and other transportation and communication points. Under the President's order, portable SAMs can be blasted as they are discovered.

This overdue permission has boosted pilot morale. There had been widespread resentment against the ban on attacking SAMs, especially as their toll of casualties mounted.

It was this tragic factor that finally impelled the President to accede to the long urging of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to approve anti-SAM strikes.

Both the Air Force and Navy are still forcefully advocating attacks on the extensive anti-aircraft and other defenses of Hanoi and Haiphong. They are stressing these are constantly being reinforced and increasingly more difficult and costly to "take out."

With State Department

But the President is still siding with his State Department advisers, who are strenuously against carrying the war directly to North Viet Nam's vulnerable vitals.

In opposing that, Secretary Rusk, McGeorge Bundy, White House foreign affairs assistant, and others of this influential inner group contend such attacks are an "ace in the hole" and should be "resorted to only if and when it looks as if there is no hope for a negotiated peace."

The military leaders argue this course is self-destructive as it "makes a sanctuary of Hanoi and Haiphong and encourages the Communists to flout all peace overtures."

The administration is quietly trying to dissuade members of Congress from going to Viet Nam after they adjourn.

A number have indicated they want to do that for first-hand observations. To discourage this, State and Defense Department spokesmen are pointedly citing various risks and difficulties.

Robert Mickelson Heads Group for Sunday Schools

FREMONT—Mr. Robert Mickelson of the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Appleton, was elected president of the Circuit Teachers Association.

He will serve with Arden Lightfus of the St. Mark Church of Symco who was elected vice president, and Mrs. Harold Hanson of the Good Shepherd Church, Appleton, secretary-treasurer.

Elected to the program committee for planning the spring and fall conferences of 1966 were the Rev. Henry Simon and Mrs. Ruth Weber of the Faith Church, Appleton, and Mrs. Dorothy Defferding of the Bethany Church, Kaukauna.

More than 115 persons attended the fall meeting Sunday at St. Paul Lutheran Church here. They represented Missouri Synod Lutheran churches of Amherst, Appleton, Bear Creek, Fremont, Kaukauna, Lind, Manawa and Symco.

Parnell to Direct Bar Association

A series of monthly seminars for attorneys, concerning pleadings, practice and procedure, is being planned by the Outagamie County Bar Association under the direction of Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell.

Bar association president Gordon Bubolz said that as a trial lawyer, Parnell was noted for his "professional skill in conducting cross-examinations, in corroborating the principal point in the case, where warranted, and in effectively and expeditiously disclosing unwarranted claims and contentions." Judge Parnel has been chairman of The National Trial Judges Association, Bubolz said, which has done much to "improve and facilitate trial court procedures and the administration of justice."

Bubolz said that the special seminar is a part of the group's continuing professional education program. The committee appointed to make arrangements consists of Angus R. McIntyre, chairman, Phil Schlichting, John Kellogg and Richard Hamilton.

Active Males Survive Heart Attacks Easier

If you're a male leading a physically active life you have a two to three times better chance of surviving a heart attack than your less active counterparts You also have a much better chance of escaping the attack in the first place

These were among the conclusions indicated in a report from a statistical study by the Health Insurance Plan of Greater New York HIP largest ever undertaken relate physical activity to ing a first heart attack

The findings were reported the scientific sessions of the American Heart Association Dr Cornelius W Frank of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, who directed the research

Dr Frank reported several other interim findings in the study

Men known to have had high blood pressure before a heart attack have twice the chance of dying within the first four weeks after the attack than men with normal blood pressure smoking and diabetes

attack strikes

55 000 men, subscribers to the health service of two or more years standing between the ages of 25 and 64 A total of 301 were identified as having suffered a first heart attack during the initial 18 months of the study period About one-third died in the four weeks following diagnosis 85 per cent of these deaths occurred within the first day Approximately three out of four of these patients had no earlier manifestations of coronary disease such as angina pain in the chest If they did have prior clinical signs how ever they fared worse than those who had no warnings 42 per cent died as compared with 29 per cent

The most marked survival advantage identifiable in the study was the usual level of physical activity engaged in before the attack Mortality among men classified as 'most active' was 17 per cent during the first four weeks versus 49 per cent among those considered least active'

Physical activity as a factor in heart attack mortality and incidence is of growing concern Dr Frank asserted because of the relatively sedentary life pattern developing as a consequence of technological changes both at home and on the job Automation automobile transportation power tools even electric toothbrushes are reducing the expenditure of physical effort This the report raises the question Dr Frank said of whether the resultant physical inactivity is a significant factor in the current range and mortality rates from heart attack

Indian Summer

One Last Chance for Those Outdoor Meals

By Lillian Mackesy

Post-Crescent Food Editor

Fruited Saratoga Lamb Chops

This wonderfully warm weather is nature's last call for outdoor dining . . . brisk, sharp winds will arrive all too soon with sure promise of blustery and wintry days ahead. Picnics . . . barbecues in the backyard . . . one last meal aboard that lake craft . . . luncheon or an early supper on porch or patio at sunset . . . enjoy them while you can.

These kind of meals are easy to plan so long as the golden autumn days hold with such delicious warmth. Indian summer, you know, gets its name from the patches and wisps of fog seen each night and morning. Indian legend has it that these are the ghost fires of long ago tribes and they leave as quickly as they come. Hence, it's a wise cook who prepares dishes that go well outdoors, but may be served as easily inside.

Another way to have one's cake and eat it, too, is to get those outdoor chores done while a delicious barbecue cooks. After the leaves are all raked . . . or the windows washed and storms in place . . . it would be delightful to rest awhile and eat a hearty meal that teams with fresh air activity.

For this, we suggest thick lamb chops skewered and cooked with fruits to make an elegant meal. Galley sauerkraut is another quick meal excellent for eating aboard motorboat or launch as boaters leisurely explore some sheltered cove. A deep pot of Galley Sauerkraut, a marvelous melange of sliced cervelat, knockwurst sausage and kraut, deftly seasoned with spicy Tabasco liquid red pepper sauce, vinegar and caraway seeds, will please any hungry seafaring guest or host.

Two other recipes that double for either patio or dining room, depending on the weather, are a chicken dish prepared Chinese style with celery and mushrooms and Meal-in-One Meat Balls, or ground beef balls stuffed with Brussels sprouts.

Here they are as a delicious farewell to summer.

GALLEY SAUERKRAUT

- 2 cans (1 pound each) sauerkraut
- Water
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon Tabasco
- ½ teaspoon sugar
- 2 cups thinly sliced cervelat
- 8 knockwurst (beef and veal) sausage
- 2 tablespoons caraway seeds

Drain and rinse sauerkraut

Bernadette Rothe

Summer Rite Planned by Engaged Pair

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rothe, 231 E. Harding ave., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Bernadette, to Gerald Coenen. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Coenen, 1519 S. Lawe St.

Miss Rothe is employed at Riverside Paper Corp. Her fiance is with Allis-Chalmers Appleton Works.

An Aug. 20 wedding is planned.

Mrs. Behl Feted at Secretaries' Night

Mrs. Emily Behl was honored by the Fox Cities Chapter of National Secretaries Association (International) at a dinner program Tuesday evening at the Conway Hotel. Mrs. Behl, chapter president; recently received her Certified Public Secretary certification. Guests at the Management Night dinner program were the secretaries' "bosses".

Certification involves several years' study and two-day testing in the fields of Human Relations; Business Law; Business Administration; Accounting; Secretarial Skills and Secretarial Procedures. There were 314 CPSs in the U.S. who qualified in 1965, with 16 in the Wisconsin Division. Mrs. Leone Davis is the only other member in the Fox Cities Chapter. The examination, given by the Institute for Certifying Secretaries, was first given in 1951. Since then, 3,330 have been certified. The number includes seven men.

Miss Lorraine Baum, speaker at the event, noted that great strides have been taken by capable secretaries who realize that recognition, prestige and job success depend to a large extent on what they do about themselves and their jobs. They will not, she said, be replaced by machines, but their duties will continue to change. To meet new challenges, they must continue educational programs, widen interests in civic, national and international affairs and be familiar with information and changes in the business world in general and the secretarial field in particular.

Above, congratulating Mrs. Emily Behl, who received her Certified Public Secretary certification, are E. I. VanHousen, vice president of Marshall and Ilsley Bank, Milwaukee; Miss Lorraine Baum, C. P. S., Milwaukee, past Division president and evening speaker, Mrs. Behl and Robert Mott, of the Public Relations Dept. at Kimberly-Clark Corp. At right, pre-dinner festivities were enjoyed by Paul Truttschel, vice president of Marketing at Appleton Coated Paper Co.; Mrs. Leone Haase, program chairman; Mrs. Kenneth Nelson, hostess, and Robert Sauter of Sauter and Seaborne Architects, Lt. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Floatin' Toward Homecoming

Stretching Chicken Wire Tight and tacking it in place can be hard on the hands, as Pat Schultz and Nancy Fredericks of Pep Club discovered. This group is working at Morning Glory. At right, the heavy work was left to the men. John Fritz and Jeff Riester created the form for the French Club float, also built at Morning Glory. Below, Future Teachers of America stuff crepe paper to give their Dragon shape and color. This group worked at the old airport. Other places which donated work space are Gilbert Heating Co., Inc., and Bilt Rite Construction Co., Inc. A number of farmers in the area lent the use of their wagons.

Post-Crescent Photos

Since Oct. 6 Appleton High School students have learned their way with hammer and saw, lumber and nails, chicken wire and cardboard boxes. They've also searched their old books of nursery rhymes for stories they could adapt to their "Once Upon a Homecoming" theme.

Eleven clubs have entered floats in the Saturday morning homecoming parade, scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. and travel on College Avenue from Park Avenue to Locust Street.

The effort of building 11 floats becomes monumental, when one considers that many clubs have overlapping memberships, and a student may be obligated to work on as many as four or five. Securing flatbed trucks, finding a place to store and work on them, having chaperones in constant attendance and then carrying out a message are all incidental to studies and tests and, often, to part time jobs.

Students enter the activity with enthusiasm, making posters and signs, stirring school spirit to its peak, urging students to attend not only the Saturday afternoon game against the Manitowoc Ships but to stop in at the evening dance at the school gym.

Clubs entered in float competition are Orchesis and Lettermen, Orchestra; Brush and Palette; Band; Chorus; French Club; German Club; Quill and Scroll; Usher's Club; Future Teachers of America and Pep Club. The Concert and Terror Bands will march and cheerleaders and homecoming royalty will ride in convertibles.

Among themes adopted for floats are "Rumpel Says 'We Stiltskin Win!'"; "We'll Sing-k Their Tub"; "The Face that Sank 1,000 Ships"; "Little Boy Blew Their Ships Out of Town", and "Draggin' Their Sails Behind Them".

Judi Werner, Left, worked at the old Outagamie County Airport on the float co-sponsored by Orchesis and Lettermen's clubs. At right, Mary Rothe of German Club learned all about crepe paper at the club's construction site at the Morning Glory Dairy.

Lady Bostonians MOCCASINS

$12.95 to $14.00

Fashion Flairs

There's nothing dignity or frivolous about a company that makes shoes called Bostonians. For years it's been a sound solid atmosphere, as rigidly masculine as the reading room of the Harvard Club. And then they started making Bostonians in size 4B. For girls. 4B for pretty little blondes. 8½A for beautiful redheads. Aristocratic 5AAA's for tall, willowy brunettes. And all those other sizes for all those other girls. Well, something's changed. The tools are the same. The stitching is the same. Even the staunch old shoemakers are the same. But it's different somehow. They sit there sewing away on a dainty Lady Bostonian moccasin, and well . . . they whistle . . . and think pink thoughts! Woman of Distinction

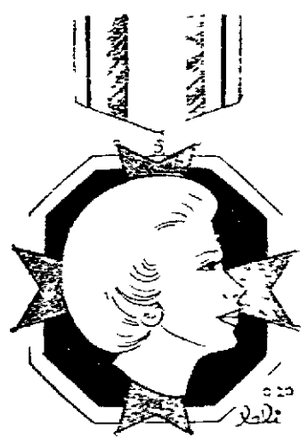
In the Indian summer of her life a woman's greatest ally is a becoming well groomed coiffure For it lends distinction and poise to her head at a time when other cosmetic arts sometimes falter

Yet statistics show that many women begin to neglect the care of their tresses in later years This cannot be for want of problems With advancing age most hair progressively loses body sheen and manageability, not to mention the last trace of original color



Why then does a woman surrender her hair to neglect? Could be she feels that she's had it and can rest on her beauty oars She's through with coloring and conditioning A quick shampoo and set is the extent of her effort But the result leaves something to be desired unless her hair looks lively and sparkling

Now if ever there is wisdom in dry hair shampoos and conditioning treatments or rinses, in gentle brushing and firm massage To keep white hair silvery a silver rinse is a must Permanents designed for silver curls would give sets body and hold

All those care methods are available at salons Cosmetic counters can supply home treatments and perms both easy to use and wonderfully effective Given the proper care the hair actually becomes less of a care And, oh so responsive to distinguished styling

Ann Backs Girl's Desire to Have Doctor Pierce Ears

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 16-year-old girl who is troubled by something that is bugging lots of high school girls. You spoke at our school several months ago and seemed like a good egg. Your opinion would count at home.

I am dying to get my ears pierced. Is that so awful? My mother is against it. She says it cheapens a girl's appearance. I say it depends on the girl and the earrings.

Some of the girls have let their friends pierce their ears, which horrifies my mother. I would have a doctor do it. The way my mother feels, no respectable girl would have her ears pierced. Do you agree with her? (P.S. Someone who met you in person said your ears are pierced. True or false? — Burlington Vermont Miss

Ann Landers

Dear Miss: True. And I haven't lost a pair of earrings since I had it done, thank you.

Pierced ears are "in." I would O.K. it for 16-year-olds (no younger) provided the girl wears small button-type pearls or gold or silver balls. Enormous gypsy hoops or chandelier hardware does cheapen a girl's appearance, so that's "out."

P.E. Ear-piercing should be done by a physician and not by any friend who happens to own an ice-pick or a darning needle.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Fifteen years ago my father died and left me a growing business. I worked for him before I married and enjoyed it. I persuaded my husband, Tom, to take over because I wanted to stay at home and raise our four young children.

Tom did well with the business. He expanded and remodeled the building and updated the equipment. He also kept bringing in his relatives — first a brother, then a nephew, then a brother-in-law. Whenever I objected it ended in a big fight, so I kept quiet.

Our youngest child is in high school now and I want to go back in the business. When I told my husband he said, "There is no room for you now. It would only cause trouble."

Last night I made my last stand. Either I go back in the business or I sell it.

Well, I was called everything in the book not only by my husband but my sons. Nobody is speaking to me today. I telephoned my pastor and he said, "Leave things as they are." I want your opinion. — The Outsider

Dear Outsider: Your pastor gave you excellent advice and I hope you take it.

Many things have changed in the past 15 years. If you insist on shooting your way into the business you'll create real trouble. According to your own testimony your husband has done well, so keep quiet and stay home.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We have close friends who are of a different faith. They are very fond of our children and the feeling is mutual.

In the past year these friends have been giving our children religious medals and objects which are symbolic of their faith. We've said nothing but we feel this is a slap at our beliefs. We would never give people of a different faith our religious literature or anything pertaining to it. The friendship of this couple is important to us, but so are our own convictions. Please give us some level-headed advice. — A Touchy Subject

Dear Touchy: These friends are paying your children a high compliment by giving them objects which have great meaning to them.

The medals need not be worn and the religious objects need not be displayed. Accept the gifts in the proper spirit — and then put them away.

What is French kissing? Is it wrong? Who should set the necking limits — the boy or the girl? Can a shotgun wedding succeed? Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Sex — Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelop.

St. James Churchwomen Prepare for Annual Salad Luncheon in New Church

With new salad recipes tested and successfully tasted and a few popular standbys of former years in hand, the women of St. James Methodist Church are preparing for their fourth annual salad luncheon Oct. 27.

This year for the first time the luncheon will be held in the dining room of the new church on N. Oneida Street and W. Capitol Drive.

It was just four years ago that the Women's Society of Christian Service of the then new congregation decided to use their culinary abilities to raise funds for the church. Starting in a small way, the proceeds from the first two luncheons went into the church building fund.

As the popularity of the annual autumn luncheon grew and the actual church building came closer to reality, the group switched their fund goal. Last year proceeds went to equip the kitchen and dining room in the new church; tableware and dishes were purchased for 288 places. The attractive china is in the dogwood design, a legendary religious tradition.

Committee Workers

Co-chairmen of the 1965 luncheon are Mrs. Leroy Finger and Mrs. H. K. Magee.

Other committee workers include Mrs. Howard Linstand, in charge of the dining room; Mrs. Oscar Hostettler, head of the kitchen crew; Mrs. Charles Fenlon, publicity chairman; Mrs. Joseph Benton and Mrs. Rodney Vaughn, decorations co-chairmen; Mrs. Jess Will, in charge of the nursery; Mrs. Ted Fargo, typist; Mrs. Guy Barlow Sr. and Mrs. Ripley Richards, bazaar chairmen.

Tickets for the 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. luncheon are available from Mrs. Orvil Stern 2318 N. Viola St.

Hostesses for the day will be Mrs. Arthur Prust and Mrs. James Vahey.

Salads to be served this year include an unusual beet salad in a ring mold, chicken and potato salads and a tuna salad.

Here are the recipes for three of them.

BEET SALAD

- 1 pkg. lemon flavored gelatin
- 1 cup boiling water
- ¾ cup beet juice
- 3 tablespoons vinegar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons grated onion
- 2 teaspoons horseradish drained
- ¾ cup diced celery
- ½ cup drained shoestring beets

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add beet juice, vinegar, salt, onion and horseradish when gelatin has cooled. Refrigerate until thickened; then add diced celery and shoestring beets. Place in ring mold until serving time. Unmold on garnishes.

CHICKEN SALAD

- 4 cups chicken
- 4 tablespoons chopped stuffed olives
- 4 tablespoons chopped celery
- 4 tablespoons chopped ripe olives
- 2 teaspoons pickle relish
- 1 cup chopped almonds
- 4 hard-cooked eggs sliced
- 2 cups cooked rice
- Mayonnaise
- Salt to taste
- Lettuce

Mix salad ingredients together, moistening with salad dressing or mayonnaise to taste, salt to taste, and serve on bed of lettuce. Keep cool until ready to serve.

RASPBERRY-APPLESAUCE MOLD

- 1 pkg. raspberry flavored gelatin
- ½ cup hot water
- 2 cups applesauce
- Drained crushed pineapple
- Whip mixture

Dissolve gelatin in hot water; add applesauce and place in mold. Refrigerate until firm. Unmold on serving plate just before serving time. Fold pineapple into prepared whip; top each serving with mixture. Raspberry roses prepared from cream cheese mixed with food coloring may be used to decorate each salad.

Women of St. James Methodist Church held their salad tasting and testing luncheon last week in preparation for the annual salad luncheon Wednesday, Oct. 27. Here, Mrs. Hugh Hessler serves the green salad to Mrs. H. K. Magee while Mrs. Leroy Finger looks on at the left. The test luncheon was held at the Magee home at 1400 E. Marquette Street. Bad Trump Break Can Top Game

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

"How did you manage to go down on the hand you played at four spades?" one of our opponents was asked after a session of the national team championship last August. "The trumps broke badly," he answered, and he walked away.

The defenders held only the four lowest trumps, and the break doesn't look terrifying, but South went down because of the bad trump break. That and a fine defensive play by my partner, Albert Weiss, noted Chicago expert.

Weiss led the queen of hearts from the West hand. I took the ace of hearts and returned the jack of clubs to dummy's queen. South got to his hand with a trump and led a diamond to finesse with dummy's queen. So far, so good.

South wanted to develop the diamonds, but he wanted to keep me out of the lead so that I couldn't push another club through him. If South had known that the kind of diamonds was unguarded he would have led a low diamond from dummy, but this would not work if West had started with K-x of diamonds.

South made a good plan to solve his problem. He would get back to his hand with a second round of trumps and lead another diamond. If West then played the king, he would be allowed to win the trick with it, but if West played a low diamond, declarer would take dummy's ace and then give up a trick to West.

This plan would have worked if the trumps had broken 2-2. Since West had started with a singleton trump, he had a chance to discard on the second round of trumps. Naturally, Weiss discarded the king of diamonds.

That was that. South couldn't develop the diamonds without giving up a trick to my jack. I then led another club, and the contract was defeated.

Bad trump breaks are very dangerous.

Daily Question

With neither side vulnerable, the player at your right opens with one notrump. You hold: S 5 H Q J 10 9 8 3 D K 2 C A 8 7 6. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts. Bid energetically against a notrump opening when you have good playing strength and a singleton or void suit. Avoid bidding when you have balanced distribution.

Create Good Grooming By Attention to Details

It is sad to see a woman, groomed to the eyebrows, creaking with chic, glorious in expensive raiment with her slip hanging down an inch in the back. It is always some small and dismal oversight that completely undoes what started out to be a stunning high fashion effect. And the higher the aim, the more devastating the lapse. In a word, it's ruinous.

The most any woman can do is check and double-check the less glamorous details of her total appearance and try to catch any little oversights that might loom large in the public eye.

For instance: Check shoulders for dandruff, stray hairs. Dark dresses should be examined for powder marks and lint, then brushed.

Check to see if your slip is hanging down in back by bending slightly forward and peering over your shoulder. Check stockings for snags.

Check to make sure your dress or suit is spotless. Don't try to persuade yourself nobody will notice a slight stain, they will. Check any possibility of having less than a sweet breath. Rinse your mouth with an antiseptic before leaving the house.

Check the back of your hairdo by using two mirrors. If it's less perfect toward the rear than it is in the front, comb or brush it back into shape.

Check your make-up near a window in daylight or by the light of an unshaded bulb. This cruel illumination will show whether or not your complexion the right shade, or your eye makeup is neatly applied.

Old Guidelines Bring Conflict, May be Revised

Labor Often Ignores Keys; Government, Business Reconsider

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Guidelines have become a key ingredient in today's mix of government, business and labor activities. And the guidelines may be in for revision. They certainly have touched off conflict into the open on several occasions in recent days.

Both government and business appear of late to be reconsidering the standards or at least their methods of living with the guidelines. Labor sometimes has ignored them, others deplored application of the guidelines to its wage policies.

Government guidelines now some three years old are mainly in these fields

1 Pricing of industrial products, with government interest spurred by prospect or fear of late of future inflation.

Hold Down Wages

2 Wages, with the Johnson administration striving to discourage big pay scale boosts that could set off another wage-price spiral.

3 Interest rates, with Washington anxious to hold them down to encourage further business expansion and consumer buying, and the banks openly chafing now because soaring demands for loans are running up against rising costs of luring more savings into their vaults with which to meet the loan demands.

4 Corporate investment overseas with the government urging business to bring back as many dollars as possible and to cut back spending of new dollars abroad.

5 Bank loans to foreign governments or individuals, with government proposing a definite limit to this outflow of U.S. dollars.

Conflict in Interests

The conflict in each interest is both practical and theoretical.

In the realm of theory, businessmen, bankers and labor leaders tend to join in opposition to the government interfering in the conduct of their affairs. Most say they prefer to stick to open market activity involving supply and demand and collective bargaining. The government's theoretical stand is that the public interest must be protected and that only the government can do that.

In the realm of practice, business tends to challenge both the arithmetic of the guidelines and the chances of obtaining through them the goals the government says it seeks. For example, several industries contend that the pressure to hold down prices is crimping profits to the point that investment for future expansion will be limited or unattainable.

Estimates of Output

Guidelines for prices and wages are tied to government estimates of the year-to-year increase in the output of goods per man hour of labor. Business ideas of the size of this increased productivity are usually quite different from those advanced by the government. And labor's ideas differ sharply from both.

Both industrialists and bankers are now trying new methods of dealing with government guidelines. Steel companies are raising prices selectively on products where rising costs are easy to prove.

Interest Charges

Bankers are raising the interest charges to businessmen when they come back for another loan — but leaving the official prime rate unchanged as Washington wants.

Corporations are trying out many ways of financing expansion of overseas activities without open dispatch of dollars to foreign lands.

Labor is pointing to rising corporate profits to argue that wages can be raised without need for price boosts.

And the government appears to be studying whether to revise its guidelines, change its methods of applying them or of noticing violations, or to appeal for public support for more vigorous compliance.

Opinions Differ

Vietnamese Populace Uninformed on War

Editor's Note — What do the common people in South Viet Nam think about the war? Do they support the government? What of the U.S. buildup in their country? Associated Press reporters interviewed Vietnamese in cities and the countryside in an effort to get a sample of what the people think.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — "I like Americans because they are here to help us win our freedom," said a merchant in Saigon.

In the Mekong River Delta south of the capital, a peasant said: "I have never seen an American and don't know what they are doing in Viet Nam."

The comments reflect a bewildering divergence of opinion among the Vietnamese people over the war and its impact on their lives. There appears to be no such thing as a consensus.

Don't Understand

Many Vietnamese say they have no opinion on the government's fight against the Viet Cong. They show little inclination to discuss the war. Others assert they do not understand what the fighting is about and say they know nothing about democracy or communism.

Most support for the government is voiced in the cities. This is especially true in the capital where the government's influence is greatest. The presence of U.S. troops in expanding numbers also seems better understood in the cities, where the Vietnamese come into daily contact with Americans.

In Saigon, however, some Vietnamese acknowledge that they have no great love for Americans or their ways.

Need Americans

"How can I like them when I cannot understand them?" asked a 53-year-old taxi driver. "But if they were not here, we would lose the war."

A teen-age waitress who speaks English and serves U.S. military men at an officers' club had another view.

"I am curious about the ways of Americans, and I enjoy talking to them," she said.

The picture changes radically out of the city. Some Vietnamese who have had little contact with Americans think of them in terms of the French, who once ruled Indochina.

"They both look alike to me," said a 38-year-old woman in a hamlet 35 miles south of Saigon.

Lose Identification

Less than 10 miles from the capital many Vietnamese tend to lose all identification with the government.

Several persons interviewed in rural areas believed Ngo Dinh Diem was still in power. He was slain nearly two years ago in a coup. Few had heard of South Viet Nam's present premier, Nguyen Cao Ky.

The overriding concerns of the people in the countryside appear to be for their safety and to provide enough money for their families. Little else seems to matter to them.

The most sophisticated opinions seemed to be held by persons in Saigon's upper classes. Many were certain that the government would win the war but at the same time they contended that the government was not stable and lacked support among the peasants. Some expressed strong nationalist sentiments and seemed sensitive about the U.S. military buildup.

Guard Freedom

"It is in the interest of the United States to safeguard our freedom," said a civil servant, "you are fighting to protect Southeast Asia from communism as well as South Viet Nam but this is our country and this is our war."

A poet in Saigon said: "You Americans have good intentions but much of your aid never reaches the people. You can only win with the support of the masses and the Viet Cong have shown they are better at winning the masses than you are."

Said a 45-year-old school teacher: "Many Vietnamese fighting on the side of the Communists still believe they are fighting for a just cause. They turned against the government because of the oppressions of the Diem regime, but they do not realize they are not sacrificing their lives for their country but for Communist dictatorship."

Expect U. S. Troop Return From Europe

Fast Transportation May Allow Removal Of Forces by 1970s

WASHINGTON (AP) — If European allies of the United States are wise, they will start planning for the withdrawal of significant numbers of American troops.

A withdrawal is not imminent. But such a movement may be expected perhaps by the early 1970s.

That is when the United States will have a fleet of big and fast transport planes able to deliver division-size forces overseas in a matter of hours, and a companion fleet of swift depot ships at sea already loaded with war gear.

When this "quick reaction" airlift-sealift capability is a reality, U.S. strategic planners believe it will be possible to scale down to a considerable extent the 250,000-man American army holding the vital center of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization front in West Germany.

Reduce Gold Outflow

From the U.S. point of view, the main advantages to such a withdrawal would be (1) a sharp reduction in the outflow of dollars and gold spent in supporting these overseas garrisons, and (2) a buildup of the strategic reserve within the United States for use anywhere in the world.

West Germans in particular have been edgy whenever there has been a suggestion that the United States may find it necessary to scale down its overseas troop commitments. U.S. officials have always sought to reassure the Germans that there are no plans to pull back — but no promises have been given as to the future.

It is widely known that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and other U.S. leaders have felt that the increasingly prosperous West European allies have failed, despite American prodding, to live up to their commitments to supply fighting forces to NATO, and that these allies have leaned too heavily on the United States.

Withdrawal of American soldiers from Europe would not mean that this country was abandoning its pledge to defend Europe. U.S. nuclear power would still be poised to deter any Communist attack.

And U.S. planners believe that the acquisition of a modern airlift-sealift capability would permit the United States to rush ground forces to Europe well within the time they would be needed in a crisis.

Year's Auto Accidents Will Cost $10 Billion

BY SYLVIA PORTER

This year automobile accidents will cost us over $10 billion — the equivalent of more than $200 for every U.S. family or more than $50 for every American man, woman and child.

The $10 billion — in property

damage, in loss of income due to absence from work, in legal, medical and hospital costs, in costs of handling auto insurance — will be nearly one-half of the entire amount we will spend on all new and used cars in 1965. It will be more than the entire total we will spend on all doctor and dentist bills. It will be about twice the sum we will spend for private education.

In 1965, it's now a virtual certainty, more than 50,000 Americans will lose their lives in auto accidents — a human loss which would be the equivalent of about 500 jet plane crashes. In addition, it's estimated that more than 4,000,000 citizens will be injured, many of them permanently disabled, in auto accidents.

Historic Highs

All of these are or will be new historic records.

Beyond the devastating human toll is the growing impact of auto accident rates on both the family budget and the nation's economy — through soaring insurance rates, the trend toward extra insurance coverage, pressure on our overall cost of living.

Just since 1962 auto insurance rates have risen as much as 20 to 25 per cent in many areas. Basic bodily injury rates have been hiked a full 6 per cent in 1965 alone; property damage rates have climbed an average 14 per cent. Further rate increases are coming next year and some experts estimate that rates will double within the next five years. Says a spokesman for the Insurance Information Institute in New York: "There's no end in sight for insurance rate rises."

Claim Costs Rising

The main reason for the insurance rate increases is that claim costs are rising relentlessly: the average private car paid claim for physical damage has jumped 55 per cent during the past decade. U.S. auto insurance companies last year wrote $7.3 billion of premiums — yet LOST a full $200 million on auto insurance after all claims and administrative expenses were paid. It's their outside investments which have been keeping the companies generally in the black.

Similarly, a sharp rise in jury awards in liability cases has driven up the amounts of this type of protection which many families consider a "minimum." Where $10,000-$20,000 once was the usual level of liability insurance, $100,000-$300,000 is now becoming commonplace, and some insurance companies are offering special "excess personal liability protection" policies up to $5 million beyond basic coverage of, say, $50,000.

Our growing accident toll and rising insurance rates have now become significant economic forces. This year's $10 billion-plus cost of auto accidents will be about double the cost a decade ago, nearly triple 1950's $3.7 billion. Auto insurance rates, as measured in the Consumer Price Index, are up 40 per cent from the 1955 level, a rise three times as large as the total cost of living rise. "The sharp increases in auto accidents and insurance rates," emphasizes a Bureau of Labor Statistics official, "are now exerting considerable pressure on the over-all cost of living."

87 Million Autos

Behind the rise in numbers of auto accidents is the central fact that there are now 87 million autos on U.S. roads; we now have more cars than we have homes or children.

Within the next five years, there'll be an estimated 106 million cars on our roads and the number of licensed American drivers will jump from 95 million to 110 million.

All the efforts being made today to curb auto accidents are woefully inadequate. Nothing short of a national "war on auto accidents" can succeed in reversing today's grim prospect of more accidents, more deaths, bigger losses and soaring insurance rate.

Sof-twisting is the secret

Sof-twist

1 Two pieces of enriched dough are shaped into long soft delicate rolls.

2 They're twisted gently, reducing air pockets and giving finer texture.

3 Twisted dough is placed in pans for slow rising—tightening the twist. This seals in freshness and flavor.

4 Slice at left made of twisted dough completely seals texture cells . . . retaining flavor and freshness.

Ordinary slice on right permits drying air to pass through unsealed texture cells.

Kimberly to Duel Ghosts On Saturday

Neenah Meets Two Rivers; Truckers Take on Menasha

MID-EASTERN CONFERENCE

Neenah	4	0	1
Clintonville	3	0	2
Kimberly	3	1	1
Kaukauna	2	2	1
New London	2	2	1
Menasha	2	3	0
Shawano	1	4	0
Two Rivers	0	5	0

BY TERRY GALVIN
Post Crescent Staff Writer

Though it may not have much bearing on the eventual outcome of the conference title race, the annual inter-city rivalry between Kimberly and Kaukauna will undoubtedly attract the largest turnout on the Mid-Eastern agenda this weekend.

The match, pitting the ball-control offense of Coach Harry Wilson's Ghosts and the defense-minded Papermakers, is billed for 2 p.m. Saturday on Doty Bayorgeon Field in Kaukauna.

Neenah, the M-E pace-setter with a half-game edge over runnerup Clintonville, invades winless Two Rivers in the only other Saturday afternoon contest.

Friday night games send Menasha, seeking to snap a 12-period scoring famine, to Clintonville and Shawano to New London.

31.8 Scoring Average

Statistically, Neenah is not expected to encounter any difficulty against the hapless Raiders. The Rockets of Coach Harland Carl have rolled up 159 points in five games for a 31.8 per-game average. No other team in the circuit has hit triple figures in scoring.

Kimberly, on the other hand, has managed just 28 points, low in the conference, but the Papermakers still claim sole possession of third place, thanks to a rugged defense. The Jack Wippich-directed Papermakers have allowed a mere 28 points, all incidentally, tallied by Neenah in a 28-7 Rocket win.

The primary ingredients of the Papermaker defensive success, according to Wippich, are Dan Biesterveld, Tom Scheidermeyer, Carl Van Helvoirt, Jim Last and Bob Van Gompel.

Uses 7-Diamond

Wippich uses a 7-diamond (or 7-1-2-1) as the basic pattern on defense, but may occasionally switch to the 6-2-2-1. The 7-diamond calls for seven linemen, who generally are, from end to end, Don Poppy, Scheidermeyer, Carl Vanderaa, Joe DuPont, Mike Hoppe, Carl Van Helvoirt and co-captain Dave Weiland.

Biesterveld, the team's leading tackler, is the lone linebacker in the diamond with Tom Weyenberg and Last at the halfs. Van Gompel is the safety. Two others who break into the lineup when the Kimberly mentor switches to the 6-2 are John VanderVelden and Mark Williams.

Despite an obvious lack of heft, the rugged Papermaker defense has blanked Clintonville, Menasha, New London and Two Rivers in M-E play. It might be added that, though the Papermakers lost a 2-0 verdict to Little Chute St. John, the defense did post a shutout performance.

Provide Stiffest Test

Kaukauna's burly Ghosts, however, may provide the stiffest test yet for the youthful Kimberly squad. Big Bob Promer, Bob Main, Gene Huss, a

Badgers Face Ohio State in Homecoming

Jerry Hackbart Lost to UW for Rest of Season

MADISON (AP) — After two weeks on the road, the Wisconsin football team will return to Camp Randall Saturday to find the bothersome Buckeyes of Ohio State cast as Homecoming wreckers.

It's a familar role for OSU, and in years past the crews of Coach Woody Hayes have played it with a vengence.

Wisconsin hasn't topped Ohio State since 1959 and it takes a record search back to 1946 to find a Badger victory before that.

In 34 games dating to 1913, OSU has won 23 and Wisconsin only 7. Four matches ended in ties.

The Badgers were everything but predictable in their two straight games away from home. They were humiliated by Nebraska, 37-0, then rebounded with a new backfield array and a sure defense that accounted for a 21-7 victory over Northwestern.

"Played Pretty Well"

"Last Saturday was a tonic," Coach Milt Bruhn said of the Wisconsin triumph. "We played pretty well anyway you look at it. Our defense performed like it can, but this was the first

Baltimore Cancels Pact With Foxes

Fox Cities Club Seeks New Tie-Up

The Baltimore Orioles have ended their working agreement with the Fox Cities Foxes after six years.

The Orioles, through Farm Director Harry Dalton, informed the Foxes that they are moving their Class A player development contract to Miami in the Florida State League for 1966.

Foxes President Bob Rahn informed the club directors of the action at a meeting Tuesday night.

Rahn said the Foxes are making contacts with several American and National League clubs in an effort to arrange for a new working agreement for the '66 season.

If the Foxes are unable to affiliate with some other major league club, it will mean the end of organized baseball in the Fox Cities.

Win 2 Pennants

In their 6-year affiliation with Baltimore, the Foxes won two pennants (the 3-I League flag in 1960 and the Midwest League title in 1964). Prior to that, the Foxes were affiliated for two years with the old Washington Senators.

Dalton's letter stated, in part: "After six years of very happy association with the Foxes... this has been one of the most difficult decisions I have had to make as farm director...There are some very obvious and unique advantages which we will realize in having a working agreement with Miami. As you know, our major league club trains there. This will enable us to have a year-round contact there and possibly employ a man who can work for the Miami club and also handle all our spring training matters... Our association in Appleton has been extremely pleasant, and you and your directors have done absolutely nothing to cause us to want to leave...In the meantime, I will be happy to speak to other farm directors, explaining to them just how much we enjoyed our association."

Bart Starr Takes Over Passing Lead in NFL; Jim Brown Top Rusher

Fred Cox, of Vikings, Sayers Tied in Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Gale Sayers, the flashy rookie halfback of the Chicago Bears, has zoomed into a tie for the scoring lead in the National Football League with Fred Cox of the Minnesota Vikings.

Sayers is an all-purpose back who can run, catch passes and speed up the field with kickoffs. Cox, of course, is strictly a field goal and conversion man for the Vikings.

The four touchdowns Sayers scored against the Minnesota Vikings gave him eight for the season and 48 points, the exact number piled up by Cox on 18 straight extra points and 10 field goals out of 14 attempts.

Great Second Half

Bart Starr, Green Bay's sharpshooter, led the Packers to victory with a great second half display against Detroit and took over the lead in the passing department. The lead is based on a combination of Starr's percentage of completions (64.7), TD passes (8), percentage of interceptions (2.0) and average yards gained (9.31).

Jim Brown of Cleveland continued to lead the rushers with 561 yards and an average of 4.8 yards. He has a 243-yard lead on runner-up Tommy Mason of Minnesota.

Tim Brown of Philadelphia continued to top the pass receivers with 29 for 486 yards.

New individual leaders included Bob Hayes of Dallas in punt returns for a 17.6-yard average, Sayers in kickoff returns with a 36.3 average, Gary Collins of Cleveland in punting with a 48-yard average and Wayne Rasmussen of Detroit in interceptions with five.

Two of 3 Seasons

Starr has led the NFL in passing two of the last three seasons.

Tim Brown of Philadelphia topped the pass receivers with 29 catches for 486 yards. Starr's ability to hit all targets was demonstrated by the absence of Packer receivers from the league's top 10 in their specialty.

Former Wisconsin kicking artist Jim Bakken of the St. Louis Cardinals is third in the scoring race with 45 points on nine field goals and 18 conversions. Don Chandler of Green Bay is fourth with eight field goals and 16 extra points.

Sisler Signs With St. Louis

Former Cincinnati Manager to Coach Under Schoendienst

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals announced the hiring Tuesday of former Cincinnati Reds Manager Dick Sisler as a coach.

Sisler, fired as Reds manager after this baseball season, will be the first base coach, replacing the departed Mickey Vernon. The Cardinals also will use him as a batting coach.

Sisler said he was happy to be coming back to St. Louis, where he was born, grew up and started his major league playing career as a first baseman and outfielder with the Cardinals in 1946-47. He also was with the Cardinals part of the 1952 season and in 1953.

In between, he played for the Philadelphia Phillies and Cincinnati.

One of his Cardinal teammates was Red Schoendienst, now the Redbird manager, who started his career with the Cardinals in 1945.

Schoendienst said he was counting on Sisler to provide intelligence reports on other National League opponents.

Titan Harriers Lose to UW-M

MILWAUKEE — The Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh cross country team suffered a 23-38 setback at the hand of UW-Milwaukee here Tuesday.

Oshkosh's Tim Duex swept individual honors by 15 seconds over runnerup Pete Glaser, of UW-M. Duex was timed in 15:26.

Chuck Bradley, of Oshkosh, placed fourth, while the next Titan finisher was Rolland Jahns in 10th place.

Midwest Grid Seer

Liska Picks, OSU, ND And MSU to Triumph

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — The midwest football seer still is eking yardage with his battered crystal ball. He missed only on Northwestern last week for an overall 25-11 record, inching up to .694.

However, this Saturday any given swami could trip on any given chalkline on any given pasture.

Notre Dame 18, Southern California 14 — Ara Parseghian has a raw meat pep talk ready for his Irish. USC's Trojans snatched a 1964 perfect season from Notre Dame in the last 93 seconds of their finale.

The Irish haven't been quite the same since Purdue dumped them 25-21 on Sept. 25. But the old flaming Notre Dame spirit will singe galloping Mike Garrett & Trojan Horse.

Michigan State 20, Purdue 14 — Michigan State seems to be the football team with everything — mostly a monster defense. Boilermaker Bob Griese has a magic arm and magic toe.

However, MSU's Steve Juday and barefoot kicker Dick Kenney can counter ably in both departments, while the Spartans have high steppers in Clint Jones and Bob Apisa.

After what the Spartans did to Ohio State's running game, Griese will have to shoot straighter than William Tell to keep the Rose Bowl overture going for Purdue.

Ohio State 14, Wisconsin 7 — The defensively-strong Badgers are winging, but the Buckeyes are stinging. Ohio State always fires an evil eye on Wisconsin, winner of only 7 of 34 games with the Buckeyes.

Homecoming for the Badgers, suddenly in Big Ten title contention, may snap a string of five straight setbacks since Wisconsin last downed Ohio State, 12-3, at Madison, Wis., in 1959.

Minnesota 14, Michigan 13 — It's more than the traditional battle for the Little Brown Jug. Minnesota has gained momentum with successive Big Ten victories over Indiana and Iowa. Rugged end Aaron Brown is back starching a good Gopher defense. Michigan may be down after a tough loss to Purdue.

Iowa 18, Northwestern 13 — It's time for Iowa's Gary Snook to change those jeers to cheers. Northwestern is confronted by a quarterback change in midstream with passer Dennis Boothe replacing scrambler Dave Milam.

Illinois 19, Duke 13 — It's been a see-saw Illinois season. Fullback Jim Grabowski, though, should be a little too much to handle for the solid Blue Devils.

Washington State 13, Indiana 12 — Washington State nipped Minnesota 14-13 and the Gophers belted the Hoosiers 42-18.

Sayers Modest About Top Offensive Rating

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — Phenomenal rookie halfback Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears conceded today "I think it may get difficult for me from now on" in National Football League play.

Sayers accepted modestly his distinction as the Associated Press Offensive Player of the Week after scoring four touchdowns over three different routes as the Bears whipped the Minnesota Vikings 45-37 Sunday.

"I'm very happy to get the honor," said the swift sensation from the University of Kansas. "But that victory over Minnesota was a team effort. Our defense functioned well and our offense moved the ball pretty good."

Gain 64 Yards

No Bear moved the ball better than Sayers, who Carried 13 times for 64 yards and one touchdown.

Caught four passes for 63 yards and two touchdowns.

Returned four kickoffs for 170 yards and one touchdown on a game-breaking 96-yard run.

And threw a left-handed 27-yard pass which set up a Bear field goal.

"I carried the ball quite a bit in the first half," said Sayers, who probably was the least excited man on Minnesota's field after his Sunday heroics.

"I got pretty tired in the second half, but Jon Arnett relieved me for five minutes and then I felt pretty good."

Goes 96 Yards

Only 2 ½ minutes remained when the Vikings kicked off after taking a 37-31 lead and Sayers streaked back 96 yards for a touchdown.

Less than 1 ½ minutes later, Sayers slashed 10 yards for his fourth touchdown to cap a performance that inspired Owner-Coach George Halas to put the Kansas thunderbolt in the same Bear category with Red Grange and George McAfee.

"When we were down, we had to score — Coach Halas said he had to score," said Sayers. "I'm happy I could have the success I did.

"I hope I can continue to help the Bears, but I think things may get a little more difficult for me. You finish one tough game in this league and next one gets tougher."

The Bears meet the Detroit Lions here Sunday.

"Right now Sayers is as good as anybody we've ever had," said Halas after watching his Chicago Bear rookie score four touchdowns against Minnesota in a 45-37 victory.

"He and Dick Butkus are the two best rookies we've had since 1940 when we signed George McAfee and Bulldog Turner. Sayers is a great pass-catcher, but we feel sure he's more valuable as a halfback. He can do anything."

Kramer Praised

Jerry Kramer, a Green Bay guard, also drew a recommendation for his fine blocking against the Detroit Lions. The veteran took over in the second half and gave Alex Karras a good workout as the Packers overcame a 21-3 deficit and won 31-21.

With Kramer leading the blocking, Green Bay's entire attack began to function. Vince Lombardi, while paying his respects to Bart Starr for his three TD passes in the second half and his 291 yards gained, called Kramer's play the key to the reversal of form in the second half.

John Brodie hit his target with 18 of 26 for 215 yards and three touchdowns in San Francisco's 45-21 romp over Los Angeles.

AHS Harrier Team Wins 4-Way Meet

Geoff Garrett led the Appleton High School cross country team to victory in a 4-team invitational test at the Ridgeway Country Club Tuesday.

The Terrors totaled 22 points, as compared with 56 for Kaukauna. Neenah was third with 57, while the Lawrence freshman team was fourth with 67.

Garrett was the individual winner with a time of 11 minutes, 40 seconds. Neenah's Pat Schaller placed second.

Appleton's Gary Ahrens, Tom Maves and Doug Wenzel finished third through fifth, respectively. Other AHS finishers were Les Bowers, ninth; Scott Schultz, 11th and Bill LeDain, 12th.

The Appleton "B" team also won, piling up 25 points to runnerup Kaukauna's 40. Neenah totaled 65.

Baseball Pact Costs NBC $30,600,000

CHICAGO (AP) — Several new names have come up in baseball's search for a new commissioner, The Associated Press learned today.

The major league club owners, eager to elect a successor to retiring Ford Frick before the annual baseball convention next month, have narrowed the field of candidates to five men.

Three of the names have never been mentioned publicly before. All are outside the confines of baseball.

These men, who are most regarded as among the leading candidatees, are Eugene M. Zuckert, Secretary of the AFir Force; Curtis E. LeMay, former Chief of Staff and head of the Strategic Air Command and G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange.

Another new name, said to be a real dark horse should base ball decide to pick one of its own is Louis Carroll, the attorney for the National League.

The fifth is an old face, American League President Joe Cronin, who according to one source "has been getting an awful lot of his own support."

None of the 20 owners, including the two-man screening committee, Jim E. Frazer, president of the Detroit Tigers, and John Galbreath, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, were in position to be quoted on the new candidates, who come from outside baseball.

Drastic Reduction

The general feeling was that the field of candidates should not be pruned at this meeting despite the drastic reduction in the list of candidates. The field narrowed to 12 at the last meeting in July, has been trimmed to 10 and then five within 24 hours.

Walter O'Malley, president of the Los Angeles Dodgers, was among those who believed that at least one more meeting at some future date would be necessary before a commissioner would be elected. A total of 14 votes, seven from each league, are necessary for election.

Among the plans discussed was O'Malley's suggestion for an organizational chart in which the commissioner would set up a chain of command to cover the broadening areas of baseball.

Before getting down to the business of selecting a commissioner, baseball Tuesday signed a new radio-TV contract with the National Broadcasting Co. for a whopping $30.6 million. That includes TV rights for the World Series and All Star Games as well as Game of the Week.

Baseball received $5.4 million last year for the Game of the Week from ABC, which elected not to renew its option for 1966.

Name Crockett Top Lineman

Arkansas End Paced Drive for Winning Touchdown

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's a good thing Bobby Crockett doesn't wear a coonskin cap like Davey did. The Arkansas end would have had plenty of trouble keeping up with all the backslapping he did in the Razorbacks' 27-24 victory over Texas last Saturday.

Crockett's sparkling catches in Arkansas' late drive for the winning touchdown against the Longhorns made him The Associated Press Lineman of the Week.

The 6-foot-1, 195-pound senior caught five passes in Arkansas' 80-yard march downfield — the last one a 14-yarder that left the ball on the Texas one. Arkansas scored the winning touchdown on the next play.

Overall, Crockett caught eight passes for 102 yards and one touchdown.

It wasn't his catches so much as his acrobatics that left Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles and Texas Coach Darrell Royal impressed.

"Crockett made some of the most fantastic catches I have ever seen," said Broyles. Royal nodded agreement, saying, "Lord, they were fantastic."

Viking Frosh Gridders to Meet Beloit

Four Fox Cities gridders will be in the starting lineup when the Lawrence University freshman football team opens its season against Beloit College at 3 p.m. Thursday here.

On offense Dennis DeCock and Rick Miller, both of Appleton, will be at the end spots while Mike Andrews, of Kaukauna, will be at right halfback.

On the defensive unit Bob McKee, of Appleton, will be at a tackle position.

Other offensive starters for the Vikings will include Pete Neulist, Evanston, Ill., and Joe Patterson, Cleveland, Wis., at tackles, Dale Schupparra, Wauwatosa and John Oppenheim, McHenry, Ill., at guards and Dave Roosen, Milwaukee, at center.

In the backfield, Dave Frasch, Bexley, Ohio, will be at quarterback, Terry Miller, Franklin Park, Ill., will be the halfback opposite Andrews and Doug Faile, Beaver Dam, will be the fullback.

Braase Named NFL Defensive Player of Week

Baltmore Veteran Tipped Screen Pass Leading to TD

NEW YORK (AP) — In a wild weekend of free scoring ball games the defense was overshadowed Sunday in the NFL but Ordell Braase of the Baltimore Colts was outstanding against the Washington Redskins. The veteran defensive end was named the Associated Press' defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Braase, a 6-foot-4, 242-pounder, crashed through on Sonny Jurgensen and tipped his attempted screen pass into the hands of Billy Ray Smith on the Redskins 32, leading to a touchdown.

Ordell Braase

Last Two Weeks

"Braase has played well all year," said Coach Don Shula. "He has been especially outstanding the last two weeks."

The nine-year veteran from South Dakota is one of the Colts' front four which has helped dump opposing quarterbacks 19 times for 179 yards in the first five games.

Paul Wiggin and Dick Modzelewski of the Cleveland Browns put the pressure on the Dallas quarterbacks — all three of them.

They broke up several pass plays and racked up the quarterback three times. Obert Logan, Dallas safety, played a fine game for the Cowboys.

Charlie Krueger, veteran defensive tackle of the San Francisco 49ers, put on the pressure against the Los Angeles Rams all through their game.

"Dick Bass got up slower and slower each time Krueger hit him," Jack Christiansen, 49ers' coach, told staffer Jack Stevenson. "He made a big tackle in the second period that stopped their running game cold."

Thrown 7 Times

Charley Walker, filling in for the injured Luke Owens, teamed up with Don Brumm, Joe Robb and Sam Silas of the St. Louis Cardinals' front four to throw Bill Nelsen, Pittsburgh quarterback, seven times for losses of 67 yards. The Steelers had a minus 16 yards passing.

Jerry Hillebrand, middle linebacker of the New York Giants, scored a touchdown after intercepting a King Hill pass against Philadelphia. Olen Underwood, Giants' rookie linebacker, also played a fine game, recovering a fumble and intercepting a pass as well as making several fine tackles.

Irish Lose Tackle, Mike Wadsworth, For Rest of Season

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Mike Wadsworth, senior defensive tackle from Toronto, has been lost for the rest of the season with a recurring knee injury, Notre Dame football Coach Ara Parseghian said Tuesday.

With Kevin Hardy, another defensive tackle, also sidelined with a back injury, Parseghian indicated he will continue alternating offensive guards Dick Arrington and Tom Regner at one of the defensive tackle spots.

The Irish for the second day had a heavy duty workout in building up for their home game with Southern California Saturday.

Retzlaff Claims All-Time Eagles' Receiving Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pete Retzlaff, tight end of the Philadelphia Eagles, became the leading pass catcher in club history Sunday when he caught six for 113 yards against the New York Giants.

Retzlaff now has 366 receptions for 5,902 yards in nine years, and including five games this season. This surpasses the former mark of 5,619 yards gained on 373 receptions by Pete Pihos from 1947 through 1955.

Yale Administration Rules Out Girl Cheerleaders

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Yale football fans have lost about the only thing they had to cheer about this dismal season.

No more girl cheerleaders.

"The administration says we can't have girl cheerleaders," said head Yale cheerleader George Brown Tuesday. "We've been told that cheerleading is limited to undergraduates."

Girls, of course, can't be undergraduates at all-male Yale, although they have infiltrated the graduate schools.

Brown selected eight young ladies from Connecticut College in New London, outfitted them in short blue skirts and white "Y" sweaters, and unveiled this chorus line at Columbia last Saturday.

"It was an innovation and a welcome one," conceded Athletic Director DeLaney Kiphuth, "but it's out as a regular stint on football Saturdays in the Yale Bowl."

Probably the girls would have no effect on the outcome of the Cornell game this Saturday. After all, Yale lost to Columbia 21-7 despite the pulchritude on the sidelines.

"It just goes to prove," a campus wag observed, "that you can't mix aesthetics with athletics."

In Group II, Kris Verkuylen and Leo Van Grinsven are tied with four points while Horst Kelbert and Ed Gerhartz each have four points in Group II. Steve LaDuke and Stan Steffes are tied in Group IV and J. Vanden Acker has the sole lead in Group V. Greg Jansen won two games and leads Group VI with four points.

Wrightstown, Winneconne Duel Saturday

Freedom, Denmark Risk Shares of Second Friday

LITTLE NINE CONFERENCE

Wrightstown	4	2	0
Omro	3	2	1

Friday's Games:

Shiocton at Hortonville (afternoon)

Hilbert at Freedom (afternoon)

Denmark at Omro (night)

Reedsville at Brillion (night)

Saturday's Game:

Wrightstown at Winneconne (afternoon)

After being held to a surprise 6-6 tie by Hortonville High School last Saturday, the Winneconne Wolves will try to get back on the victory trail against a potent Wrightstown team Saturday at Winneconne.

The rest of the little Nine Conference will see action Friday with a pair of afternoon games and two night contests.

In afternoon tilts, Shiocton will be at Hortonville and Hilbert is at Freedom. Night games Friday will have Denmark at Omro and Reedsville at Brillion.

Winneconne still leads the conference with a 5-0-1 record, but Denmark and Freedom have closed the gap somewhat, moving up to a second place tie with 4-1-1 records. Should Winneconne stumble again, the Vikings and Irish stand ready to capitalize.

Troublemaker

Wrightstown could prove to be a troublemaker for the Wolves. Last weekend, the Tigers came up with a 13-7 win over a Reedsville team which had lost only one previous game. The victory gave both Wrightstown and Reedsville 4-2 marks for the season. Winneconne will find that one of its tasks will be to control Bob Schmidt of the Tigers who caught a touchdown pass and was one of the game's outstanding defensive players as he was in on 15 tackles.

Freedom will be rated as the favorite in its homecoming battle with winless Hilbert. The defending champion Irish need a victory to remain in title contention and are coming into the game strong after a solid 34-0 win over Shiocton last week.

Denmark faces a must-win situation against Omro in a game that matches a pair of offensive-minded teams. Denmark defeated Brillion last week while Omro was handing Hilbert a 34-6 setback.

Hortonville figures as the favorite over Shiocton, which has yet to hit the win column. The Polar Bears may have found themselves against Winneconne last week.

Hortonville Wins Seventh Harrier Meet in a Row

HORTONVILLE — The Hortonville High School cross country team posted its seventh straight win by beating Clintonville 15-46, recently. The Polar Bears lost only the season opener.

Al Meyer was the individual winner with a time of 11 minutes, 23 seconds. Don Deezer, also of Hortonville, placed second, 25 seconds off the pace.

Gene Bosin, Gary Diemer, Pete Bohman and Jim O'Toole, all of Hortonville, placed third through sixth. Mauel was the Clintonville leader in seventh place.

The Hortonville unit plays host to Reedsville Thursday, then will compete in a sectional meet at Waupaca Saturday.

Hortonville's "B" team downed the Truckers, 18-43.

Bruhn moved his backfield into an "I" formation at Evanston and the offense chalked up 150 yards rushing—a figure that fell only 33 yards short of matching the total ground gained by Wisconsin in four previous games

Bruhn said the formation wasn't entirely new for the Badgers. "We had it in our plans and were going to use it when we got near the goal line," he said "But as you know, we weren't near there very often before."

To give Wisconsin a little more backfield zip, Gary Bandor has recovered from a bruised leg and is ready for duty at right half. He and Dennis Lager are the favorite long pass targets of quarterback Chuck Burt

Mele Picked AL Manager Of the Year

Twins' Pilot Gets All but 3 Votes Out of 331 Ballots

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Sam Mele, who led the Minnesota Twins to a runaway victory in the American League pennant race, was the overwhelming choice today as the circuit's Manager-of-the-Year in the annual Associated Press poll

Mele collected 328 votes in the balloting by 331 sports writers and sportscasters Gil Hodges of the Washington Senators received the other three

This is the first time that Mele has been named the AL's top manager. He took over as the Twins' pilot in June, 1961, replacing Cookie Lavagetto.

Job in Jeopardy

Mele, 42 years old, took his team to the front early in the 1965 season amid reports that his job was in jeopardy Despite damaging injuries to slugging third baseman Harmon Killebrew and star pitcher Camilo Pascual that sidelined each for almost two months, the Twins led by 10 games two weeks before the close of the campaign They finished seven games in front of the second place Chicago White Sox with a 102-60 record

Mele is a native New Yorker and a resident of Quincy, Mass Minnesota wound up in seventh place his first year there, advanced to second the following season and dropped one notch to third in 1963 In 1964, the Twins slipped into a tie for sixth place, winning 79 games and losing 83

Memphis State's Fletcher Named AP Back of Week

MEMPHIS, Tenn (AP) — Billy Fletcher's chunky build makes him look shorter than he is and more like a touch football than The Associated Press Back of the Week

The Memphis State lad has talent which belies his modest demeanor, although some of it admittedly was perfected playing touch football with his good friend Elvis Presley

Fletcher, long since promoted from the touch circuit, almost single-handedly wrecked Mississippi State's football image last weekend with a record breaking performance which won him the Back of the Week honors

The baby-faced quarterback who sprinkles his conversation with "sirs" passed for touch downs of 26, 22 and 21 yards ran five yards for one kicked field goals of 44 and 28 yards and booted three extra points.

He had a hand or foot in every point that all but destroyed the previously unbeaten 10th-ranked Bulldogs 33-13 and reversed the luck of the previously winless Tigers

Hearing Set for Nov. 9 in Suit Against Braves

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A hearing was set Tuesday for Nov 9 on efforts to return the state's antitrust suit against the Milwaukee - bound Atlanta Braves to the circuit court where it was filed originally

U S District Judge Robert E Tehan will hear the arguments in federal court where the suit was shifted earlier this fall on the motion of the Braves

Braves' attorney Earl Jinkinson of Chicago agreed Tuesday to produce records of the baseball club sought by Milwaukee County in its own antitrust suit, filed in federal court

Jinkinson said the records, kept in Atlanta, were kept "in a very orderly manner" but added, "We're going down there the first week in November and should be able to get the records we agreed to show"

Ex-Giant Now With Browns

Barnes Returns to New York

By JACK HNAD
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Erich Barnes wants to treat his return to New York Sunday in a Cleveland uniform as "just another ball game."

The Giants traded Barnes away last summer in the middle of the swapping season. It was a three-cornered deal involving Detroit, Cleveland and New York by which the Giants got Earl Morrall, their new quarterback.

"I've always been the type of player who never pumped myself up for any one game," said Barnes over the phone today from his Cleveland hotel "I'm ready to play football Monday, Tuesday Wednesday or any old day This is just another ball game

"It's human nature to want to win a little more against the guys you played with so long. But I want to win them all. I'm with Cleveland now I have a lot of friends in New York and all that but the big thing for me is to try to help Cleveland win another championship."

Barnes takes a philosophic view of the trade.

Around Long Enough

"I played with the Bears and they sent me to New York," he said, "And then I went on to Cleveland I've been around long enough now to understand how this game is conducted"

In his days with the Giants — 1961-1964 — Barnes always played the left corner job or left halfback on defense His job was to cover the fleet flankers like Bobby Mitchell and Gary Collins He often did the job with an exuberance that drew penalties or warnings.

Due to a shuffle in the Browns' defensive backfield because of Walt Beach's ulcer Barnes goes to the right corner against the Giants He will face Del Shofner, who is expected back after missing a game due to an injury, or young Gomer Jones

"I played against Del when he was with the Rams and I was with the Bears," said Barnes "He made a couple of catches on me, one that I always kid him about as being lucky."

Regular With Giants

Although Barnes was a regular with the Giants, he did not fit into the Cleveland line-up immediately Coach Blanton Collier used him as a relief free safety and a back-up man at the corner

Bernie Parrish went to safety two games ago, and Barnes took over his old left corner But the illness of Beach brought the shift of Barnes to the right side

"I went over to the Browns late said Barnes "After all, they are the defending champions They have the same people You just don't move in I understood that, but I also knew my own ability

"You have to prove yourself with a new team I came to Cleveland with that idea I had to make a club all over again I couldn't expect them to move people to make room for me"

Mike Garrett Leads Rushers

NEW YORK (AP) — If Iron Mike Garrett keeps stepping up his ground gaining pace the Southern California workhorse may wind up outrushing all but a handful of the nation's college football teams

The Trojans amazing halfback is making a runaway of the individual rushing race with 852 yards from scrimmage in five games according to NCAA figures released today Garrett has outgained 82 of the country's 114 major teams — and he's improving each week

Toting the ball 31 times in each of the fourth ranked Trojans last three starts the 5-foot 9, 185 pound senior has raised up 172 175 and 205 yards Those totals have increased his rushing lead over another Garrett — West Virginia's Garrett Ford — to 280 yards

USC S Garrett faces a major test Saturday when the Trojans meet Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind The Irish have given up only 70 5 rushing yards per game, eighth best mark in the country

Billy Stevens, the Texas Western quarterback who has been the total offense leader from the first week of the season is in danger of losing his grip this Saturday Texas Western doesn't play and Tulsa ace Bill Anderson is only 66 yards behind Stevens in combined passing-rushing yardage, 1,479-1,413

Anderson continues to pace the passing department with 131 completions in 228 attempts Stevens is second and Purdue's Bob Griese hitting on 66 per cent of his tosses, is third Tulsa plays Cincinnati Saturday and Purdue tackles rugged Michigan State

Carroll Williams of Xavier, No 4 in total offense has been responsible for 90 points with 11 touchdown passes, three touchdown runs and three two-point conversion flips Stevens has fired 13 TD passes, tops in the country, and scored once himself, accounting for 84 points

Anderson, with 26 completions against North Texas State last week, is 23 ahead of the 1964 pace set by his predecessor at Tulsa, Jerry Rhome. Rhome finished with an all-time single season record of 224 completions

Chuck Burt of Wisconsin is seventh among the passers with 68 completions in 135 throws for 632 yards

Will Ikeya-Seki Survive?

Anyone who wishes to turn sky gazer tonight will observe the celestial spectacle of the century. The gazer will also find out in the process whether United States or Russian astronomers win the dispute whether the Comet Ikeya-Seki strikes or merely grazes the sun.

This is the most brilliant comet to be seen by earth dwellers since 1882 and no other of this brilliance will be seen again in this century. Visible last week and this in the hour before dawn, it may even be visible in daylight late today and tomorrow. And one of the reasons for its brilliance is the closeness with which it approaches the sun.

The Russian scientists predict Ikeya-Seki will actually collide with the sun and be destroyed in the process. Americans say it will miss by a celestial whisker some 300,000 miles and thus will pass around the sun and be visible again tomorrow as it heads out into space.

A comet is a "flying gravel bank" composed of small particles of cosmic junk bound together by frozen materials. As it enters the solar system and heads for the sun the heat of the sun's rays and the heat of friction as it speeds up in its orbit melt off some of its particles to form the tail and create a glowing cap over the nucleus to make the comet visible on Earth.

The ancient astrologers associated the appearance of comets with portents of great evil such as wars or famine or pestilence. Modern day astrologers—not to be confused with astronomers—say Ikeya-Seki has significance in matters of war and disease. They mention "great changes in China, perhaps the death of a leader," plus a warning that man has gone too far in polluting the atmosphere.

Regardless of these portents Ikeya-Seki is of great significance to astronomers because it is the first major comet to approach so near the sun since scientists have had modern sophisticated gear with which to study the phenomenon. The rest of us are treated to a celestial show plus the suspense of learning tomorrow if Ikeya-Seki has survived.

Bargain Basement Parking

The City of Appleton enjoys the enviable position of having one of the most successful and profitable municipal off-street parking programs in the Midwest without having to charge excessive rates.

This thought comes to mind because of a news story emanating from Lansing, Mich., which said rates for a new downtown ramp in that city had been set at 15 cents for the first hour of parking, 15 cents for the second and 10 cents for each subsequent hour.

Originally in the Michigan capital city the parking rate had been suggested at 20 cents per hour but downtown merchants objected. Eugene A. Barton, Cleveland consulting engineer, said the compromise fee schedule would rank Lansing with those cities having the lowest priced parking in the country.

Here in Appleton, where the East and West Ramps have come into existence in the past three years, the parking rates range from 2½ cents per hour to a high of 10 cents per hour or three hours for 25 cents.

Parking facilities in Appleton are financed from on and off-street parking revenues, the latter increasing 25 to 30 per cent a year. The West ramp with its 250-car capacity was completed in 1962 for $400,000 and the mortgage has already been paid off. The $500,000 East Ramp which can hold 430 cars, will be debt-free by 1969.

Future plans call for increasing the vehicle capacity at each ramp by adding another level providing still more bargain basement parking.

Who Bells the Cat?

Congressman Henry Reuss has introduced legislation to create the office of "ombudsman" in the United States.

The term comes from Sweden and means "representative." More than a century and a half ago the Swedes created the office and most other Scandinavian countries followed suit. Great Britain is about to adopt it. The role of the ombudsman is to answer the various complaints of the citizenry about their government. The intricacies of our modern system—taxation, federal aids, Medicare, Social Security, the military—baffle a lot of people and Congressman Reuss says they generally then demand answers, explanations or retribution from their congressmen.

Certainly the average American needs help in understanding his government and its immense, varied and perplexing agencies and programs. But Congressman Reuss suggests that a centralized bureau of about a hundred people staff the new agency. To reply to complaints of 170 million confused people? The congressman now says that his own office staff spends about half its working hours taking care of such matters. How can such a relatively small staff do the work of several hundred congressmen and senators, some of whom may even be spending most of their time dealing with constituents?

And there is another problem. It is clear who would get the inevitable snowballing complaints about the office of ombudsman. Congressmen.

Ghost of the Mad Monk

Fifty years ago a Siberian monk, Rasputin, who hypnotized his way into high influence with the last czar of Russia, was finally killed. Several efforts had been made on his life to no avail. Finally he was poisoned, beaten and dumped into an icy cistern in the middle of the vicious Russian winter. But his ghost is walking again in a trial now going on in England.

Prince Felix Yousoupouff, a 79 year old Russian, is suing the Columbia Broadcasting System for invasion of privacy in connection with a film shown two years ago about the Rasputin affair. Prince Yousoupouff does not deny that he killed the monk, in fact he has written a book himself about the episode and takes credit for having masterminded the plot against Rasputin and wielding the club which finally did the awful deed. But he does claim that the film shown by CBS was unauthorized, somewhat inaccurate and a commercial exploitation of his name. The film also erred, he charges, in suggesting that he used his wife, Princess Irene, to lure the monk to his death.

Rasputin was brought most vividly to the screen thirty years ago by Lionel Barrymore whose brother John played the prince. Princess Irene, however, the daughter of the eldest sister of Czar Nicolas II, successfully sued Metro Goldwyn Mayer in 1934 for $125,000 for libel. The film indicated that Princess Irene had been either seduced or raped by Rasputin. In the present case, the effort to put a sexy tone on the affair is also berated.

The idea that the prince would pander "his wife to a disreputable man named Rasputin ... gives a sexual atmosphere to the assassination for solely commercial purposes," said the prince's lawyer. Instead he claims the matter was wholly political and the assassination followed the failure of the prince and others to bribe Rasputin into leaving the country. It was believed, they say, that he was collaborating with the Germans with whom Czarist Russia was at war.

The defense is contending that the prince, both through his deed and his subsequent book about it, became a famous person who cannot avoid publicity. But however the trial comes out, Rasputin seems still to be haunting.

'It's Not the Danger, Man — It's the Haircut.'

Taylor Writes

Federal Aid to Farmers Will Cost Rest of Us $4 Millions Annually

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

As the rubber-stamp Congress sloshes toward adjournment splattering more red ink on the public, President Johnson's four-year farm bill puts the political venality on a long-term basis — for sure. The average man loses again.

Taylor

Our wheat surplus has been cut to about 646 million bushels from 802 million a year ago. Corn stocks are down from 742 million bushels to 531 million. Federal grain storage and handling charges are a speedometer on the change. These alone are down $163 million a year from 1960. In fact, surplus government grain bins in some areas are so unusable that 30 in Iowa are being converted into sheds and shops for Job Corps camps.

But who would know it?

The cotton picture is different. Cotton exports are down about 40 per cent below last year. Government cotton stocks are up to nearly the all-time high of 14½ million bales. This is about a full year's total production. And the domestic and export subsidies and government above-market loans to farmers on this one crop alone will cost nearly $1 billion this year.

WORTH $500 MILLION

President Johnson and all the rest claim they are battling against our balance of payments problem — which is just a soft definition for our gold crisis. Yet even the Department of Agriculture admits that if the cotton crop were liberated into the channels of trade it would reduce our balance of payments deficit approximately $500 million a year.

Farming is and will essentially always and this particular writer was brought up on it. The rural ways are there, something in me and the agony that a farmer's work is never done" is entirely true. But when our politicians talk about our government being "of the people, by the people, for the people," they should be talking about 196 million people. Are they?

Today we have fewer than 15 million people living on farms — less than 8 per cent of our population. Nevertheless, each year President Johnson's four-year farm bill will cost the whole population more than $4 billion.

The people's money delivered to the 8 per cent covers the growing of wheat, feed grains, cotton, rice, wool and dairy products. In the cases of wheat and wool it gives higher cash payments without any change in today's lower market prices, to improve the growers' income, and the cash going directly to farmers will exceed $1.5 billion a year.

Yet why to farmers? If the same man who is a farmer ran a shoe store he wouldn't get a nickel. Nor would a doctor, a dentist, a seamstress or any other man or woman in business for himself. That's representative government?

Under the former system in the political paradise known as our farm program, the government, in effect, sold the surplus crops to the taxpayers as a whole and voted the cash to the growers only after the government (that's us) suffered the loss on the surplus crops.

The four-year bill guards against any possibility of market improvement by putting the direct cash outlay on a long-term basis. The politicians merely shout to the farmers, like a chuckwagon cook to cowpokes on the range, "Come and get it!"

POLITICAL PAY-OFF

Democratic Sen. Spessard L. Holland of Florida, a member of the agricultural committee, courageously summarized the final effect while the "yea" votes raked in the political spoils.

"The bill contributes to the abandonment of any reasonable program for the assistance of America's farmer," he stated.

This monument to political venality was voted 219 to 150 when it reached the house, another monument to the special interests. The brazen political pay-off in the attempted repeal of the right to work laws is another. And both are merely typical, for I'm certainly not singling out the farmer. There's nothing new in the way politicians pander to special interests — "You scratch my back and I'll scratch yours." But as this political venality grows each year what happens to representative government?

Representative government (and the cost of it) which is as dedicated to special interests as ours has grown today is not representative government at all.

It is a government that leaves the average citizen to carry the load, lied to and lonely, while the politicians go their merry, merry way.

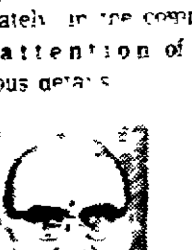
Challenges That State Faces to Meet Service Demands Fantastic

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—In the flow of news across the desk of a statehouse correspondent the detail sometimes tends to blur the meaning of the whole. Thus it suddenly occurred to this reporter burrowing through the stack that the big story may not be communicated adequately in the competition for attention of the multifarious details.



Wyngaard

That big story in Wisconsin government and politics and presumably elsewhere in the country is the accommodation of the machinery of government and more particularly the tax resources of government to population growth, on the one hand and the increasingly rising appetite of the people for public services of a quality and number that would have startled most of their immediate ancestors.

The evidence is everywhere at hand. Not a day passes in a capital news bureau without a bundle of press releases, bulletins, official documents, minutes and transcripts that certifies the trend. The story of the magnificent expansion of higher education has been told so often that it is probably losing its impact. New higher education buildings and dormitories to accommodate the legions of new students are being built so fast as to fatigue the architects and planners. The continuing demand is so great and obvious that the construction contractors are audibly worried about their capacity to meet it.

AND OTHERS

In the field of natural resources conservation and protection farsighted men are increasingly doubtful about their ability under present laws to protect the scenery, the waters, the wildlife and the other natural endowments which are among the state's richest attractions. It is not only the pressure of numbers as the state grows and pulses in a period of the most expansive economic production in its history. It is a story also of steadily enlarging demand of the average man for outdoors recreation that will bring on pressures that the conservation pioneers visualized only dimly if at all. The State Welfare Department is now busily drawing plans for modifications of institutional programs for all manner of handicapped and underprivileged and delinquent and ill that were only gleams in the eyes of ambitious office-holders a generation ago or less.

In the localities there is now a spread of special services, with the helping hand of a generous state treasury, that only the boldest and most imaginative could have conceived before World War II, ranging from mentally retarded school-age children and handicapped of all kinds. Children who were typically regarded as casualties of nature in earlier times are now salvaged in defiance of high costs to the taxpayer, for useful and satisfying lives within the limits of modern knowledge.

THE GAUGE

Perhaps as illustrative of the swiftly changing times is the planning challenge of the State Highway Department today.

No one can seriously dispute the essential relation of an efficient transport system to the economy and social welfare of a community. Like other basic public service agencies, the highway administrators are confronted with the most exciting challenge of their careers as they contemplate the vitality of current growth in their constituency. Today here are nearly two million registered vehicles in the state, piling up aggregate mileage representing almost unbelievable gains.

Highway planners think in terms of decades, but even in a conservative estimate the highway use trends are breathtaking in their implications. By 1970, for example, responsible analysts say the state will have about two and one half million licensed drivers, who will log more than 21 million miles of travel yearly, or substantially more than double the mileage recorded as recently as 1950.

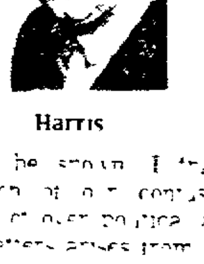
Everywhere the story is one of growth and change and a struggle of the public services to adjust to them and the demands of constituents trained to expect more extensive public service accommodations than their fathers ever knew.

Strictly Personal

Contrary Statements Are Not Contradictory

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Do you know the difference between contrary statements and "contradictory" statements? Or do you imagine it's just playing with words, merely a semantic distinction with no practical application?



Harris

It can be shown, I think, that much of our confusion and conflict over political and social matters arises from our inability to distinguish between statements that are "contrary" and those that are "contradictory." I don't mean that perceiving this alone would change our opinions, but it would make us less severe in support of them.

"The wall is black" and "the wall is red" are contrary statements: that is, they cannot be true together. But they can be false together—the wall might be green, neither black nor red. The falsity of one statement, "the wall is black," does not imply the truth of the other.

"The wall is black" and "the wall is not black" are contradictory statements: that is, they cannot be false together and they cannot be true together. The truth of one implies the falsity of the other, and vice versa. They are mutually exclusive terms; there is nothing in between them.

What we do, however, in much of our political and social talk is to take contrary statements and turn them into contradictories, so that we get what the semanticists call a "two-value orientation."

The two statements, "Communism is the best system" and "Capitalism is the best system," are contraries, not contradictories. It is not possible for both statements to be true together, but both may be false together. Another system, combining their elements, might be better than either communism or capitalism.

But if we take these contraries as contradictories, then we are automatically against everything the Communists are for, and for everything they are against—even when the Communists are against the right things for the wrong reasons. We are against such a Picture, then no real communication or cooperation is at all possible. It's one of the worst faults of Marxist ideology, indeed, that it does adopt such a posture.

Each side denies that there can be more than one other side — and this denial is the essence of the "two-valued orientation" which is shared by Nazis, Communists and the radical right. They are a common method of seeing that the wall may be neither black nor red and that the falsity of their opponent's position does not imply the truth of theirs.

Orientation is one of the most dangerous attitudes facing us. This is especially so in our complex and interrelated modern society. It is tempting to look for simple answers, but when we turn a contrary into a contradictory we make it impossible for our answer to correspond to reality, or to find any solution in reasonable terms.

Looking Backward

Hot Weather Depletes Ice Supply

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Oct. 21, 1865.

The weather continued very warm, and the unexpected spell of September and October warmth has entirely exhausted the stocks of the various ice-houses in town. This must be especially annoying to our butchers.

Mr. W. L. Malone showed us on Monday a bunch of ripe strawberries which he had just gathered from the meadow of J. S. B... in the Third Ward of the City. They are of course the second crop of the season.

Now what will the good friends in northern New York and New England say of this palpable demonstration of the superiority of our soil and climate? Will they want to "sell out and come to a civilized country forwith?"

We have an abundance of room here for all of New England if they will but leave their fantacism behind.

25 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, Oct. 16, 1940

A third of Appleton's young men were registered for the draft by noon that day. Werner Witte, president of the Appleton Education Association, reported that in a check of the seven registration areas at noon that 1,531 young men between the ages of 21 and 36 had registered. Officials expected a total of 4,250 to register in Appleton and about 14,000 in Outagamie County.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt said in a message across the nation that morning that "we prepare to keep the peace in this new world which free men have built for free man to live in," and that selective service to strengthen the U.S. Army was a program obviously of defensive preparation only.

Selective service boards for the three districts in Outagamie County were appointed the previous day by Gov. Julius P. Heil. In District 1, the city of Appleton, the board included James Wagg, Michael Jacobs, Armin Schlafer and John Lappen with Dr. F. F. McGrath medical examiner.

Appointed to District 2 were Frank Appleton, route 4, Seymour; Clarence Fleweger, Kimberly; Frank Timm, Seymour; Anton Jansen, Little Chute, and Gustave Sego, Black Creek. Dr. C. J. Flanagan, Kaukauna, was appointed medical examiner.

Named to the District 3 board were Frank Schroeder, route 2, Black Creek; M. F. Ziemer, Hortonville; Elmer Beinke, Bear Creek; George Schaefer, route 1, Appleton; Don Breitrick, route 1, Hortonville, and medical examiner Dr. G. M. LaCroix, Shiocton.

10 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, Oct. 19, 1955.

Lincoln School pupils practiced political campaigning in the manner of the grown-ups as they campaigned and voted for members of the student council. Elected were Shirley Gitter, for president; Natalie Fenn, vice president; and Linda Beene, secretary.

Mrs. H. J. Weber, Appleton, was hostess to members of the Past Presidents Club of Delta chapter, at ... to the Empress ... Bene... Association. Winners at cards included Mrs. Harold Schumacher, Mrs. Harvey Hanson, Mrs. Reinhold Pasch and Mrs. Milo Rohee.

Mrs. Gordon Lathrop, Appleton, presided at the meeting of the Dorcas Federation of the Fox Valley in Green Bay. Others attending the regional meeting were Mrs. Olaf Lundquist, president of the Appleton society; Mrs. Julius Sauby, Mrs. Bruce Beish, Mrs. Claude Wettstein, Mrs. William Scanlon and Mrs. Ray Jordon.

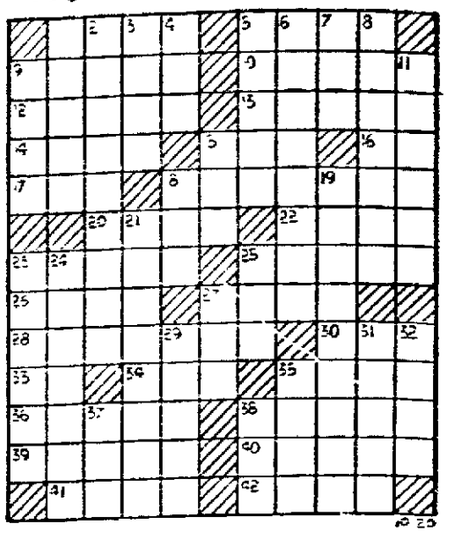
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X B
is L O G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Brain Twisters

BY DON DOUGLAS

Financial Figurit

A father divided $12 among his sons. If the product of the amounts he gave out to his sons equaled the number of square feet in a certain number of square yards, how many sons did this father have and how much did he give to each son?

Answer

4 sons, each receiving $3. The word "among" means more than 2. Let A plus B plus C equal 12, and also A times B times C equal 9X (there are 9 square feet in one square yard). In this case, the answer would be 4. But 4 times 4 times 4 is 64, and 64 is not a multiple of 9. Obviously the only solution is 4 sons at $3 each, since 3 plus 3 plus 3 plus 3 equals 12, and 3 times 3 times 3 times 3 equals 81 (a multiple of 9).

Legislators Confused On Revenue

MADISON (AP) — Legislators want to know why the estimates of state revenue behave like Mexican jumping beans.

The Legislative Council voted Monday for a study of the state Department of Taxation to find the answer.

"The administration has been a long way off half the time in making estimates," said State Sen. Frank E. Panzer, R-Brownsville.

The estimates of state tax income are used in determining state spending programs. The council set up a committee of 11 legislators to examine the estimates and also study possible changes in tax law administration.

The council, composed of six senators and nine assemblymen who supervise studies while the Legislature is not in session, rejected a move for a separate water study committee. It called instead for appointment of more lawmakers to the Governor's Water Study Commission.

Join the Pumpkin Face Contest and Win a Prize

BY CAPPY DICK

Here is a new chance to win a new set of the Encyclopedia Britannica "Great Books for Children," a collection of 12 exciting volumes containing 13 of the most fascinating stories ever written for boys and girls.

Five sets will be awarded as the national prizes in today's pumpkin-face contest. The stories in the set are "Tom Sawyer," "Treasure Island," "Arabian Nights," "Alice in Wonderland," Hedi Andersen's Fairy Tales, King Arthur, Robin Hood," Black Beauty," "Robinson Crusoe," Tales from Shakespeare," and, in the 12th book, Pinocchio" and "Aesop's Fables."

Prizes Awarded

Five sets of the books will be awarded in today's contest, one in each boy or girl whose contest entry is one of the five neatest and most original from all the cities where this column is published. To qualify for a chance to win a set, a contestant's entry must first win a local qualifying prize. This is a personal grooming kit consisting of a pocket case with a comb and fingernail file in it. Five of these smart, good-grooming cases will be awarded to boys and girls in the Fox Valley area, one to each young reader whose contest entry is one of the 5 neatest and most original received.

Entries winning the local qualifying prizes will be entered automatically in the judging at the national level for the "Great Books for Children" prizes.

To enter the contest, cut out the pumpkin eyes, nose and mouth. Paste the pumpkin on a piece of paper or a postal card. On it paste the eyes, nose and mouth. Color the pumpkin with crayons or paints, adding any decoration to the entry that you believe will make it outstandingly neat and original.

Print your name, age and address on the front of the entry. Mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow to Cappy Dick's Midweek Contest at the Post-Crescent.

When the judges have selected the winning entries, names and addresses of the boys and girls who sent them will be published here and their prizes will be sent to their homes by mail. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property. None can be returned.

The operation is necessary because an astronaut, who has been lost for 15 years, lands near the Robinsons' space colony, and the instrument may be the thing needed to get him back to earth. Warren Oates, who is the busiest guest actor on television this season, is good as the happy-go-lucky Texan who isn't too sure he wants to return home.

8-8:30 (Channel 2) — If you have the patience to wait until the end of Green Acres you will be rewarded with a hilarious scene in which the Douglas family furniture (from the Park Avenue apartment) fills to overflowing their delapidated farmhouse. Prior to that there are a lot of complications (and some are funny) as the furniture is delivered to the wrong place, telephone calls and telegrams don't reach the right party, and Eleanor Audley, as Eddie Albert's mother, has wild adventures trying to get to her son's new home. (Color)

8-9 (Channels 11-6-9) — Big Valley has a gloomy, bitter story of Irish miners on strike against the Barkley Sierra. Heath (Lee Majors) goes to investigate the troubles and finds conditions appalling. He also finds Anne Helm, a saloon hostess who helps him when he needs it. But there's no one around to help the script. (Color)

8-9 (Channels 4-5) — When Bob Hope Presents "A Comedy Special" the news is always good because it means one of those sharp, up-to-date Hope monologues. It also means skits in one James Garner is the target of a senator's war on poverty; in the other, Hope is a "collector" with Phyllis Diller as his cleaning woman. Carol Lawrence and We Five provide musical interludes.

8:30-9 (Channels 2-7-12) — Rob is the sole male pupil in an art class on The Dick Van Dyke Show, and Ina Balin is the teacher. This causes jealousy for Laura (Mary Tyler Moore) and good fun for the audience. Especially when the teacher is determined to "free" Rob's painting from his inhibitions.

9-10 (Channels 4-5) — Robert Culp wrote "The Loser" on I Spy, and it's a fine show of its type. The story is serious and very suspenseful, but the dialogue is hip and funny. The ending is also very realistic. Eartha Kitt and Albert Paulsen are the guests, and they do fine jobs as a drug-addicted singer and a slimy pusher. (Color)

9-10 (Channels 2-7-12) — Emmy-Award winning Barbra Streisand's My Name is Barbra is repeated. This was a very highly acclaimed show when it was first presented last April, and if you missed it, here's a chance to see what all the shouting is about. Essentially,

Hall of Fame Has Story On Napoleon

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-8 (Channels 4-5-7) — "Eagle in a Cage" on the Hallmark Hall of Fame is an excellent original drama by Millard Lampell focusing on the last months in the life of the exiled Napoleon Bonaparte. Trevor Howard gives an extraordinary performance as the deposed emperor, living out in life on bleak St. Helena, making plans to escape and regain his throne, and finding a few moments of joy with the teenage daughter of his landlord. Pamela Franklin, a charming young English actress, matches Howard's performance as the girl on the verge of womanhood, who even manages to call Howard "Boney" without making it sound arch. They have some delightful scenes together, particularly one in which they imagine themselves at Napoleon's court, selecting a proper suitor for her. The supporting cast includes James Daly as the Irish doctor sent to tend Bonaparte, George Rose as Bonaparte's servant, and William Smithers (now of Peyton Place) and Richard Waring as two argumentative followers of Napoleon. (Color)

Teacher Plan at WSU-O Okayed

National Council Renews Approval of Training Program

The National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education has renewed its "stamp of approval" for the teacher training program at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, according to notification received at the University this week from Rolf W. Larson, director of NCATE.

A team of educators visited the WSU-O campus in late 1964 to make a thorough examination of the university's program in relation to the standards of quality demanded by NCATE. An evaluation of the team's findings resulted in the renewed accreditation announced this week.

The university had previously been accredited in 1953. NCATE ordinarily re-examines member institutions every 10 years.

Before an institution can be accredited by NCATE, it must be a member in good standing of a regional accrediting agency such as the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. WSU-O was one of the first schools admitted to the North Central Association when the group opened membership to teacher training institutions. The university has also belonged to NCATE since its early days.

Among the items evaluated in the university's teacher education program were its scope and objectives, organization and administration of teacher education, student personnel services in teacher education, professional education faculty, curricula in teacher education, professional laboratory experiences, facilities and instructional materials for teacher education, significant changes and experimental programs. Following its evaluation, the committee listed no obvious deficiencies in any of these areas at WSU-O, according to Dr. David Bowman, dean of the university's School of Education.

Two More Deaths Bring Toll to 801

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of a man in a Lincoln County accident has sent Wisconsin's 1965 traffic toll to 801, compared with 863 on this date a year ago.

Dennis M. Charbarneau, 21, of Route 3, Merrill, was injured fatally around 6 a.m. today when a car struck a bridge railing on Highway 17 northeast of Merrill, Lincoln County authorities said. Charbarneau, alone in the vehicle, was enroute to work at a paper mill in Rhinelander.

Raymond Drake, 18, of Waupun was killed Tuesday night when his car overturned in a ditch after leaving a straight stretch of Highway 103 near Ladoga, Fond du Lac County. He was alone in the vehicle.

State Park Suggested

Menominee Territory Should Remain a County, Report Says

MADISON (AP)— Menominee County should be left a separate county and a 2,000 - acre state park should be created within it to help ease its money problems, a research report said Tuesday.

The report was given to the Menominee Indian Study Committee which in turn must recommend to the 1965 Legislature whether to continue the county, set up on a trial basis when federal control of the Menominee Indian reservation was ended four years ago.

Miss Nakonia Smith reviewed the past decade in the county and said in her report, "After 10 years, the Menominee are $14 million poorer, but the objects of continuous publicity, and still fighting for federal legislation to help them solve their problems, and are still explaining the results of termination to many of their own people."

She suggested state purchase of land for a park would provide funds for Menominee Enterprises, Inc., to buy back some of its bonds.

The report also recommended support of federal and state aid programs and development of better attitudes on the part of the Menominees themselves toward employment, law and order and county problems.

The 1965 Legislature is directed by law to decide whether to leave the county intact or divide the former reservation among adjacent counties.

Education Need Continues, Says WSU-O Director

"The perpetual need and desire for increased education and professional competency in an era of rapidly expanding knowledge continues at a record pace," according to Dr. Harold D. Crouse, director of the Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh division of extended services.

More than 1,100 students to WSU-O this fall attend late afternoon, evening and Saturday classes in the university's continuing education program. Students are enrolled in these courses for a variety of practical and personal reasons, Dr. Crouse said. Occupational status ranges from housewives and nurses to secretaries, business executives and educators.

The 1,163 enrolled this fall include 362 in evening on-campus courses, 271 in Saturday classes, 370 in evening off-campus offerings, and 135 in the university's special off-campus correctional officers Training Program. The evening on-campus attendance includes 196 persons pursuing graduate study.

Graduate programs are directed by the university's graduate school and its dean, Dr. Everett Pyle. The Extended Services division, headed by Dr. Crouse, supervises the other programs.

Off-campus classes are being conducted in the communities of Green Bay, Fond du Lac, Coleman, Hortonville, Kaukauna, Preble, Sheboygan Falls, Sturgeon Bay, Mayville, Winnebago State Hospital, Pulaski, Plymouth, Mequon, and Markesan.

UW Seeks Boost in Faculty Pay

MADISON (AP) — The University of Wisconsin and state universities have asked for an other faculty salary increase citing new statistics that put the present pay schedule in a poor competitive position.

School officials received the unanimous approval of the Joint Finance Committee Tuesday night for introduction of a bill that would grant a $12 million pay boost. But several legislators were quick to add that their votes in no way indicated support for the proposal.

When the Legislature passed the 1965-67 budget in late July faculty members at the state schools were granted pay boosts of 4½ per cent the first year and 6 per cent the second.

The new plan would increase the two figures to 5 and 7 per cent as originally requested by Gov. Warren P. Knowles. The University of Wisconsin would receive $800,000 and the nine state universities $366,000 for pay increases.

Assembly Seems Ready to Dump Highway Bill

MADISON (AP)— Democratic Assembly leaders appeared ready today to wield their small majority and scrap for the fall session an accelerated highway proposal paid for by bonds.

Assemblyman Frank Nikolay of Abbotsford, Democratic majority leader, set the stage Tuesday by moving that the controversial proposal be sent to the Judiciary Committee which he heads. The bill is on the calendar.

A parliamentry move by Assembly Minority Leader Paul Alfonsi, R-Minoqua, blocked a vote on the motion Tuesday that would have sent the bill into oblivion for the present.

Both Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles and Democratic Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey have called for passage of the bill this fall. But Nikolay, acting after Assembly Democrats apparently gave him the go-ahead, thought otherwise.

Demonstrators March to Home Of Mayor Maier

Milwaukee School Boycott Scheduled To Last 4 Days

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Backers of a civil rights school boycott scheduled to last at least four days staged a protest march Tuesday night at the residence of Mayor Henry Maier.

About 250 persons marched 40 blocks to the apartment building where Maier lives.

Maier had said a similar demonstration the previous night at the home of School Board president John S. Foley "almost smacks of Ku Klux Klanism in reverse."

Pupil absence from public schools dropped substantially Tuesday. Leaders said they would continue the boycott at least through Thursday.

The Rev. James Groppi, 34, a Roman Catholic priest serving as a vice chairman of the boycott committee, withdrew from active participation on the direct orders of his bishop.

Protest March

Auxiliary Bishop Roman R. Atkielski, who had banned the use of parish facilities for "freedom" schools, said he had not barred priests at first from participation in the boycott "because I didn't think they'd be fools enough to go ahead."

The protest march on the mayor's residence started after a boycott leader read Maier's statement calling picketing Monday night at Foley's home "a kind of bigotry."

State Assemblyman Lloyd A. Barbee, only Negro member of the Wisconsin Legislature and head of the boycott committee, said the school protest would continue through Thursday, and possibly longer.

Absentee Level

The number of absentees among the 122,495 pupils enrolled in Milwaukee's 148 public schools dropped from 12,767 Monday on the first day of the boycott to 10,074 Tuesday. In the Negro area, officials counted 5,777 pupils absent compared with a normal rate of 358.

Dist. Atty. Hugh R. O'Connell has said the boycott violates Wisconsin's compulsory school attendance law.

Boycott leaders have asked the school board to adopt a positive policy to achieve greater racial balance.

Stella Tooloose, 10, bursts into tears Tuesday and is comforted by her mother, Mrs. Patricia Tooloose of Breckenridge Hills, a St. Louis suburb. Mrs. Tooloose holds the posthumous Purple Heart she has just received for her husband, U. S. Army WO Dale L. Tooloose, who was killed Sept. 2 when the helicopter he was riding was shot down by Viet Cong fire in South Viet Nam. (AP Wirephoto)

Stream of Refugees From Cuba Stops

Havana Radio Blames Weather; U. S. Bureau Says It's Perfect

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The stream of small boats carrying Cuban refugees across the Florida Straits came to a mysterious halt today.

A U.S. Coast Guard spokesman said planes and cutters have sighted no approaching boats in the past 24 hours despite calm seas.

Havana radio said today that bad weather Tuesday prevented boats from leaving Cuba. But the U.S. Weather Bureau in Miami said the weather was fine. "One of the best days we've had in two weeks," said one forecaster.

The Cuban government reportedly agreed to curtail the disorderly exodus more than a week ago during negotiations for movement of thousands of refugees.

That was disclosed in the Cuban government's note of Oct. 12, which has been distributed to some exile groups in Miami, the New York Herald Tribune said. The newspaper said U.S. officials felt that Cuba's making the text available was a blatant breach of diplomatic procedure.

The note also said that the United States offered to fly 100 to 130 persons daily from Cuba. Cuba offered to increase the number to 400 a day by adding its own planes to the ones the United States proposed to fly, the note said.

The Cuban government also agreed to exchange its political prisoners on a one-for-one basis for political prisoners in 12 Latin-American countries. The Herald Tribune said the United States had turned down the offer in its reply.

Ten boats carrying 160 refugees arrived in Key West Monday.

Asked to Leave

However, a spokesman for the Cuban Foreign Ministry announced that 11 U.S. newsmen who went to the island to cover the refugees' departure have been asked to leave on the ground their work is finished.

Though the statement that the newsmen's work is over might indicate an end to the exodus, Cuban officials also said the 11 are waiting at Camarioca for transportation to Florida on refugee boats.

Many exiles in Miami have said they are fearful that Fidel Castro will threaten to cancel departures unless those opposed to his regime halt their efforts to overthrow him.

For this reason, they say, they are hastening to get relatives and friends out of Cuba without awaiting negotiations by the United States to establish an orderly exodus.

Won't Go

Havana radio reported that at least one family, separated for four years, will not be reunited.

A broadcast said Fernando Rodriguez Perez, an exile since 1961, arrived at Camarioca to pick up his wife and two children.

"Positively I will not go," the radio quoted Mrs. Rodriguez as saying.

The radio said the Rodriguez children joined their mother in refusing to leave Cuba.

Former Prime Minister Of Congo Returns From Voluntary Exile

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Former Congolese Prime Minister Cyrille Adoula returned to the Congo today after 14 months of voluntary exile in Europe.

Adoula was premier from August 1961 until July 1964. He was replaced by Moise Tshombe in a move to unify the nation and end the rebellion. Adoula, who had expected to be named premier again, went to Rome.

Body Found in Lake Was Kaukauna Youth

Stephen Kappell, 18, Missing Since Sept. 28 From Oshkosh Dormitory

OSHKOSH — The partially decomposed body found last weekend floating face up in Lake Winnebago, bound and naked, has been identified as that of Stephen Kappell, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Kappell, 1017 Hillcrest Drive, Kaukauna, a freshman student at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh.

Positive identification was made by Oshkosh police and state crime specialists who used dental records and fingerprints to obtain the identification.

In light of developments, Oshkosh Police Chief Harry Guenther today said he is not positively establishing the case as a murder and is leaving open the possibility that the student may have beaten and bound himself, tied a stone to his feet, and hurled himself into Lake Winnebago near where he was found Saturday.

Extensive Investigation

The police chief said he is not discounting suicide "because, even though the body is beaten, there is no report of a skull fracture."

Guenther said he is ordering an extensive investigation on the college campus where the student was last seen alive Sept. 28 and from where he disappeared without taking his clothing from his room in Breese Hall.

While police were pondering the fate of the Kaukauna student in Oshkosh, friends and family in his hometown 25 miles away could not help but wonder what did happen to the youth they knew as polite and serious, and a fine athlete.

Kappell, the oldest child in his family, was a member of the baseball, football, track, volleyball and wresting teams, active in the K-Club, a good, B average student, interested in literature, writing and music.

Mingled Well

One teacher said he mingled well and was well accepted by the students. He was courteous and never got into trouble. He had been looking forward to a teaching profession and a good college career.

Johnson Gets Word He Can Leave Hospital

Announcement Made After President Signs Pollution Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson got word from his doctors today that he can leave the hospital any time "after tonight."

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said, however, that Johnson will remain at Bethesda Naval Hospital tonight and he will have further word later on when the President plans to leave.

Doctors gave the word after examining the President late Tuesday night and this morning.

Moyers reported they found everything was in very good order.

The President's electrocardiogram was perfect, Moyers said, and his blood pressure better than any of the doctors in the group — even the youngest.

Johnson underwent a gall bladder operation and removal of a kidney stone Oct. 8. This was his 13th day in the hospital. Doctors had said earlier that the average time for a gall bladder patient to remain hospitalized was 10 to 14 days.

Word of the clearance for Johnson to quit the hospital came after the chief executive had signed into law in his hospital room a bill to fight air pollution and require exhaust controls on all cars beginning with 1968 models.

A delegation of about a dozen congressmen, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and secretary of welfare John Gardner looked on as the president signed the measure at a long mahogany desk in his third-floor hospital suite.

In Central Highlands

150-200 Viet Cong Killed in 2 Attacks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two big Viet Cong attacks on government troops in South Viet Nam's central highlands were beaten off during the night and an estimated 150-200 guerrillas killed, U.S. military advisers reported today.

A U.S. army helicopter was shot down during one of the battles and four Americans aboard were killed.

U.S. advisers said government troops beat off attacks by two Viet Cong battalions in a fierce battle in the Ba Long valley, about 400 miles north of Saigon near the North Viet Nam border.

94 Bodies

The advisers reported 94 Viet Cong bodies had been counted and "they're still counting." Vietnamese casualties were described as light.

"You know they were hurt badly when they left so many of their dead lying around," said one American. "You can rest assured they carried some more away."

Guerrilla bodies were strewn in the mud and barbed wire around the government outpost.

The Viet Cong tried to cross a moat with a bamboo bridge but a mine detonated from the main outpost stopped them.

The government forces also took one wounded captive, a regular North Vietnamese soldier who told intelligence officers that he was with the Viet Cong 800th Battalion which rendezvoused two days ago west of Hue. He said he came from North Viet Nam six months ago with other Hanoi regulars to fill out the battalion.

Seize Weapons

A large store of Viet Cong weapons was seized, including seven Chinese antitank weapons, four machine guns and a rocket launcher.

The American helicopter was shot down during an attack by 200 to 500 Viet Cong on the Plei Me special forces camp, 25 miles south of Pleiku. The camp was defended by 300 mountain tribesmen with 10 American advisers.

Other U.S. planes pounded the enemy. Twenty Viet Cong bodies were counted on the barbed wire around the camp, and a U.S. observer said 60 to 100 guerrilla bodies were sighted in the general area.

Casualties among the tribesmen were described as light, but there were fears for a small village just outside the camp where many of their families lived.

A patrol which set out from the camp Monday had not been heard from and its position was not known.

It was the first Communist attack on the camp since it was set up two years ago. The camp lies on a flat expanse surrounded by low hills.

A U.S. Air Force B57 bomber, believed to have been on a mission to Plei Me, crashed on the outskirts of Pleiku. One crewman was injured.

Court May Delay Rights Killing Trial

Ruling Needed on Juror Selection Law by Today

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A young Ku Klux Klansman's murder trial may be put off until spring unless the Alabama Supreme Court can hand down a speedy ruling today on a juror selection law.

The question asked of the Supreme Court: Can jurors who say they regard Negroes and white civil rights workers as inferior be dismissed from the trial on grounds they are prejudiced?

The Klansman, Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, of Fairfield, Ala., is charged with the slaying of a white civil rights worker, Viola Liuzzo last March 25 near Hayneville.

Must Resume

Mrs. Liuzzo, a 39-year-old Detroit housewife and mother of five children, was killed as she ferried Negroes back to Selma after they staged a 50-mile march on the Alabama Capitol.

Circuit Judge T. Werth Thagard said the trial in Hayneville, 28 miles west of here, must resume by this afternoon or be rescheduled next May.

Thagard called a 24-hour recess Tuesday to permit the chief prosecutor, Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, to appeal for a ruling on the question of prejudice to the high court.

Flowers had protested that 11 of 30 jurors qualified to hear the case should be dismissed because they indicated prejudice which would keep the state from getting a fair trial.

Chief justice J. Ed Livingston scheduled oral arguments by the red-haired attorney general for this morning and said he would appoint four of the court's seven justices to hear the appeal.

Thagard said that unless the trial resumes this afternoon there would not be enough time remaining this week to hear evidence and he has other court commitments next week.

Where the Money Goes

Imperial Wizard Shelton Stays Silent Through Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton kept silent today under a fire of questions from congressional investigators about where Ku Klux Klan money goes.

He was asked about the purchase of a Cadillac, about money spent in a jewelry shop, about an insurance company and about checks drawn on the Klan account.

To each query, he gave the same response he had to questions Tuesday about his United Klans of America. This was read from a card:

"I respectfully decline to answer that question for the reason that I honestly believe my answer might tend to incriminate me in violation of my rights guaranteed to me by Amendments Five, One, Four and Fourteen of the Constitution of the United States of America."

Grand Dragons

Shelton again was accompanied by some of his grand dragons when he came to the second session of the hearings by the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

He was wearing a lapel button with the single word "Never" on it.

Whatever other significance it may have, it could have meant "never talk" on this day. For he refused to tell newsmen about the button. And, when Committee Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., asked him to explain it, Shelton replied that he must refuse because his answer might tend to incriminate him.

Donald T. Appell, a committee investigator, did most of the questioning of Shelton about Klan finances. He presented a Klan income tax return which he said was signed by Shelton.

The period covered by the return was not clear.

Total Income

Appell said the report showed an income of $18,487 but said outgoing checks totaled some $19,036. He asked if that meant the total net income for all of

150 Freshmen Involved

Eggs Pelt Police in Fracas at Lawrence

Three Appleton policemen were pelted during an egg throwing melee at a campus fraternity house at Lawrence University Tuesday evening. Approximately 150 freshmen took part in the disturbance.

The outbreak, which started about 9 p.m. at the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity house, lasted about a half hour and attracted a large crowd of spectators in addition to the students.

The disturbance began when a group of Lawrence freshmen attempted to capture a large French flag mounted on the fraternity house. The flag was used to call attention to an upcoming fraternity event. Upperclass students occupy the fraternity house.

One squad car was sent to the campus following an invitation to the police department. Three more cars and several additional policemen were dispatched a short time later following a call for assistance from the first patrolman at the scene.

Students and spectators were blocking the Lawe-Alton street intersection when officers arrived. Persons in the crowd began pelting the squad cars with eggs.

Policemen used car-mounted public address systems in appealing to the crowd to disperse, but their efforts were met with catcalls and more egg-throwing.

Hit with eggs hurled by the students were Charles List, David Head and Leo Bosch. They were not injured.

The fraternity house also was spattered with eggs and water-filled balloons. Empty balloons littered the front and rear lawns of the house. A spokesman at the house said the students doing there will clean the building.

Policemen pulled back from the scene and stood by at a distance following a request by Lawrence officials.

The crowd began dispersing about 9:30 p.m. after Dean of Men Kenneth Vanderbloemen talked to the freshmen. President Curtis Tarr also was called to the scene by police.

Police Capt. Donald Pauli said today there was no violence and there were no reported injuries stemming from the disturbance.

Look for It Tonight

Scientists Describe Way to View Comet

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists say this is the way to get the best view of the comet Ikeya-Seki tonight, when it is expected to whip around the sun:

—Look in the direction of the sun tonight just after sundown— and at sunrise Thursday. If the comet is visible, it will be south of the sun at sunset and north of the sun at sunrise.

—Even if the comet's head isn't visible, you may be able to spot its 10-million-mile tail of frozen gases stretching halfway up the sky.

—Be careful, however, not to look while the sun is above the horizon, because direct sunlight can cause temporary or permanent eye damage.

—Regardless of your geographical location, you may be able to see the comet or its tail at sunset or sunrise. The actual swing around the sun will be visible only from the Pacific side of the earth.

Nun Launches Ship Named After Priest

BAY CITY, Mich. (AP) — A U.S. Navy ship is to be christened by a nun—it is named for the only Navy chaplain to be awarded the Medal of Honor—and launched at the Defoe Shipbuilding Co. today.

The 3,400-ton destroyer escort O'Callahan is to be named after the late Rev. Joseph T. O'Callahan, a World War II Navy chaplain.

His sister, Sister Rose Marie, a missionary nun serving in the Philippines, will christen the ship. She is head of the literature and arts division of Marycrest College, Quezon City.

The Very Rev. Raymond J. Swords, president of the College of Holy Cross, Worcester, Mass., is to be the principal speaker.

Father O'Callahan, who died in March 1964, was awarded the United States' highest military decoration by President Harry S. Truman in 1946 for heroism while serving aboard the aircraft carrier Franklin in March 1945 off Kobe, Japan.

Although wounded, he tended other wounded and gave last rites to the dying as heavy firing swept the flight deck and shells exploded about him. He also helped toss live shells over the side and recruited and led a firefighting party into an ammunition magazine and flooded the compartment to prevent further explosions.

Hooded Man Rapes Woman

Authorities Search Wrightstown Farm Area for Suspect

Post-Crescent News Service

WRIGHTSTOWN — Brown County police today are continuing their investigation of the raping of a Wrightstown housewife who told authorities a man with a bag over his head tied her hands.

The incident occurred on a farm in Wrightstown west of the Fox River.

The woman, who police said is in her early 20's and has three small children, told police her husband had left for work about 2 p.m.

She said the man walked into the house and said he would not hurt her if she would give him some food. However, he forced her into the bedroom and raped her, according to police.

She said the man told her he had a companion outside. Before he left, he took a half-loaf of bread and a can of pork and beans.

She called her husband who called authorities after he arrived at the home.

Brown County police searched a field of standing corn and the area between County Trunk G and the Chicago and North Western Railway tracks north of Wrightstown.

Sheriff Norbert Froelich said two pieces of burlap were found in the yard and another piece along the shore of the Fox River, which runs along the farm property.

Police investigated several abandoned buildings on the farm and searched along the river shore.

Police said they had not discounted a chance that the two men may have been Wisconsin State Reformatory inmates, even though the inmates were captured in Marquette, Mich. The inmates walked away from the Allouez honor farm Monday morning.

Council Rejects Bid for Vault At Cemetery

New London Solons Say Quote Too High; Will Try Again

NEW LONDON — The City council Tuesday rejected the lone bid to construct a cemetery storage vault at the Floral Hill Cemetery.

The board of public works recommended the rejection because the bid was over its cost estimate.

Ray Voight, Neenah, submitted a bid of $6,331 for a vault with brick facing and $4,351 for a vault with a cement block exterior. The low bid was about $1,000 above the estimate, Walter Schoenrock, designer, said.

To Advertise Again

The board of public works will re-advertise for bids to be opened as soon as possible. No specific opening date was named.

Mayor Wilmer Schlafer proclaimed Nov. 7 to 14 as "Music Appreciation Week" in connection with the high school operetta "Bye, Bye, Birdie." The council gave its approval for the school to put a banner over N. Water Street advertising the operetta.

The Fire Insurance Rating Bureau will inspect the city to determine if it should be boosted in rank. The city had been rated in Class 5 on which lights were given for the fire department.

Schlafer said the planning commission has discussed the possibility of letting sewer and water projects out on bids for private contractors.

He said it would be possible to pick an area of work, draw specifications and then let bid to see what the cost would be in comparison with the city cost. This would free city crews to work on other projects, he said.

The board of public works will have to decide whether to allot money for outside contractors Schlafer said.

Police Chief Jack Algiers was told there have been no further developments on enlarged facilities for the police department.

Street Light Takes 4 Votes

New London Council Tangles on Store Lot Illumination

NEW LONDON — Approving installation of a street light to illuminate a parking area at the Northside Quality market took four motions and four votes at Tuesday's council meeting.

The confusion began when the council split on passing a light committee recommendation favoring the light. Mayor Wilmer Schlafer broke the tie with a favorable vote but added the council should consider an amendment to the motion.

Customer Parking

A number of the aldermen voiced their opposition to the proposal because the lot is designated for customer parking. Other lots in the area on which lights were given are for courtesy parking for the general public.

[illegible] W. Kersten said [illegible] would consider its advisability to annex [illegible] the purpose of annexing about 100 acres of land to the city.

[illegible] would be used for customer parking. The cost is estimated at $60 a year.

Quality Market would have to [illegible] a parking lot before the lot was [illegible] from commercially zoned to [illegible] the original motion with its amendment.

Schlafer said the planning commission has discussed the possibility of letting sewer and water projects out on bids for private contractors.

Chilton to Hire Auditor To Aid in Re-Evaluation Of Personal Properties

Residential Assessment Hearings On Protests Will be Extended

CHILTON — The common council Tuesday approved the hiring of Eugene Lape, United Appraisal Co. auditor, Cleveland, Ohio, to work with Mrs. Maude Cole, city assessor, in re-evaluating certain business and industrial property.

Lape will be paid $150 per day for about five days.

Aldermen also decided to hire United Appraisal Co. representative Ted Simpson for an additional two days to allow property owners to discuss possible adjustments of their real property value. Simpson has been conducting informal hearings on adjustments.

The need for the personal property re-evaluation was brought to the city's attention by Donald Sherman of the State Department of Taxation's Fond du Lac office. Fixtures previously had been classified as personal property, while by state law they should be real property.

Personal Property

Items to be classified as personal would include movable furniture, machinery, tools, dies and patterns.

According to Sherman, further inequity lies in the fact that some businessmen have been doing their own assessing of personal property at less than full valuation.

City Atty. William Engler Jr. said he discussed the problem with Sherman and a representative of the department's Madison office. He said they would approve of Mrs. Cole's re-evaluating the personal property with the assistance of a United Appraisal representative.

Two to Three Weeks

Simpson estimated it would take two to three weeks after this phase of the reassessment is complete before the new valuation figures will be available to city officials.

In other action Tuesday:

Fire Chief Norbert Sturm suggested that local morticians discontinue ambulance service. He said a police-driven station wagon could be used for an ambulance in emergencies. Police Chief Daniel Albedyll was asked to study the matter.

Permission was granted for Gilbertson Drugs to put up a sign about 3½ by 5½ feet and weighing 225 pounds, at a distance of 12 to 14 feet above the sidewalk.

Aldermen were notified of the Monday school hearing at the Stockbridge Town Hall.

Street Widening

Walter Muehl, director of Public Works, said a representative of McMahon Engineering Co. had said the cost of widening Grand Street east of the Water Street bridge hinged on bridge construction. It is felt that the present 30-foot street is not wide enough.

It was decided to reserve a decision on buying a snow blower attachment for the city hall lawn mower until the first snow fall when the attachment could be demonstrated.

It was announced that copies of the Chilton Municipal Code will be available for $8 each on a first-come, first-served basis.

County Shows Decrease of 54 In Number of Recipients to 603; Costs Drop by $5,000

WAUPACA — The welfare caseload in Waupaca County is declining. Figures compiled by the county welfare department show 603 persons received some type of county aid during October compared with 657 persons in October of 1964.

October welfare payments totaled $65,607 compared with $72,135 in October, 1964, according to Robert Payette, welfare director.

Types of services provided by the county welfare department are old age assistance, blind aid, disabled aid, aid to dependent children and aid to dependent chilren in foster homes.

Old Age Assistance

Largest of the programs is old age assistance in which 400 persons received $46,315 during the month. Of this, $11,976 was paid directly to the aged while $28,339 was paid direct to others for services. This included $3,131 doctors, $2,144 to drug stores, $603 to persons who are caring for old age recipients in their homes; $4,480 for hospitalization; $17,859 to nursing homes and $120 for dentists, optometrists and ambulance services.

During the year the old age case load dropped from 436 to an even 400. Last October old age assistance payments totaled $42,491. Although the case load has been reduced, costs do not drop in proportion, Payette said. Aid from the federal government is received on a fixed figure per case. The balance must be made up by state and county funds with the county paying 11.7 per cent of the total. Costs for old age assistance did not drop a great deal because of mounting medical costs, Payette stated. In nursing care alone the costs increased from $15,577 for one month last year to $17,859, he added. The maximum payment any person can receive is $75.

Aid for Blind

Persons receiving blind aid numbered nine compared to 10 a year ago. Total costs were $638 compared to $523 last year. The maximum payment for blind aid is $60. This does not include medical and doctor bills, which also holds true for old age assistance.

Disabled aid payments to the recipients were $5,265 coupled with $7,542 paid to others for services totaled $10,827, compared to $8,985 last October. The number of persons receiving disabled aid dropped from 88 last year to 85 but again increased hospitalization and nursing home costs raised the total, Payette said. The county's share of the disabled aid is 29.3 per cent.

A total of 103 children received aid with 35 of them being in foster homes. Persons caring for foster children receive a maximum of $45 per month plus personal and school allowances. Those caring for foster children received $2,006 during the month.

Aid To Children

A drop of one is recorded in the number of foster children while the number of other children receiving aid dropped from 87 last year to 74 this year. Support payments for these children totaled $9,127 compared to $11,053 during same 30 day period last year. Other payments, such as to doctors, hospitals and miscellaneous medical costs for all dependent children, totaled $2,674 compared to $3,933 last October.

The county pays 17.7 per cent of the aid to dependent children. The balance is paid by state and federal aid.

Payette said a continual effort is being made to reduce the case load without denying aid to those who qualify.

Manslaughter Charged in Manawa Death

Bernard Gallagher To Face Trial on Rodeo Stabbing

WAUPACA — Bernard E. Gallagher, 20, Mildstadt, Ill., accused in the July 4 stabbing at Manawa of James Genke, 21, route 1, New London, has been charged with manslaughter, according to Waupaca County Dist. Atty. Richard E. Johnson. The charge was filed in County Court Tuesday.

Gallagher had been charged with mayhem, carrying a concealed weapon and causing injury by conduct regardless of life. These charges will be dismissed, Johnson said. Gallagher is free on a $2,000 cash bond and will be brought to trial Dec. 15. The manslaughter charge carries a possible prison sentence of up to 10 years.

The incident, in which Genke allegedly was stabbed with a pocket knife, occurred during the Manawa Rodeo festivities. Genke was taken to New London Community Hospital, where he underwent emergency surgery. He died July 15. The alleged stabbing was witnessed by two Manawa policemen and Gallagher was taken into custody a few minutes after the incident.

Clintonville Plans Program Nearly One-Third Complete

Economic Analysis Virtually Finished by Firm From Madison

CLINTONVILLE — Approximately 31 per cent of the city's planning program has been completed by Max Anderson Associates, urban and regional planning firm of Madison, Basil Arvey, director of public works, told the City Council Monday.

The Sept. 30 status of work items in the Clintonville contract showed the aerial photography, basic horizontal control, and bench mark tabulations have been completed.

The topographic mapping is under way, approximately 20 per cent of the base mapping is completed, and a draft of the population analysis report has been completed.

Economic Analysis

Under economic analysis, the collection of data on retail, wholesale and service sales and employment has been completed; trade area of community has been delineated by tracing the residential addresses of a sample of recent parking meter tickets; preliminary projections of commercial activity and of manufacturing activity have been prepared.

Under land use analysis, a detailed field inventory of land uses has been prepared, analysis of natural resources and limitations due to natural conditions is under way, and analysis of patterns of land use and land use problems is progressing on schedule.

A preliminary land use plan has been prepared.

For the transportation analysis, traffic counts made by the Wisconsin State Highway Commission have been collected, capacities of major streets and highways in the community have been determined, size and location of major traffic generators in the city has been determined, and a license plate survey is being organized to determine origins and destinations in the community.

The report on community facilities analysis and plan shows an inventory of existing conditions of school buildings has been completed, projections of school enrollments nearly completed, inventory of existing recreation facilities and of library facilities has been completed, inventory of fire stations under way, and inventory of city hall completed and establishment of future space needs is nearly completed.

The utilities systems analysis and plan work, being undertaken by Foth and Porath, Green Bay, is 40 per cent complete.

The Madison firm has been working in Clintonville six to eight weeks. The project was estimated to take six months.

OK Contracts At Waupaca

Faulks Firm Gets Sewer, Water Jobs On $13,939 Bid

WAUPACA — A contract for three sewer and water projects was awarded to Faulks Brothers Construction Co., Waupaca, at the Tuesday meeting of the Waupaca Council.

Their bid of $13,939 was the lowest of two received. The largest of the three installations will be 4,170 feet of 8-inch water main to the new Waupaca Foundry under construction on the eastern edge of the city. The other projects include installing 1,400 feet of 6-inch water main on Sixth and Fulton streets. The Sixth Street project also will include the installation of 945 feet of sanitary sewer.

A new electrical ordinance was read and probably will be adopted at the next regular council meeting. The ordinance contains several changes from the one now in effect.

New London Council Postpones Action

Gal Bartenders Again Bypassed

NEW LONDON — Action on allowing women bartenders in the city was postponed Tuesday for the fourth consecutive time by the common council.

The matter originally was brought to the council floor Sept. 6 and also was discussed at the Sept. 20 and Oct. 5 meetings. Much discussion also was held during the preceeding Council committee meetings.

Police Chief Jack Algiers said he did not favor having women bartenders, but if the council decided to change the 1947 ordinance it should include more controls for his department.

Require License

Algiers suggested all persons going for other than the owner or family be required to have an operator's license.

He said the city has 24 licenses that sell beer or liquor and his objection to women bartenders was mainly from a moral standpoint. He said he did not intend to be a taxern czar, but he wants to know who is in front of or behind a woman bartender. He said he did not want the council to make the word "female" in the ordinance, leaving no room for women bartenders.

Mrs. Robert Raithel, 2nd, owner of Tiger's Bar, said she was looking for qualified help and he agreed that all persons should be required to own an operator's license.

Responsible Help

David Roberts and Robert Wohschal, tavern owners, said they also wanted responsible help who should be licensed.

Mayor Wilmer Schlafer said the license committee should meet with S. W. Krostue, city attorney, to draw an amendment to the ordinance for presentation at the Nov. 2 council meeting.

Schlafer said he had been approached by some clergymen who were opposed to women bartenders.

Raithel moved to table the matter until the next meeting.

Comets Seek Tie for CWC Football Title

Meet Wautoma; Weyauwega, Marion Still in Running

CW CONFERENCE

	W	L
Waupaca	5	0

Friday's Games:
Waupaca at Wautoma
I-S at Weyauwega
Marion at Manawa
Amherst at Wittenberg

Onrushing Waupaca High School will be out to clinch at least a tie for the Central Wisconsin Conference championship Friday night when it travels to Wautoma.

The defending champion Comets have a 5-0 record and a victory over Wautoma would mean a sure tie with one game remaining.

Other games Friday will have Marion at Manawa, Iola-Scandinavia at Weyauwega and Amherst at Wittenberg.

Waupaca's high-geared machine is expected to be too powerful for Wautoma, however the Hornets have surprised league foes so far by posting a 3-2 record and would like to play the role of spoilers Friday.

Marion and Weyauwega are both nursing title hopes with their 4-1 records. Both will go into their games as favorites.

Marion has lodged letters of complaint with the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association the Central Wisconsin Conference over its 19-13 loss to Weyauwega. Apparently something went wrong with the official watch, and the game ran over the regulation time and Weyauwega managed to come from behind with two last-period touchdowns to win. Marion records showed Weyauwega ran off 101 plays from scrimmage in the game.

It was reported that after an official indicated there was 1 minute 10 seconds remaining, Weyauwega managed to run four rushing plays and two pass plays as it scored the winning touchdown and extra point, they kicked off to Marion and the Mustangs had time for one running play before the gun sounded.

Amherst will be after its initial victory of the campaign when it meets Wittenberg.

Bids for the necessary jail cell unit will be opened at 8 p.m. Nov. 16 in the courthouse and will now go to contractors for bidding, the special jail committee decided Monday.

Major contractors in the bids will include the complete building with and without offices in the basement and with and without air conditioning. Estimated cost of the 27,985 square-foot building has been set at $318,000.

The new jail will be built on a 13-acre site on the eastern edge of the city. It will replace the present structure at the courthouse square. It is expected that after contracts are awarded it will take approximately one year to complete the new structure. When completed the

Cheesemakers Ask Uniform Inspections

Calumet Groups Wants Costly Duplication Ended

HILBERT — A resolution urging the State Department of Agriculture to adopt uniform inspection services to avoid duplication of work and costs has been adopted by the Calumet County Cheesemakers Association.

At present some factories are being inspected by three agencies and the group felt the duplication and cost was unnecessary. The county cheesemakers have their own inspector; factories are also inspected by the state as well as the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The association's quality control fieldman now costs each patron 70 cents and will be increased to 75 cents after Nov. 1 due to increased costs. Some 740 farmers are now served by county inspection and the cheesemakers felt that 75 cents a patron is enough.

Sent to Congressmen

The resolution will be presented at the state cheesemakers convention next month.

The group also passed a resolution asking the federal government to continue to buy cheese for school lunch programs. Copies will be sent to Sens. William Proxmire and Gaylord Nelson and Rep. John Race.

At the annual meeting of the Calumet County Quality Association, Rueben Laack, Potter, and Norman Stecker, route 4, Chilton, were re-elected directors for three-year terms. Other directors are Alois Thiel and William Prund, Sherwood, and Edgar Thielman, Chilton. Laack is president and Thiel, secretary.

Napkins promoting dairy products again have been ordered. They are paid for by the county's banks.

Chairmen for the event are Mrs. Mabel Wolf and Mrs. Kietha Prentice. Other committee members are Mrs. Frank Haltner, Mrs. Blanche Rasmussen, Mrs. Alvin Neidhold, Mrs. Rachel Stillman, and Mrs. William Bauer.

House Moving Disrupts Utility Service to Chilton Homes

CHILTON — Telephone and electrical service for residents on N. Washington and S. Madison Streets was interrupted for short periods Tuesday when the Louis Kandler home was moved from its location at 118 Reed St. enroute to a farm north of here.

Due to the height of the structure, it was necessary to clip telephone and power lines. Servicemen from the General Telephone Co. and the Wisconsin Public Service Corp., repaired lines soon after the house passed so that service could be restored as quickly as possible.

The house moving started at 7:20 a.m. and all utility service had been restored by noon.

Early Morning Move

Moving resumed at 1 a.m. today. The early hour moving was necessary as the State Traffic Patrol does not permit house moving on state highways except during the hours of 1 and 4 a.m. Moving procedure was supervised by city and Calumet County police.

Purchase of the lot and moving of the house was approved by the congregation of the Ebenezer United Church of Christ. The house was removed to free the lot for a parking area. A new parsonage will be built on the former Kandler property.

Specifications of the proposed parsonage are available for review from Ronald Hanssen, congregation president.

Approval for construction of the parsonage will be asked at a future congregational meeting.

CLINTONVILLE — Damage estimated at $300 resulted from a two-car collision at 10:30 p.m. Sunday at the intersection of State 22 and 156.

Involved were cars driven by Arthur W. Forrest, 57, Green Bay, and Violet L. Zuege, 38, 403 Evergreen St., New London.

Forrest was traveling west on 156 and Zuege south on 22 when the crash occurred, Waupaca County Police said.

Hilbert School Board Accepts High Bid of $2,776 for Potter Building

District Will Receive $10,582 in Federal Aids; Study Planned on Uses for Funds

HILBERT — The board of education Monday accepted a high bid of $2,776 by Harland Gruett, Potter, for sale of the vacant Potter School.

Three bids were submitted last month but action was delayed because of the possibility that the building might be needed for education of the county's mentally retarded children. Gruett will pay all legal fees for transfer of ownership.

Board members polled favored the sale, as the Cooperative Educational Service Agency currently providing supervision for the four special classes in the county would be unable to make a decision until after the January session of the Calumet County Board.

The school is not centrally located for kindergarten and in spring, a sewerage hookup would be required. The school was vacated 1½ years ago when parents voted to send their children to the Hilbert elementary school.

Principal Earl Anderson said federal aid funds of about $10,582, under the National Elementary and Secondary Education Act, will be available to the school district for educational improvements. The funds are based on the number of students from five to 17 in families of less than $2,000 annual income, according to the 1960 census, at a rate of $262 a student. The Hilbert allotment is the smallest in the 20-school agency district. The money under a "package" program must be used each year.

Discuss Uses

Board members discussed how they favored spending the money and discussed possible uses.

Among suggestions were addition of a kindergarten unit, rental by month per week.

Attending were Wallace Rockwell, state supervisor of public instruction in the district; Theodore Schmidt, Hilbert Teachers Association, and members of the Wisconsin Education Association.

Service Buses

Approved servicing some of the district's buses by Perman's Station, whose facilities have been completed.

Heard a report by Ivan Novas, delegate to the Wisconsin School Board Institute last week in Madison, that because of its proximity to larger cities Calumet County will not have a vocational school. Other districts, however, will be given aid to take care of those wishing to attend.

Received bills and payroll expenses amounting to $22,090, requiring a $20,000 short term loan.

Instructed Anderson to contact the local coal supplier and try to get a reduced rate on the 40 tons of coal billed the district.

Agriculture Classes

The board favored adult vocational agricultural classes starting early next month and required under the new vocational-agricultural program. Leroy Meles, teacher, will supervise dairy herd management. Lessons of two-hour duration a week and four hours of on-the-farm counseling are required of the instructor, whose salary is reimbursed from state funds.

In other action, the board:

Approved purchase of equipment, furnished by Richard Warblow for the new mechanical drawing course, amounting to about $84.

Approved renting of garage space for the district's station wagon and other education car.

Approved servicing of the district's buses by Perman's Station, whose facilities have been completed.

90 Viet Cong Dead

Helicopters Deliver Reinforcements to Besieged Garrison

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. helicopters delivered several companies of reinforcements to the besieged garrison at Plei Me today, and the Viet Cong attacks began to diminish in size and ferocity, a U.S. military spokesman reported.

The defenders of the Special Forces camp in the central highlands reported seeing at least 90 enemy bodies. Government casualties were described as light after two days of fighting.

Farther north, in Quang Tri Province, a U.S. Army officer escaped today from the Viet Cong after being held captive for several hours, the spokesman announced.

Senior Adviser

The officer, identified as Capt. Robert F. Hooper, 29, whose wife lives at Winter Haven, Fla., was the senior adviser to a South Vietnamese battalion.

He apparently was captured when Viet Cong guerrillas hit a government outpost near the provincial capital of Quang Tri City, 140 miles north of Saigon. The enemy force penetrated an artillery position and blew up an ammunition bunker.

Details of Hooper's escape were not immediately known, but he apparently returned in good condition.

Hooper was the second American to escape from the Viet Cong within four months. Last July Sgt. Isaac Camacho, El Paso, Tex., escaped after being held captive for 18 months.

Eight Americans were reported killed in two helicopter crashes in the Plei Me area 210 miles northeast of Saigon. The Viet Cong shot one helicopter down Wednesday. A spokesman said mechanical failure caused the second crash today, but it was not known if this aircraft was directly involved in the Plei Me action.

The Special Forces camp was defended by about 300 Montagnard tribesmen and 10 to 12 American advisers when large numbers of Viet Cong attacked Tuesday night. U.S. and South Vietnamese planes pounded the Viet Cong constantly, and at night flare ships lit up the field of fire around the triangular defense positions.

3 Americans Awarded '65 Nobel Prizes

Work in Physics, Chemistry Cited by Swedish Academy

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The 1965 Nobel Prize for physics was awarded to two Americans and a Japanese, and the prize for chemistry went to another American.

The Royal Swedish Academy of Science announced that the physics award was given jointly to Julian Schwinger of Harvard, Richard Feynman of the California Institute of Technology, and Sin-Itiro Tomonago of Japan. The three will share equally in the $55,000 prize money.

It announced the chemistry prize of about $55,000 went to Prof. Robert Burns Woodward, also of Harvard University at Cambridge, Mass., a pioneer in synthesis of chlorophyll.

Work Praised

The citation for the three physics winners said the award was for "their fundamental work in quantum electrodynamics, with deep-ploughing consequences for the physics of elementary particles."

The citation for urns hailed "his meritorious contribution to the art of organic synthesis."

The academy, made up of 140 Swedish and 108 foreign members, said of the chemistry award:

"Woodward has carried out a number of difficult syntheses of complicated organic compounds within the last two decades. Among those which have commanded considerable attention are his very revealing experiments to build up peptides in the field of protein chemistry and his successful syntheses of sterols, substances that play an important role in the metabolism of the human body."

Woodward, born in Boston in 1917, began his university studies at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and won a doctor's degree in chemistry in 1937. He became a research worker and teacher at Harvard, a member of the Harvard faculty since 1944, and occupant of the special chair as Donner professor of science since 1960.

Labor Department Says $570,396 Pulled From Treasury, Records Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department says Teamsters President James R. Hoffa pulled $570,396 from the union treasury to help pay for his criminal trials.

The department said Wednesday it compiled the figures from Teamsters records and made no attempt to verify them.

Seymour Spelman, attorney for 16 Philadelphia union members who seek restitution of the funds, declared:

"That's only the top of the iceberg."

He said the total probably is nearer to a million dollars for Hoffa's criminal cases since 1959. And he said the Teamsters still may have been tapped for as much as $3 million to defend Hoffa and 47 other union officials convicted during the past five years.

Three Trials

The Labor Department said the $570,396 covered three criminal trials during the past three years.

The Spelman suit, expected to come to trial in Washington within the next two months, was filed in March of 1964. Hoffa stopped using union money for his legal troubles shortly thereafter, although he contended its use was legal as a necessary business expense.

The Labor Department said the money went for a 1962 kickback conspiracy case in Nashville, Tenn., a 1964 jury tampering trial in Chattanooga, Tenn., and a 1964 Chicago trial for defrauding the Teamsters pension fund.

Later Convicted

The Nashville case ended in a mistrial, but Hoffa was later convicted of jury tampering and sentenced to eight years in prison. He was sentenced to another five years on his Chicago fraud conviction. He also was fined $10,000 in each case.

Hoffa has appealed both convictions and remains free.

Rights Leaders May Continue School Protest

Dick Gregory Slated To Speak at Boycott Of Milwaukee Policy

MILWAUKEE (AP)— A boycott of Milwaukee public schools enters its fourth and possible final day today with civil rights leaders hinting they might continue the protest against alleged racial imbalance in the schools on a selective basis.

A demonstration was scheduled for today outside the school administration building. Negro comedian Dick Gregory was expected to speak.

The boycott committee has said the protest, which began Monday, would last at least four days.

Specific Schools

Assemblyman Lloyd A. Barbee, the committee chairman, said Wednesday night the boycott might be directed in the future against specific schools or classes on certain days. He reportedly told a group of parents that today would be the last day of the citywide boycott.

Attendance at the city's public schools picked up again Wednesday. Absences were listed at 9,445. The normal number of absentees is about 5,300. A total of 12,654 students was absent on the first day of the boycott and 10,074 on the second day. Total enrollment in the city's public schools is 122,500.

Of Wednesday's absentees, 4,947 were reported in the 31 schools in or near the city's "inner core," where the bulk of Milwaukee's Negroes reside.

Future Plans

The boycott committee discussed its future plans at a meeting Wednesday night with about 60 parents in boycott headquarters.

Afterwards, Barbee refused to discuss what, if anything, was decided on the length of the boycott, but one source said Barbee told the parents the boycott would end today.

Barbee called the boycott "an overwhelming success," saying, "It's showing the way for real concerted action. After the boycott, you can look for more."

After a rally at headquarters about 180 persons demonstrated in front of the home of Harold S. Vincent, superintendent of schools. It was the third straight night for such a demonstration.

Truck-Car Crash Kills Oshkosh Driver

John Reamer, 45, Dies in Accident In Portage County

The deaths of three persons including an Oshkosh man in separate accidents pushed the state highway toll this year to 804, compared with 863 on this date a year ago.

John A. Reamer, 45, 115 Irving St., Oshkosh, was pronounced dead at the scene of a car truck accident on U.S. 10, three miles east of Amherst in Portage County about 4:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Portage County authorities said the Reamer car collided almost headon with a semi-trailer tractor truck being driven by Benjamin Golding, 37, of Michigan. Golding was not injured.

Reamer was driving west and the truck was going east on a long, down grade when the accident occurred. Authorities said the pavement was wet, but it was not raining at the time of the accident.

Also killed were Henry M. Wachter, 65, of Prairie du Chien, when his truck overturned on Iowa County Trunk I south of Highland, and Virginia Sundstrom, 6, of rural Bristol, injured fatally when she was struck by a car in Kenosha County.

Better Spirits

Johnson Prepares To Leave Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is expected to leave the hospital today and return to the White House.

He faces weeks of additional recuperation — most of it probably at his Texas ranch.

Johnson is displaying increasing vigor, growing good humor and — on occasion — the incision left from removal of his gall bladder and a kidney stone 13 days ago.

The President even allowed some pictures of the scar Wednesday after removal of the last of three drainage tubes from his abdomen.

Better Spirits

This seemed to be another indication that Johnson was in better spirits and ready to accept assurances of his doctors that he could go home any time after Wednesday night.

The physicians examined Johnson early Wednesday. The resulting word was that Johnson was progressing the way they wanted him to, although still experiencing some soreness and weakness.

Signs of the latter were pretty well concealed Wednesday — a busy, active time for Johnson.

There were ceremonial bill signings, near the beginning and the end of the day — a clean air measure and a $3.2-billion foreign aid appropriation.

The president was in and out of Bethesda Naval Hospital. He spent nearly six hours out doors.

School Aid Bill Sent to President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has sent President Johnson an education bill that would give the nation's colleges a $2,387,000,000 shot in the arm while establishing three landmark programs.

The measure far exceeds the President's recommendations, but he is expected to sign it and set in motion for the first time in the nation's history:

1. A program of federal scholarships to help young people from low-income families attend college.

2. A system of federally insured state and private loans to assist college students from middle-income families.

3. The dispatch of a National Teacher Corps to poverty-stricken areas in a bootstrap attempt to lift education standards.

The Teacher Corps was the major item in dispute as the bill made its final run Wednesday through Congress.

Income Questions

KKK Dragon Stays Silent, Reluctant

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators tried to light a fire under reluctant Klan Dragon James Robert Jones today by producing some of the records he had refused to turn over — income tax returns.

But Jones, the North Carolina dragon, remained reluctant to talk and kept silent under sharp questioning about whether he had been reimbursed by the United Klans of America for deductions he had claimed — such as the cost of robes.

In declining to answer questions, he cited constitutional protections against self incrimination.

Tax Returns

Jones' lawyer, Lester V. Chalmers Jr., told the committee, "That's the reason we didn't bring tax returns up here, because we were well aware that these returns were available to you."

"That's for the birds," snapped Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Under questioning, Jones declined to say whether he had had any full-time employment since 1960.

The committee produced what it said were Jones' income tax returns that showed gross income of $3,800 in 1960, $1,630 in 1961, $3,579 in 1962, $2,766 in 1963 and $8,923 in 1964 — the year the investigators said he became the United Klans' grand dragon of North Carolina.

Jones refused to say whether he had not been reimbursed by the Klan for such claimed expenses as $531 for robes, $2,941 for printing literature and $1,851 for auto expenses.

The line of questioning added emphasis to a broad hint Willis dropped Wednesday that Klan leaders may yet find the Internal Revenue Service a greater threat to them than the civil rights movement.

Wilson Says He Will Visit Rhodesia

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson announced today he will fly to Rhodesia this week in a last-ditch effort to find a solution to the crisis over that African colony's demand for independence.

Wilson will go to Salisbury with Commonwealth Secretary Arthur Bottomley for talks with Prime Minister Ian Smith in an effort to break the deadlock between the two governments.

Wilson told Smith, in a message delivered this afternoon, that he expected to have the opportunity also to talk with "anyone whose view I feel to be relevant to a solution of this grave problem."

Wilson said he would leave for Salisbury Friday or Saturday.

Morrissey Vote Postponed

Kennedy Shelves Judgeship Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Francis X. Morrissey's nomination for a federal judgeship was sent back to the Senate Judiciary Committee today at the request of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

This appeared to kill the nomination for this session of Congress, but President Johnson could resubmit it at the next session in January.

Kennedy's surprise request that the nomination go back to the Judiciary Committee came at the end of an emotional speech in which he highly praised Morrissey, an old friend and political supporter of the Kennedy family.

Give Up Post

Johnson could give Morrissey a recess appointment to the U.S. District Court in Massachusetts after Congress adjourns. But to take it, Morrissey would have to give up his present $20,000-a-year Boston Municipal Court judgeship.

Kennedy, his voice breaking and on the verge of tears as he described the hardships of Morrissey's early years, said much of the controversy over the nomination concerned events so remote in time and obscure in place that understandable confusion has arisen among those who have not been following it closely.

"If senators have any questions at all they should have the chance to air them fully," he said, "and seek the answers through the proven process of our committee system."

Looked Close

Just before calling the nomination up for action, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told newsmen, "It looks close to me."

He said the outcome might hinge on the number of absentees.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, heading the opposition to Morrissey, had himself planned to propose recommital.

Kennedy told the Senate he is satisfied that a full record will result in Morrissey's confirmation "by a greatly increased majority" and that Morrissey "will be a credit to the federal judiciary."

Morrissey, 55, has been a Boston Municipal Court judge for the last seven years, but his nomination has come under attack on the ground he is not qualified for the federal bench.

Just as the Senate was convening, Kennedy had a last-minute meeting with Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach at the Justice Department. Neither man was available afterward for comment on what took place, and Kennedy left the department to drive back to Capitol Hill alone.

Hemingway's 'Old Man'

Traffic From Cuba Resumes After Lull

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A 92-year-old fisherman who said he was Ernest Hemingway's inspiration for the old man in the "Old Man and the Sea" arrived in exile today as brisk refugee traffic resumed after a two-day lull.

More than 65 refugees reached the Florida Keys in seven boats during the early morning hours. At least 16 more were on the way.

Boats docked at such a rapid pace that hard-pressed Coast Guard craft couldn't locate them fast enough to escort them to port.

One landed at a bathing beach. Another docked at shrimp pier. Still another pulled into Marathon in the middle of the Keys.

Family Group

Anselmo Hernandez, gnarled and weather-beaten with thin but sprawling gray hair, said, "I knew Hemingway for 30 years. Every time he was in Cuba he came to see me. We would have coffee together and talk."

"He said he would write a novel about me. Then he did," said Hernandez.

Hernandez came in a family group ferried to Florida by two grandsons, Rene and Rigoberto of Key West.

Havana radio said 16 boats had left Cuba for Florida Wednesday night and early today.

Newly arrived refugees reported that more than 250 small boats manned by an estimated 800 persons were waiting in Camarioca harbor to bring out Cubans seeking exile in the United States.

First Vessel

"Many sleep on the floor because of the congestion," said Carlos Ortega of Miami, skipper of the Marianne, which reached

Rent Subsidy Plan Alive, but Facing Uncertain Future

Senate Barely Approves Funds To Start Controversial Program

BY CARL P LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's controversial rent subsidy program is still alive after a victory in the Senate But it faces an uncertain future

Wednesday the Senate narrowly approved funds to launch the program this year

Today House Conferees are expected to try to torpedo the program in a meeting with Senate conferees on the catch-all money bill that includes $360 000 for the first year of rent supplements

Eventually under terms of the bill the government would be authorized to provide $12 million in federal grants to help low-income families pay their rents

Won't Give Fu 's

The House voted 185-162 last week against providing funds for the program this year. But the Senate Appropriations Committee put the money back and the Senate in two roll-call votes Wednesday went along.

A Republican-led effort to eliminate payments this year failed 45-37. Then, a Republican-led drive to cut the program in half was beaten 41 37.

The Senate then made several minor changes in the $4 867.248.-103 appropriation bill the last of the year and passed it by voice vote

The conference committee will try to reconcile the bill with a House version which provided $4 214.429 610 The Senate bill is larger because a number of administration requests were sent to Capitol Hill after the House Appropriations Committee ended its hearings.

Support Programs

Besides rent supplements the bill provides funds to support a number of key administration programs, among them aid to higher education, highway beautification, antipoverty, regional medical centers, water and air pollution control and vocational rehabilitation.

The rent program would guarantee nonprofit organizations that rent property the difference between 25 per cent of the occupant's income and the rent of the unit.

Only families eligible for public housing could take advantage of the program. None of the subsidy payments would go to private landlords.

'Demonstrations Almost Treasonable'

State Congressmen Agree Protests Against War Give Comfort to Reds

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post Crescent Madison Bureau

WASHINGTON — The recent demonstrations against U S military intervention in Viet Nam have given comfort to Communists throughout the world and are aggravating the situation in Southeast Asia, members of the Wisconsin Congressional delegation agreed today.

Rep. John W. Byrnes, R., Green Bay, described the demonstrations which have broken out on a coast-to-coast basis within the last week as "deplorable."

"Unfortunately, instead of helping to find a proper solution in Southeast Asia, these demonstrators have simply aggravated it by unwittingly giving aid and comfort to the Communists," Byrnes said

Rep. Vernon W. Thomson, R., Richland Center, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, was even more vehement in his criticism of the demonstrators

Handmaidens of Communists

"The demonstrations are the handmaidens of Communists," Thompson declared "They are furnishing more encouragement to the North Vietnamese than is the aid they are getting from Russia.

"The demonstrations are feeding fodder for the mill of Communist propaganda," continued the former Wisconsin governor

"I believe that the North Vietnamese think that these demonstrations indicate that the American people are ready to abandon their fight for freedom, and the Vietnamese will therefore intensify their efforts These acts of the demonstrators are also strengthening the comfort they give the enemy."

He believes that once an act of war has not been officially declared, there isn't much we can do about the demonstrations unless the "sinister organizational movement behind them is exposed"

Rep John A. Race, D., Fond du Lac, took a crack at University of Wisconsin students who have been figuring prominently in the Viet Nam demonstrations.

"I am sure that the students in the demonstrations against our military intervention in Viet Nam are in the minority," he said. "But it is a shame and a disgrace to Wisconsin and to our men fighting in Southeast Asia that these beatnicks and exhibitionists are giving our state and our university such unfavorable publicity."

Earthquakes Cross 8 States In Midwest

No Injuries Reported; Could Have Been Disaster in City

ST. LOUIS, Mo (AP) — A moderately strong earthquake rumbled across the Midwest Wednesday night, shaking at least eight states. No injuries or serious damage were reported, but a scientist said the quake would have been disastrous if it had been centered in a city.

The quake started at 9 01 p m and lasted for 14 minutes on the seismograph at St Louis University. However, residents of Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee felt it only for a few seconds.

Dr. Carl Kisslinger, chairman of the geophysics department at St. Louis University, said the quake was recorded at between 4 5 and 5 on the Richter scale The disastrous Alaskan earthquake of 1964 hit 8.25 on the scale

"There's no doubt about it," said Kisslinger, "it was an earthquake, and it was a significant earthquake for this part of the world. If the center had been under a city, there would have been a lot of damage"

Kisslinger said the quake centered about 260 miles west of St. Louis, near the Kansas-Missouri border. But Dr. James Peoples, of the seismograph station at the University of Kansas, said the quake occurred within a 300-mile radius of the Lawrence campus, 35 miles west of Kansas City.

Fiery Comet Heads Back Into Oblivion

No Astronomers See Ikeya-Seki As It Is Overpowered by Sun

HONOLULU (AP) — Blazing Ikeya-Seki, first comet in 83 years bright enough to be seen in daylight, whipped around the sun today and headed back into oblivion.

Astronomers here and on the American mainland watched the celestial spectacle across 93 million miles of space. Its 80,-000-mile-diameter head was followed by a streaming 20-million-mile tail.

But its brilliance was mostly overpowered by the sun, which it approached to within 300,000 to 800,000 miles. Not one observer aboard a National Aeronautics and Space Administration jet plane saw the comet.

Visible on Ground

From the ground, however, Dr George Van Biesbroeck, one of the world's foremost authorities on comets and a member of the airborne NASA expedition, viewed it plainly.

He called it "extremely bright — 1,000 times brighter than the planet Venus."

Clouds blocked Hawaiians' view of the comet late Wednesday, but earlier it could be seen without binoculars, just south of the sun.

The comet left scientists puzzled by several mysteries. Delicate instruments detected internal heat and the presence of sodium, calcium and iron. Comets were believed to be cold and made up of nitrogen gas loosely combined with chunks of rock.

World's Tallest Apartment House To be Started

CHICAGO (AP) — Construction of what was described as the world's tallest apartment building will begin next month, developers have announced

A spokesman for Hartnett-Shaw & Associates, of Chicago and New York City, said Wednesday the 70-story building also would be the tallest reinforced concrete structure in existence.

He said the structure, of triangular shape with concave faces, would be enveloped with glass and aluminum and would occupy an entire city block.

The construction site is located near Lake Michigan, just north of Navy Pier on the city's Near North Side.

The architect for the project is Schipporeit-Heinrich of Chicago.

Radios Around World Practice for Gemini 6

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla (AP) — World-circling radios buzz today in a communications dress rehearsal for the space hunt of the Gemini 6 Monday — the most difficult U S. manned flight to date.

The 19-station Gemini network swing into action early in the morning and continue until 7 p.m. Mission control center, Houston, Tex., was in direct charge.

At Cape Kennedy, command pilot Cmdr. Walter M Schirra Jr. and pilot Maj. Thomas P Stafford of the Air Force were to enter the Gemini mission simulator to participate in the communications rehearsal.

Through instant voice relay, mission control will have direct contact with the pilots through more than half of each critical orbit as the astronauts track down, rendezvous and dock with an Agena target rocket 185 miles above the earth.

Astronauts Practice

The astronauts Wednesday entered the spacecraft atop the 90-foot Titan 2 rocket and spent three hours rehearsing the complex job of matching orbits with the Agena and maneuvering close enough to dock.

Then backup pilots Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom of the Air Force and Navy Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young replaced them in the spacecraft and completed the simulation.

At the launching pads, experts completed checks of the Atlas-Agena rocket that will precede Gemini 6 into orbit by at least an hour and 41 minutes. They reported no difficulties.

During the communications rehearsal, full crews are set for all of the worldwide Gemini tracking network stations. Communications during the space maneuvers of the Gemini spacecraft are critical.

Marine Calls Youths Hypocrites

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marine Corps Commandant Wallace M. Greene Jr. says American youths who demonstrate against the nation's Viet Nam policy are hypocrites at heart.

If they were sincere, Greene said Wednesday, they would volunteer for humanitarian programs in Southeast Asia.

"Let them prove themselves as Good Samaritans by crossing the road to lift up their brothers, to tend the sick, to feed the hungry, to clothe the naked, to shelter the homeless," he told the Defense Supply Association's national convention

"Let them do this first, rather than pass by on the other side of the street, with a placard on their shoulder, a song on their lips and hypocrisy in their hearts."

$4,000 Pay Boost for Judges OK'd

MADISON (AP) — A $4,000 salary increase for county judges has gained the approval of one house of the Wisconsin Legislature

The Senate passed the measure Wednesday in a lopsided vote of 25-2 and sent it to the Assembly.

The increase raises anual salary minimums from $13,500 to $17,500 with the state paying $9.500 of the new total. Judges elected after Jan. 1 would receive the higher pay immediately and sitting judges would become eligible for the increase on Jan. 1, 1968.

Senators opposing the increase were William Draheim, R-Neenah, and Joseph Lourigan, D-Kenosha.

Given final legislative approval by the Senate was $425 million highway budget for the current biennium.

The money comes from gasoline taxes and license fees which are segregated for road construction.

Poor Memory Is Not Result of Old Age

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: It is often stated that the reason an elderly person does not remember names of people whom he has recently met is due to constriction of conduits that supply blood to the memory centers of the brain—insufficient circulation for requisite stimulation.

Why is it, then, that such an individual can without effort remember names of friends and acquaintances of earlier years? —C.G.

That explanation may be "often stated," but not by me.

Dr. Molner

It is true that disease conditions can impair circulation in the brain, but deterioration of that organ in such cases is apparent in more than just memory.

I have strong reservations as to whether circulation has much if anything to do with memory, or whether old age does, except that ability to learn rapidly tapers off gradually.

Our peak learning ability, according to careful tests, is in middle life (not youth) and the slowing of ability to learn declines very gradually after we pass the 40's and 50's, so that in point of fact you have to get rather old before the change amounts to much. You can teach old dogs new tricks if the old dogs want to learn.

Remember What We Like

The psychiatrists tell us that we all remember what we want to remember, and forget what we dislike or don't have any reason to remember.

Children lose rubbers and mittens because they are a nuisance. They can't for the life of them remember where they left a toy that has become a bore. They forget to write letters but easily remember the exact ways to twist you round their little fingers.

I have known sharp oldsters who can't remember what they ate for lunch but know exactly how much they have in the bank and the number of shares of securities they own. Some of them are well past 80.

Brain circulation has nothing to do with that. They remember what is important to them and don't clutter their heads with things that don't seem important. When brain circulation is sufficiently impaired, then anything or everything is forgotten and the person behaves rather automatically, with snatches of memory recurring in hit-or-miss fashion.

Dear Dr. Molner: I read in your column that most women don't need to douche and that it may be harmful if done to excess.

I have used a douche of baking soda and water as a birth control method for years. Now I am skeptical. Do you think I am harming myself—Mrs. P.A.H.

No, I don't see any harm in this—or any benefit, either. The douche is at best an unreliable method of contraception, and often fails.

What I wanted to convey was that routine douches for the sake of cleanliness are unnecessary, and for health purposes are advisable only when medication is required.

The harm in douching rests not in the douche itself but in the irritating solutions which some women use. A weak salt or soda solution is not irritating.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would you advise using zinc oxide on a varicose ulcer to heal it?—P.H.

Don't expect much in the way of results. When varicose veins have obstructed circulation enough to let ulcers form, the only reliable way to get the ulcers healed (and prevent more from forming) is by surgery. This will tie off or remove the faulty veins and thus permit better circulation to develop.

Election Could Break Tradition In New Jersey

Democrats Within Sight of Power Not Held Since Wilson

TRENTON, N J (AP)—New Jersey chooses a governor and new legislature Nov 2 in an election that could end several political traditions

The Democrats are within sight of a peak of political dominance they have not occupied since Woodrow Wilson's term as governor half a century ago

New Jersey was considered a Republican state only a dozen years ago But weakened by primary fights, election losses and anemic finances, the Republicans are underdogs in this year's race for governor and are no better than even money to hold on to the newly reapportioned legislature

Democratic Gov Richard J Hughes is seeking a second four-year term Polls by both parties show him comfortably ahead. If he wins, it will be the fourth term in a row for the Democrats, the longest reign by either party in the 20th century

GOP Candidate

Wayne Dumont Jr , a 14-year veteran of the state Senate, is trying to stop the Democratic streak A 51-year-old lawyer from one of the state's few remaining rural counties, he won a less-than-resounding endorsement from the GOP in a complicated screening committee procedure followed by a close primary election victory Twice before he had lost Republican gubernatorial primary elections.

Dumont emphasizes discussion of such things as taxes, colleges, the drought and what he calls Hughes' lack of leadership He accuses Hughes of wasteful spending and failing to take the lead in raising large amounts of money both he and Hughes agree the state needs.

He has come up with one issue that has emotional impact—Prof. Eugene Genovese of Rutgers, the state university. Genovese told a "teach-in" last April that he would welcome a Viet Cong victory in Viet Nam. Dumont called for dismissal of Genovese and a "sleeper" issue was born.

Agrees on Viet Nam

Hughes emphasizes his agreement with U.S policy in Viet Nam but has declined to force Rutgers to fire Genovese. He said it would violate academic freedom.

Hughes admits the Genovese issue will cost him votes.

Hughes, 56, is a former judge who won an upset victory in 1961 over the late James P. Mitchell, secretary of labor in the Dwight D. Eisenhower Cabinet. A remarried widower with 10 children and the state's first Roman Catholic governor, Hughes is running this year in a more restrained version of his usual peppery platform style

He blames most of New Jersey's government problems on the Republican majority caucus which has ruled the state Senate for 50 years

Both Hughes and Dumont represent a sharp break with New Jersey's past in one major respect—both advocate a big, new statewide tax Dumont has supported a sales tax for years Hughes came out for an income tax two years ago

No Sales Tax

New Jersey is one of the last states in the nation without a general sales or personal income tax. It tried a sales tax for a few months 30 years ago and the ensuing outcry has made most politicians gun-shy on the issue ever since.

A court-ordered reapportionment adds to the Republican problems The U.S Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" doctrine has produced a 29-member Senate that gives added voting power to the big counties. The present 21-member Senate, with one man from each county, has been a Republican stronghold since 1913

The 60-member Assembly will not be changed in size The Democrats hope to win control there, too something they have done only in seven of the past 50 years

Winner of legislative control gets a bonus—the privilege of drawing up new federal congressional districts A court has ordered the redistricting It will determine whether the Democrats can hold the 11-4 edge on the congressional delegation they won last year, their only majority since Wilson.

Free Schooling Asked For Children of Soldiers Killed in War

COLUMBUS, Ga (AP) — State Sen. I W Gregory of Muscogee says he will ask the Georgia Legislature which meets in January to provide free room, board and tuition at state colleges for children of soldiers killed in Viet Nam.

Gregory, a Republican, also proposed that a monument honoring American servicemen who fight in "brush fire wars" be erected in Columbus. Many men fighting in Viet Nam are trained at nearby Ft. Benning.

Kidnaping Kept Joe Bananas From Talking to Jury Year Ago

By CHARLES WEST

NEW YORK (AP) — In the heat of a probe of organized crime Joe Bananas, gangland baron, disappeared one year ago today in a sidewalk kidnaping

Real or hoax crime, he still is missing, despite a search ranging from Mafia haunts in the United States to Sicily, the birthplace of the secret brotherhood of the underworld

On the same day that two gunmen snatched him in the early morning hours of Oct 21, Joe Bananas was to have appeared before a federal grand jury investigating the rackets The jury still is sitting, its probe now broadened to include the disappearance itself.

Case Open

New York City police list the case as open, but sources indicated that detectives are no nearer a solution.

An FBI spokesman would say only that "an extensive and intensive investigation is being conducted."

The Manhattan lawyer present when Bananas vanished, William Power Maloney, was asked whether he believed Bananas to be alive or dead.

"I'm as much in the dark as I was the night it happened," he answered.

Bananas, identified in Senate testimony as ruler of one of New York City's five Mafia "families," had dined with his Tucson, Ariz., attorney, Lawrence P. D'Antonio; Maloney and two of Maloney's law associates at an East 45th Street steakhouse

After Midnight

After midnight, Bananas accompanied Maloney to the latter's Park Avenue residence Bananas stood beside him while the lawyer paid the cab fare.

"Suddenly, I got the shock of my life when I saw this guy grappling with Joe," Maloney reported

"As I started toward the man who grabbed him first, the other one appeared and he also had a gun The first one said in a loud clear voice, 'Come on, Joe, my boss wants to see you.'

"Joe said, 'What's going on here" Who are these guys?'

"I followed the man with Joe and the second one backed after them holding the gun and pointing it right at me He was about 25 feet from me when he fired the gun once

Still Struggling

"The men put Joe in a late model two-door beige car The headlights were on I couldn't see if anyone else was in the car because it was too dark The car was pointed east on 56th Street just off Park Avenue

"Joe was still struggling as it sped off

Thus did 59-year-old Joe Bananas — born Joseph Bonanno in Sicily — disappear.

Several witnesses say they heard the shot, but police did not find the ejected shell Maloney was not hurt

Maloney, once an assistant U S attorney and chief of the trial section of the Justice Department, repeatedly has expressed the belief that it was a real, not staged kidnaping

Police and the FBI have withheld their opinions.

Bananas Friend Of John DiBella

Joe Bananas was a longtime friend and business associate of the late John V DiBella, Fond du Lac Italian cheese man whose activities over the past quarter century were observed by local, state and federal authorities DiBella died of a heart attack at Fond du Lac a year ago and his multi-million dollar estate is still in probate there

Bananas was a frequent visitor to Fond du Lac and the hotel where DiBella lived since the late 1940's. He and DiBella had holdings in Wisconsin and several other states, and reportedly abroad

However, Bananas' trips to the Fox Valley region ceased about four years ago when a crime syndicate investigation centered on Wisconsin and the cheese business DiBella operated.

When his longtime friend DiBella died, Bananas did not show up for the funeral but FBI and other state and federal agents did At the time Bananas was reportedly somewhere in Canada, having absented himself from the U S. after the New York grand jury convened

Bananas, according to testimony given the senate crime investigating committee, was one of the top bosses of the Cosa Nostra crime syndicate.

Key West from Camarioca Wednesday night "We got only rice and a little meat to eat"

The Marianne was the first vessel to reach Key West since bad weather halted the exodus early Tuesday Ortega said he brought out 14 refugees

Three other boats which left with Ortega's were spotted in the Florida Straits by the Coast Guard

Swiss diplomats, acting on behalf of the United States speeded up negotiations in Havana for a more orderly method of bringing refugees to the United States Sources close to the negotiations said the arrangements should be firmed up within a few days

Had Been Jailed

One of the arrivals aboard the Marianne, Celso Machado, said he had been imprisoned from 1960 to 1963 for anti-Castro activity

One arrival Antonio Gomez 70 said life was good in Cuba "There is plenty to eat," he said

Gomez said he and his wife hope to return to Cuba after visiting a son in Hialeah Fla

Ortega said several Castro militiamen slipped him pieces of paper with their names, seeking to be claimed by someone in Miami as a relative.

There had been speculation among exiles and officials that Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro had stopped the exodus.

Associated Press Havana correspondent Isaac Flores said Wednesday night that bad weather was the reason for the slowdown.

FBI Informer Testifies in Rights Trial

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — An FBI informer who has testified he was present on the night a white civil rights worker was shot while driving on a lonely Alabama road, testifies today as the state's key witness in the murder trial of Klansman Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr

Gary Thomas Rowe, 35, a member of the Ku Klux Klan in the pay of the Justice Department, was the main witness in the first trial of Wilkins, 21, a chubby-cheeked mechanic from Fairfield Ala

The stocky, red-haired Rowe, a former Birmingham bartender, described in Wilkins' first trial, last May, how Viola Gregg Liuzzo, 39, a Detroit mother of five, was shot

The killing took place while she was shuttling Negro civil rights workers back to Selma after the 50-mile march on the state Capitol in Montgomery.

Search for Arms In Santo Domingo Ordered by President

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — President Hector Garcia-Godoy ordered the army and police to search Santo Domingo for hidden arms today in an attempt to prevent new outbreaks of fighting.

Garcia-Godoy announced that troops not taking part in the search would be confined to their barracks. This apparently was aimed at rebel fears that the army would use the search as an excuse for a drive against them

The president's order came after two days of fighting between rebel supporters and army regulars that aroused fears the provisional government might collapse.

Wilcox left with three of his children and an employe for New York City Tuesday Mrs Wilcox said her husband paid $5,000 for the building which cost $125,000 to construct.

The Downey girl's body was found during a hunt for eight and perhaps 11 missing persons police believed were murdered by a maniac who enticed children and young girls to parties, got them drunk and murdered them if they refused to join in sexual perversions.

Brady and Miss Hindley made a 10-minute appearance in court They were ordered held in custody for a week.

Police said they had tape recordings made by the killer, or killers, of the dying screams of tortured victims. They said they also had photographs of the mutilated victims.

No Part in Party

GOP Leaders Head for Bircher Showdown

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican policymakers may be headed for a December showdown on the nagging question mark of John Birch Society influence within their party.

The question zoomed into prominence when Sen. Thruston B Morton of Kentucky tied into the Birch Society and said its influence should be booted out of the GOP

Morton, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, charged the militantly conservative organization is trying to take over the party.

Impact On Party

GOP floor leaders of the House and Senate joined him in declaring the society is no part of the GOP.

The Birch Society promptly denied it has designs on the Republican party As the Democratic National Committee gleefully noted, society founder Robert Welch said that would be "petty larceny."

Most state GOP chairmen said they doubt the Capitol Hill denunciation will have any particular impact on the party itself

"The denunciation was more for the edification of the public than the party," said West Virginia Chairman John Scott

At last year's San Francisco convention which nominated Barry Goldwater for the presidency, delegates jeered to defeat a platform amendment that would have denounced the society

Now a similar proposal may face the next session of the Republican Coordinating Committee, a council of party leaders due to meet in Washington Dec 13

Morton and Michigan Gov George Romney have said they may seek to have the committee declare itself on the Birch Society.

Goldwater, who has denounced the positions taken by Welch but not the society's members, serves on the coordinating committee

So does New York Gov Nelson A Rockefeller, who has expressed delight at "a growing awareness that the John Birch group is trying to gain control of the party."

Goldwater has said he sees no such threat, but he has suggested that Republicans resign from the society and spend their time working for the party

That represents little change from a position he took long before the presidential nomination, when he said he had urged some society members to quit the organization in protest against Welch's leadership

Most state GOP chairmen agree that the society is not a potent force within the party

Since his original denunciation of the society, Morton has said there are probably as many Democrats as Republicans in the Birch Society.

Later, he charged that "Birchers of the left" had a hold on the Democrats

Milwaukee School Boycott

The school boycott in Milwaukee, aimed at spotlighting de facto segregation and seeking remedies for it has not been as successful as the boycott held for similar purposes last year Almost twice as many students and a third again as many teachers were absent a year ago There are several factors involved but certainly a major one is the relief among a lot of people that efforts are being made to find solutions for the problems of the core area schools

Actually in Milwaukee a number of children from predominantly Negro schools are being bussed to less crowded schools in other districts Part of the complaint of those who advocated another boycott this year is that the bussed children remain in separate classes This may indeed be unconstitutional as pointed out by Superintendent of Public Instruction Angus Rothwell in a situation involving shared time between public and parochial schools The separation of students into different classes according to race or religion is banned in Wisconsin's constitution.

But the problems of slum schools are so tremendous that the long range study as proposed by We Milwaukeeans merits attention and respect. It is true that such schools have less educational opportunities than those in areas where the homes, the families and the standards of living—and sometimes of morality—are higher. It may also be true that, in the absence of some specific way to change housing patterns, the schools may be a major institution to remedy social ills. This is apparently contrary to the opinion of the majority on the Milwaukee Board of Education

But does the transfer of children from one school to another to balance, not only the races but the backgrounds, actually raise educational standards? Or does it actually lower them overall to an average below the original? Certainly with the present emphasis upon education for future plans parents cannot be blamed for their reluctance to expose their children to lower standards Nor is education the only concern in this matter The violence, the instability in some core area schools are a major factor in the inability to attract good teachers or to inspire learning

This concern is in conflict with the matter of being one's brotner's keeper even at the elementary school level. The extent of the conflict in Milwaukee was indicated by the split within the Roman Catholic Church whereby the acting bishop prohibited the use of Catholic property for freedom schools but several priests and nuns took part in the boycott demonstrations and taught in the freedom schools

Without protests such as the Milwaukee boycott it is unlikely in the past that there would have been extensive efforts made to study and try to find remedies for the problems of slum area schools of which de facto segregation may be one cause or merely a by-product But at this stage of concern, the value of the boycott is over. The need to upgrade the slum area schools must be balanced against the need to maintain order and respect for law and legal methods of remedy And sympathizers must take care that their intentions are not merely being used for the political ambitions of some of their leaders.

The Draft Needs Remodelling

Since the step-up in the war in Viet Nam, the military draft has come in for serious scrutiny. This has included even the setting up of classes and the writing of pamphlets on how to avoid the draft. While such activities are disgusting they do indicate major flaws in the current system which is anything but democratic. It ought to be overhauled from the very bottom.

A major problem is that the present system is aimed, not at universal military training for all reasonably healthy American young men, but at trying to fill the gap between the number of volunteers for military service and those actually needed. In part there is also a conflict between the idea of a professional military force and a citizen's responsibility to defend his country. There may also be some amount of confusion over whether an efficient military machine can be best built through the medium of universal military training and which aim should come first.

One point of view has been to so raise the salaries and other benefits for military service that enough volunteers would enlist to enable the draft to be cancelled. However, since many young men now volunteer only because they expect otherwise to be drafted, the standards would probably have to be raised tremendously in order to fulfill the need. This would also only emphasize the split between the professional military, paid to fight for the country, and the everyday citizen who might more casually disregard the nation's foreign policy since it wouldn't actively concern him.

The draft right now is anything but democratic. Exemptions go to those who are able, either financially or through ability, to continue their educational studies almost indefinitely or at least until they have passed their 26th birthdays It also exempts those who marry young and father children And a great many who need the training, discipline and even wholesome food of the military service are exempted because they fail to pass the physical, mental or moral requirements.

An often misunderstood amendment in the Bill of Rights is that "a well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed." Most experts agree that this means arms for the defense of the nation and infers the responsibility of the individual to bear arms for that purpose. Certainly a "mercenary" army was repugnant to those who founded the nation however necessary it may be today. But a reasoned combination of the idea of universal military service with raises in benefits for those who make a career of the military would serve to uphold American traditions and a capable military.

Basic to such policies would be the draft of every young man, probably upon the completion of high school or his eighteenth birthday Exemptions should be only for the really handicapped or hardship cases. Provisions should be made, such as in a bill proposed some months ago by Senator Gaylord Nelson, to raise the educational standards of those who fail to meet those requirements, and the same should be done for those who are not up to the physical standards within certain limits. Most definitely the morally unfit should also be drafted, if not into actual military service, then into work units or under psychiatric treatment.

Such a program would have several advantages over the present one. More young men might choose the military as a career after the year's exposure. The dragging out of education merely to get out of service would disappear. One year's break, in the present affluent society, would not be a hardship either academically or economically for the overwhelming majority. A by-product might be the postponement of teen-age marriages, most of which are doomed to failure. And whatever the complaints and evasions, there would be emphasized, if only indirectly, the individual responsibility for national defense in a world which has not yet outlawed war and where international bandits still thrive.

The present system may manage to fill the ranks with capable young men. But it is undemocratic, slipshod and encourages evasions and lack of respect for the Government of the United States.

Beila's Comet Visible in 1865

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Oct. 21, 1865.

Beila's Comet, now approaching its perihelion (point at which it is nearest the sun), will soon be visible. It is now distant about one hundred and ten million miles.

In point of speed, it considerably beats the crack "Joky" on the railroad

On the 1st of November next, it will be close to the bright Alpha Pegasi Markab, one of the four bright stars forming the well-known square of Pegasus It then pursues a southerly course, crossing the celestial equator about the middle of December It then crosses its old path of 1846, near where it separated into two comets

At the end of February its distance from the earth will be less than twenty million miles This comet's period is about six and a quarter years.

25 YEARS AGO
Thursday, Oct. 17, 1940.

Eugene Williamson was elected president of the newly organized Appleton Hi-Y Club The group was composed of Appleton High School seniors Other officers were Lee Whitledge, vice president, Dick Wiese, secretary-treasurer, and Jerry Welch, sergeant-at-arms.

Newly elected officers of the Weyauwega High School Band were Howard Holcomb, president; Ruth Whitney, vice president; Joan McCarthy, secretary, and Mavis Bartel, treasurer.

Only boys were elected presidents of the various classes that year at Menasha High School They were freshman Ed Calder, sophomore Loran Hurley; junior Allan Stiermann and senior Robert Nantke.

10 YEARS AGO
Thursday, Oct. 20, 1955.

Evelyn Perrine bowled a big 622, thought to be the highest woman's score ever made in Appleton But for a foul on her last ball, Mrs Perrine would have reached 700, the equal of a man's national honor count.

Kaukauna High School's first cross country track team was composed of Jack Ludke, Ed Jackl, Joe Giancola, Dan Brenzel, Tom Belling, Bob Benz and Tom Whitman. Coaches were Guy Krumm and Fred Barribeau.

Officers of the Neenah High School Safety Club that year were Robert Breaker, president; Brecklin Hilliker, vice president; Catherine Farley, secretary-treasurer.

City Should Act to Aid People in Koehnke Woods

Editor, Post-Crescent:

It is good to see the city taking an interest in eliminating the poverty existing in Koenke's woods.

Those who live there are deserving of our interest and our desire to improve their lot.

These people deserve the protection of the city, and the help that comes from the benefits of being part of the city of Appleton.

Those who live in Koenke's woods are sometimes deprived of heat, electricity, plumbing and the benefits of a good environment. It is good to see the city taking an interest in this need.

Pope's Words on Birth Control Contrast Sharply With Johnson's

BY MAX FREEDMAN

UNITED NATIONS—When the Pope delivered his excellent address to the United Nations, he disappointed some people by appearing to discourage efforts at birth control. We shall have to await the final decisions of the Vatican council to see if this impression is correct. It is clear even now, however, that the Pope was expressing a religious conviction held not only by Catholics but by many members of other churches.

Freedman

The disappointment at the Pope's remarks was caused, in part at least, by the most unsatisfactory way in which President Johnson had formulated this problem in his State of the Union message. Supporters of birth control and planned parenthood were so grateful for any Presidential support that they tended to ignore the shortcomings in the President's statement.

The President saw the problem entirely in economic terms. He spoke of the growing pressure of population on limited resources. He said nothing about the responsibility of parents to give their children a fair chance in life. As the discussion moves from the quantity of life to the quality of life, advocates of birth control will find that they have the understanding and the support of members of all faiths In the United States very little progress can be made unless the religious judgment of the nation endorses the reform

President Johnson made the additional mistake of assuming the very thing which has to be proved He assumed that no new methods of production would ever be developed to take care of a much larger population. The Communists are less pessimistic. They have always maintained that the best way to control the population problem is not to limit population but to increase production. President Johnson and other Western leaders, on reflection, will not prove less eager to put an immense emphasis on better production. The most useful policy would combine a search for better methods of production with reasonable measures of birth control.

President Truman used to scoff at the notion that any American government should concern itself with birth control. In much the same spirit President Eisenhower described birth control as a matter for the private conscience of the citizen rather than for the government. Both know better now. They have both supported the work and championed the objectives of the Planned Parenthood Foundation. The stand taken by President Johnson, while open to criticism on certain fundamental points, has nevertheless given great encouragement to the whole movement. In the Senate the pioneer and constructive hearings under the chairmanship of Senator Ernest Gruening have worn away many prejudices and set forward the cause of scientific knowledge. The situation in short has never been so favorable for a frank discussion of a problem which until recently has been completely outside the range of practical politics.

Here at the United Nations the movement of opinion in the United States is regarded as a brave omen. The Pope's caution is given a constructive rather than a negative interpretation: it is considered as an urgent incentive tp push an urgent incentive to push world food production.

STATISTICS ARE STARTLING

The United Nations has estimated that world population, now about three point three billion, will probably reach at least six billion in the next 35 years. Almost 80 per cent of this total will be in the new developing nations—a startling figure when it is realized that 10 to 15 per cent of the world's present population is seriously undernourished and up to half suffer from hunger or malnutrition or both.

The 1965 report of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations declares "that the total food supplies of the developing countries will have to be increased fourfold in the next 35 years to give their vastly increased population an adequate, though in no sense a lavish diet."

Those stark statistics indicate the dimensions of the problem and the urgency of the task. They indicate what must be done if we are, in the Pope's phrase, to admit yet unborn children to the banquet of life or are to be compelled to exclude them on a massive scale. Raising food production four times will be the hardest task in the history of agriculture but the Food and Agriculture Organization believes it can be done if all of us recognize its importance.

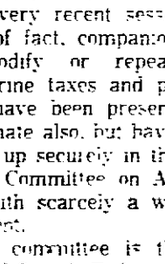
Moves to Repeal Oleo Ban Demonstration Of Lawmaking Futility

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—There is a sad little joke among reporters who inhabit the state capitol press gallaries and otherwise are assigned to write about political affairs about the repetitive character of much of the material that is required grist for their dispatches. Some of the headlines and news story leads they have said, should be kept in permanent type, for the convenience of desk men and for economies in production.



Wyngaard

Thus for perhaps the umpteenth time this session the State Assembly the other day voted in one of the innumerable motions in the record this year on the question of ameliorating or getting rid of the state antimargarine laws which have become increasingly notorious in a national perspective The result was as expected. The Assembly defeated the motion by a narrow margin. It has happened countless times in recent legislatures Everybody knows the margarine embargo is not about to be abolished, or even softened. But repeatedly during a legislative sessions the capitol dispatches tell the story.

FUTILITY

In the current capitol situation these accounts are especially irrelevant since everybody who has spent more than a week on duty at the statehouse knows that the State Senate has no intention whatever of changing the margarine laws, whatever the lower house may one day decide to submit to it

In every recent session, in point of fact, companion bills to modify or repeal the margarine taxes and prohibitions have been presented in the Senate also, but have been locked up securely in the files of the Committee on Agriculture with scarcely a word of comment.

That committee is the domain of Sen J. E. Leverich of Sparta. He not only refuses to be resentful about the accusations that he is single-handedly preventing the entire house from voting on the question, but he glories in the reputation A little later in this session, if the usual charade is resumed, Leverich will present the bill to be released from his committee for a floor debate, but at a time carefully calculated to permit him to stage a filibuster before the recess that will have the result of killing it For a man who represents a rural district composed in large part of farmers who retain their worry about the effect on the butter market of the unrestricted sale of a low cost competitive product and who must plan a re-election campaign next year, what could be more welcome and helpful?

REALIGNMENT

The margarine question and its management in the legislature is one of the equivocal consequences of the partisan realignment in Wisconsin lately When the Republicans held undisputed control of the legislative process and drew their major strength from the rural precincts and the small towns, there was no serious discussion of getting rid of the prohibition and tax laws. The climate has changed with the increasingly successful challenge of the urban-oriented Democratic Party.

Democrats have exploited the consumer interest as a platform issue. But they cannot yet impose party discipline on some consumer interest matters, including the margarine issue. Some Democrats are obliged to go along with their rural Republican colleagues in defense of a law that scarcely any of them would willingly choose to defend in a public debate before a representative audience. (It is fair to note that some of the vociferous anti-margarine Republicans also represent safely non-farm constituencies.)

The political division in Wisconsin is so close and the politicians are so nervously aware of it that it has become increasingly difficult to anticipate legislative responses The other day organized labor lobbyists won a conspicuous victory in the State Senate, somewhat to their own surprise, for identical reasons. Some Republicans there contemplating the 1966 elections figured it was the better part of valor to be careful about the labor-compiled roll calls, whatever the merit of the issue.

Why Do We Condemn Social Eccentricity?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: When we send home boys from school because they wear their hair long, or bar college students from wearing beards, what are we afraid of? Why does a country which incessantly preaches "individualism" in its economic life refuse to tolerate the mildest eccentricity in its social life?

Harris

World affairs are harder to run today, and seem more confused and chaotic, because until recent times leaders didn't have to consider public opinion. 98 per cent of the world's population didn't know what was going on, and didn't care. It is the new element of world opinion that has drastically altered the manipulation of public affairs

Most of the best academic minds are working on the problems of improving education at the primary and secondary level; with the resulting paradox that the quality of education at the university level is standing still or actually regressing

Speaking of education, what a child "learns" at home is infinitely more important and lasting than what he learns at school—yet we expect the schools to rectify much of the damage done by home mistraining.

Next time you use the phrase, "forlorn hope," look it up and discover that its origin has nothing to do with either "forlorn" or "hope."

If women inspected men with the same critical, comparing gaze that men give to women, we would be self-conscious wrecks, no man could stand the tension women feel daily, of being continually "on parade" and judged on a sliding scale of external attractiveness

It will be the "life sciences," not physics, that assume the most importance in the future conduct of nations; as Prof. Fred Hoyle has predicted. "Before long it will be the medical establishments which will be surrounded by barbed wire, and it will be the biologists, who will be subject to the most intense security checks."

Practically no reputable historian believes in what the layman thinks of as "progress" indeed, the whole idea of progress is only a few hundred years old and was totally unknown to civilization before the 17th Century.

It is easy to understand the perturbation of conservatives in the Curia about the contraception issue—but they understand the psychological world that once such a question is open for discussion, the sanction against it loses force, no matter what the final decision is; as soon as the public is aware of a profound difference of ecclesiastical opinion, the prohibition has lost most of its effect.

Conflict in Kashmir Proves U.N. Is Able to Stop Wars

U. S., Reds Combined Opposition When Benefit Would be China's

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations has demonstrated it can halt wars—especially when the United States and the Soviet Union agree.

This was shown again when India and Pakistan fought over Kashmir. Both big powers were determined to stop a conflict which, in their view, could benefit only Red China. The Security Council acted unanimously, forcing India and Pakistan to agree to a truce under the threat of economic boycotts.

The cease-fire has been broken fitfully, but major fighting has stopped.

Keeping the peace along a 1,000-mile cease-fire line poses a formidable problem for some 200 U.N. military observers.

Tougher Problems

But the United Nations has dealt with tougher problems in 20 years of police and watchdog actions. Not counting the Korean War, these have involved 35,000 men from more than 50 nations at a cost of nearly half a billion dollars.

U.N. peacekeeping has fallen into two main categories: preventive diplomacy to keep disputes from exploding into shooting wars, and international police action to keep local wars from expanding.

The police actions began in June 1950 when the Security Council authorized the defense of South Korea against attack by the Communist North. The measure escaped veto because the Soviet Union was boycotting the council at the time.

South Korea

Sixteen countries under the blue and white U.N. banner went to the aid of the South Korean army, but the United States with 350,000 troops in the field made up 90 per cent of the U.N. force. Washington also put up $18 billion to cover most of the bill. The other U.N. participants paid only the salaries and rations of their own troops.

The Russians, on their return, accused the Security Council of acting illegally and challenged the body's right to help South Korea.

One result was the uniting for peace resolution adopted by the General Assembly in November 1950. This provided for calling an emergency session of the assembly on 24-hour notice if the council was hamstrung by a veto.

The uniting for peace idea was invoked in November 1956 when Israel, Britain and France invaded the Suez Canal zone after Egypt took over the waterway. Britain and France vetoed council action. Yugoslavia invoked action in the assembly, which asked the late Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to raise the first peacekeeping force from 10 nations to stand vigil along the frontier between Egypt and Israel. The cost of maintaining this force — 6,000 men at its peak — ran to about $17.5 million a year.

Emergency Force

Blue-helmeted troops of the U.N. emergency force still patrol the desolate border.

The force served as a model for the police force dispatched to the chaotic Congo in 1960 at the request of the late Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba, who later denounced the operation.

The council set up the U.N. operation for the Congo which grew to a force of 20,000 men representing 19 nations. This force went on a combat footing in January 1963 when it launched an offensive against troops of Moise Tshombe's breakaway Katanga Province, but otherwise it served as a peace-keeping force.

The operation which finally ended in the spring of 1964, cost more than $10 million a month and plunged the United Nations $100 million into debt. The Soviet Union soured on the project, after originally approving it.

Refused to Pay

The Soviet bloc, France and several other nations refused to pay their share of either the Middle East or Congo operations.

That made the United Nations coy about financing another peacekeeping operation when civil war erupted on Cyprus in 1964.

The council gave Secretary General U Thant the job of mustering a force to keep apart the warring Turkish and Greek Cypriot factions. When Thant sought authority to draw on general U.N. revenues it contravention failed to meet general operating expenses, both France and the Soviet Union insisted that it be financed entirely by voluntary contributions. No one seemed inclined to debate the point.

The 7,000-man six-nation Cyprus force became the first commission. For the past 17 years, U.N. observers have patrolled a truce line. Until the latest conflict broke out, the operation had cost upward of $11 million.

In 1947-49, Count Folke Bernadotte and, after his assassination, U.N. Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche served as mediators to end the war between Israel and the Arab states. An observer staff has kept watch in the troubled area ever since, at a cost of about $26 million.

The United Nations has encountered different problems in each of its police actions.

In Korea, a nation was defended against outside aggression. In the Congo, a police force was needed to preserve the unity of a country. In the Middle East, soldiers and observers were needed to patrol cease-fire lines. In Cyprus, a force was required to prevent a civil war between two hostile communities.

St. Norbert Enrollment Of 1,484 Students for First Term Sets Record

A record enrollment of 1,484 students at St. Norbert College for the first term of the 1965-66 school year has been reported by registrar William Harrison.

The figure surpasses the previous high enrollment at St. Norbert of 1,362, set a year ago.

An increase of women students was reported by Harrison. A total of 555 women is enrolled compared with last year's total of 491. The women now constitute 37 per cent of the student body. The enrollment total includes 438 beginning freshmen.

Approximately half of this year's enrollment comes from Northeastern Wisconsin, with some 400 from the remainder of the state. Of the 19 other states represented in the enrollment figure, Illinois accounts for 261 students, with Michigan next in line at 40 students.

Other states represented are Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Indiana, Maryland, Maine, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, S. Carolina and S. Dakota.

Foreign students attending St. Norbert this year come from France, Venezuela, Japan and Nigeria.

Freshmen Think Stalin Was German Politician

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Results of the history test given to first-term students at Simon Fraser University "could be most politely described as depressing," said Professor Warren Williams. One freshman wrote that Stalin was a German politican who was hanged. Another said Ghandi was a former British Prime Minister. Hitler was the best known name, with 90.7 per cent identifying the Nazi dictator.

Jealousy Incendiary

BRIVE, France (AP) — When asked why she had burned down her mother-in-law's barn, Odette Feix replied: "For revenge, my husband loves his mother more than he does me."

The "Directory of American Scholars," published in 1963, mentions 21 Lawrence professors in various fields of humanistic studies. Editors selected those "who teach at the college level, who are recognized editors and authors and whose reputation in their fields is more than local" for inclusion in the work.

The 10th edition of "American Men of Science," a directory covering the scientific disciplines, lists 19 Lawrence faculty members.

Ancient Abacus Checks Calculating Machine

By JOHN F. DAFFRON

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — David Wang, a systems analyst, travels in the sophisticated business world of computers. But he still makes use of his suan pan — the Chinese abacus. He took it up in the third grade in Shanghai.

"For a quick check on figures — addition, subtraction or multiplication — the abacus is better than a computer because it's so much simpler," he said. "And it's just about as fast as an electric calculating machine."

In the hands of an expert, perhaps. A novice, who shall be nameless, took a whack at it. Modest confusion was the result.

Flecting his fingers over the rows of wooden beads on their wire strands, Wang completed a five-number multiplication in a few seconds.

Standard Check

An onlooker started checking the results by standard arithmetic. Wang ran through a few more problems on the ancient calculating device — the primitive cousin of the modern electronic digital computer.

In his job with Robertshaw Controls Co., Wang packs a 10-by 5-inch abacus in his brief case on his trips to the firm's plants in other cities.

"I use it to check my own cost figures and estimates," he said, and showing a letterhead, he added "How about this one?"

It was an itemized cost sheet submitted to Robertshaw by a leading manufacturer in the business machine field.

"See where the total is $25 off?" Wang said. "I caught it on the abacus."

Tea Merchant

Twenty years ago, a career in industrial automation was as far from Wang's mind as his present home in Woodside, N.Y., is from his native Shanghai.

He wanted to be a tea merchant. And his schooling at Shanghai's St. John's University, 1944-46, and the University of California at Berkeley, 1946-48 was aimed toward management of the family's Wang Yue Tai Tea Co.

The firm, founded by his great-grandfather in 1837, was perhaps the oldest tea export firm in Shanghai, Wang said. But before his planned return home, the Communists took over the Chinese mainland. His family made it to Formosa.

So Chia Shih Wang — he adopted the name David in school — armed with his abacus and a bachelor of science degree in business administration, took a turn at the tea trade in San Francisco, briefly, before moving to New York.

The rest of the family followed from Formosa. His father still does a bit of tea importing, Wang said, but the idea of perpetuating the Yue Tai Tea Co. is dead.

David moved into the computer field with Sperry-Rand's Univac. He worked for other firms as a systems consulant before joining Robertshaw more than a year ago.

Retina Repaired in Eye Of Duke of Windsor

NEW YORK (AP) — A small break in the retina of the Duke of Windsor's right eye has been repaired in a hospital, and the team of eye specialists who did the work say the difficulty should not recur.

The 30-minute repair was done Wednesday at the Eye Institute of Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center.

The 71-year-old former king of England should be able to leave the medical center by the end of this week, the hospital said. He was admitted Wednesday.

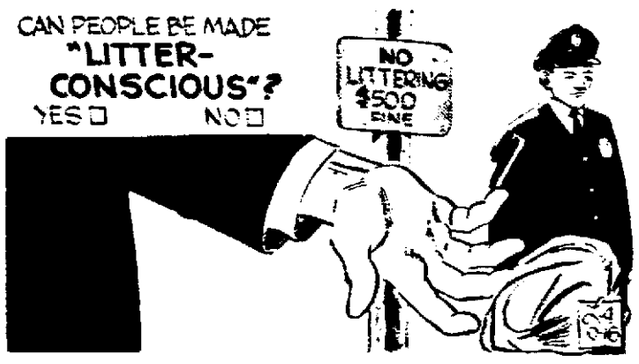
Berlin, Stanley Get Planning Aid Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Urban Renewal Administration approved a $15,680 grant to aid Berlin and Stanley, Wis., pre-growth and development plans, it was announced Wednesaay.

Berlin is in Green Lake and Waushara counties and Stanley in Chippewa County.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.



Yes. One Chicago school, for example, turned loose its entire student body to pick up the litter of the neighborhood and bring it in for garbage collection. A prize was given to the team bringing in the most. This helped change the attitude of the entire community. The children become "litter-conscious" and reminded each other not to throw refuse in the street. Civic-minded families teach their youngsters to discard litter in wastebaskets only. You may know of other projects. Write in and tell us about them.

Psychiatrists bring all your deeper feelings out into the open.

true—— False——

False. In dealing with persons, some psychiatrists are careful not to dig up anything that the patient is unwilling to communicate. In the process, the doctor may play more of a nurturing, loving and supportive role. Sometimes he has to be a friend, until the patient can re-establish meaningful friendships of his own. The older patient can sometimes understand the reasons for his conduct and feelings better than younger ones can. This whole matter is explored in greater detail in the booklet, "When Mental Illness Strikes." Neenah Youth Fined, Can't Drive for 90 Days for Speeding

WAUPACA — A 19-year-old Neenah youth, Charles I. Yeager, 635 Maple St., was fined $125 and his driver's license was suspended for 90 days when he appeared Wednesday in Municipal Justice Court and pleaded guilty to driving 90 miles per hour in a 55 m.p.h. zone.

Revocation for 15 days is mandatory on speeding violations more than 20 m.p.h. above the limit. Yeager, however was convicted for the third time this year, so Justice George Whalen added 75 days to the mandatory revocation.

Yeager was arrested Oct. 4 by a county traffic patrolman on U.S. 10 between Waupaca and Weyauwega.

How to Succeed in College—Part XIII

Practice Thinking Before College

BY LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.
University of Southern California

How does it happen that some students who make nearly all A's in high school find the going rough in college?

It is not entirely that the competition is so much keener in college, although this does account for some of the drop in grades. When the A and B students from many high schools compete against each other, a student who was close to the top in high school may find himself close to the average for the first time in his life.

You can improve your chances of survival by practicing, while in high school, study techniques that bring success in college, and at the same time improve your grades in high school.

No skill is acquired suddenly and without practice! This is especially true of the skills in thinking. If you wait until you are in college it may be too late.

Planning

Cultivate the habit of planning. If your mind is filled with plans of how you are going to study you are more apt to study than to drift off into daydreaming or watching TV.

Set up a definite plan for the study of each course. Vary your procedures to fit. If your plans for the study of a course do not bring the desired results, talk the matter over with your counselor, the teacher or a more successful student and readjust your procedures accordingly.

Keep an accurate list of all assignments and the dates they are due. Budget your efforts so that they will be completed on time or, better still, ahead of time.

Learning in Class

In college you will be completely on your own. No parent is to remind you to study; no teacher to prod you.

The lecture system used in college classes will present problems. So much material will be presented in a single lecture session that you will need to make special preparation if you are to absorb it all.

Taking notes to be studied later is only a small element in coping with the lecture system. College instructors present well-organized discussions, but education is not a pouring in process. What you do determines how much you learn. Fortunately, even though the instructor takes the lead and presents the ideas, nine tenths of your mind is free to learn as you listen.

Try this in each of your high school classes:

Read ahead to gain the general pattern of each chapter before it is presented in class.

Cultivate the habit of understanding the first time an idea is presented in class, since in college the ideas usually are presented just once. It may take months to bring your background in a course up to this level.

Think over the ideas presented in terms of the general pattern of the course.

It is just as true in high school as in college that 20 minutes of study before class will save you at least an hour of study later.

Do More Work

Complete understanding of each idea as it is presented is necessary to success, particularly in science and mathematics courses. Once the habit is formed and a solid background is built you can undertake all such courses with confidence. Fortunate is the student who discovers a weakness in this area in time to develop new procedures while still in high school.

Jim received a D grade in chemistry at the end of the first semester of his junior year in high school.

This grade saved Jim! It shocked him into a realization that a change was demanded.

In college you will need to do more than merely turn in the assignments. You will need to do whatever amount of study necessary for success. Right now you should:

1. Carry on independent study, aiming for mastery of each of your courses. Give time and attention regularly to each course even though no assignments have been made. Do not neglect a course merely because you do not "enjoy" it. The more you learn about it the more interesting it will become to you.

2. Make your acquaintance with school and community libraries thorough. Become familiar with the use of indexes in locating information. College instructors assume that you know how to use library facilities.

3. Form the habit of reviewing each course from the beginning once a week. In college, materials are presented rapidly and only through keeping them well organized in your mind are you prepared to absorb each new lecture.

Thursday: Getting off to a good start.

$12.4 Million Okayed for Rent Subsidy Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee has approved $12.4 million for the administration's proposed rent subsidy program. Its future is far from secure, however.

The House already has rejected the fund request, and a Senate floor fight appeared in the offing later this week.

Under the rent supplement program, the government would pay non-profit owners or developers the difference between 25 per cent of the occupant's income and the rent for the unit.

In approving $4.7 billion in additional funds for the current fiscal year, the committee also okayed $1.5 billion for the anti-poverty program.

Speeder Sentenced To Writing Essay

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Jerald Hall, a Fresno State College student charged with speeding, told Judge George Hopper he doubted the accuracy of police radar equipment used to clock his car's speed.

He said the equipment could not record accurately the speeds of two cars traveling a short distance apart.

Judge Hopper accompanied Hall and policemen to a city street Tuesday and checked Hall's theory. It was wrong. Hall was found guilty.

For a penalty, the judge suspended his sentence, but told Hall to write a 1,000-word essay entitled: "Radar—Its History and Application in Traffic Control and Methods of Improving Its Use."

Your Money's Worth

Most Students Don't Know Career Goal

BY SYLVIA PORTER

One half of all our young men who make plans to become physicians when they are high school juniors abandon the idea by the time they finish their freshman year at college.

Only one in eight would-be mathematicians at the 11th grade sticks with the plan for more than the next two years and only one in 16 medical technicians-to-be holds to that career objective.

Porter

A full three out of four boys graduating from high school in this era change their original career goals within one year after graduation.

These are a few of the sobering findings just published by the University of Pittsburgh, as part of an exhaustive study for the U.S. Office of Education involving 440,000 U.S. high school students. The ultimate objective of "Project Talent," which was launched in 1957, is the "identification, development and utilization of the talents of American youth." But much of the preliminary data now pouring out of the university's computers is of major significance to U.S. schools, the U.S. job market, and millions of today's high school students.

Money Wasted

To the schools, the findings underline the fact that enormous sums of money are being wasted on early career-oriented educations and training.

To the U.S. job market, the disclosures flash the threat of future dangerous manpower shortages in precisely the fields hungriest for talent: many of the nation's most fertile careers for future jobhunters have the least holding power on today's young men considering these careers.

To millions of today's high school students, the study signals the probability that they will dissipate tremendous amounts of energy and time taking courses for which, in the words of the report, "they are unsuited" and which will leave them with only a deep sense of frustration and failure.

Changes Plans

Specifically, among the 15,514 11th graders who were asked to report their career plans in 1960, the largest single group—3,332 students—chose engineering. Two years later, when the same group was queried again on career plans, 2,264 had decided on another pursuit. Only 66 had switched to engineering from the other fields—adding up to a "net loss" of 48 per cent for the field of engineering. Similarly, huge losses were reported for such talent-hungry occupations as scientist, mathematician, pharmacist, dentist, airline pilot, armed forces officer, policeman.

The key implications of the Project Talent findings cannot be ducked. The career choices high school students are making today are, in a vast majority of cases, virtually meaningless and so is most of their early specialized education or training. A career choice at this level and under present circumstances is little more than a guessing game. And, mind you, the Project Talent findings follow students only up to one year after high school graduation: surely there is further career-junking and juggling after this time span.

"These students," the report concludes, "have been faced with choices they were not adequately prepared to make."

Need For Counseling

"Clearly, there is urgent need for substantial improvement in early guidance and counseling," adds Francis Ianni, director of research of the U.S. Office of Education. "We must find ways to pinpoint attitudes and aptitudes of our young people early in their lives."

If we are to meet the challenges thrown at us by the Project Talent disclosures, we must tackle this question: "Should our high schools postpone pressure on students to choose careers—or should they make far greater efforts to prepare students to make early career decisions?"

The University of Pittsburgh is now digging into this problem in order to develop a "comprehensive counseling guide" for high school students throughout the nation. It could help fill what is now a yawning education gap.

End of Draft for Navy Foreseen

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The chief of naval operations says the end of extended involuntary Navy enlistments should come "at the end of the current fiscal year."

"Earlier this year we couldn't get enough men to go into the Navy," Adm. David L. McDonald said Tuesday. "Either because of the new pay bill or the hot breath of the draft, the voluntary enlistment rate last month was the best in any one month in the last 10 years.

"We think we're coming out of the woods."

McDonald a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, was in Richmond to address a special Navy Day luncheon.

Parents Urged to Join Head Start Program

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP) — Low-income parents should become a part of the Head Start program in eastern Kentucky, says the federal regional director for the program

Roland Lafayette told 41 eastern Kentucky project leaders they should hire poor parents as teachers' aides if they have children participating in the program. "If the mother is in the same class room receiving the same lessons as her child, then the chances of the child retaining this training increases immensely," he said.

Fox Lutheran, Xavier Football Teams Play Homecoming Tilts

Watertown Unit Invades Foxes' Field

BY TIM PETERMANN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fox Valley Lutheran High School will engage in its 10th annual homecoming battle Saturday, as it takes on the Preps of Watertown Northwestern on the FVL football field beginning at 1:30 p m.

The Foxes will be looking for their sixth win against four losses in homecoming action, and their seventh win in eight starts on the season. FVL has won three of its last four homecomings, including a 35-0 trouncing of Manitowoc Lutheran last year.

Although the Hornets are bringing a small team with an unimpressive 1-3 record, Coach Dave Umnus and his Foxes are not taking the Preps lightly.

The gridiron rivalry between the Preps and the Foxes has been going on for six years with each team gaining three wins. Added to this rivalry is the fact that Umnus is an alumnus of Northwestern, which makes every victory mean that much more to him. Umnus' father is the Athletic Director for both the college and the high school at Northwestern.

Under the reigns of Umnus since 1960, the Foxes hold the lead in the series, 3-2, although the Preps have a good lead in the scoring, 57-26. In his first game at FVL, Umnus' charges edged the Preps, 14-12. The next two years the Preps came back to swamp the Foxes, 19-0 and 26-0 The last two years the Foxes have won by the identical scores of 6-0.

An irony in the series occurred in 1962 when the Foxes posted the best record in the history of the school (with 6-1), yet it was the Preps that handed the Foxes their only loss, 26-0. The point spread is the largest margin any team has beaten FVL under Umnus.

Fred Huebner Moved

Ten seniors will be making their final appearance before the home crowd for the Foxes. They include team captain Mark Dahlke, Tom Ehlke, Alan Moore, Keith Palmbach, Dennis Neumann, Fred Huebner, Mike Huebner, Elroy Conradt, and Mark Woods. Another senior, Sheldon Schneidewend, played his last home game several weeks ago but at the time didn't know it. Last week while working at the senior paper drive Schneidewend tore all the ligaments in his foot and it is unlikely that he will play in either of the two remaining games.

The 5-11, 210-pound senior will be replaced at his defensive middle guard position by Fred Huebner, who was shifted from his linebacking spot. Eugene Schabo or Elwyn Kluess will take Huebner's spot. Schneidewend's right guard slot has four possible replacements, which Umnus has been screening all week. It will be either junior Eugene Schabo or Dave Sternhagen or sophomore Gerhardt Schroeder or Doug Potter.

Also on the injured list is Tom

Xavier High School, steamrolling toward its fifth consecutive Fox Valley Catholic Conference title, meets Little Chute St. John Friday night at Goodland Field, and the Hawks will be out to nail down at least a share of the conference crown.

A win for Xavier at its homecoming game will assure at least a tie for the crown. The Hawks then will have one game remaining, with Menasha St. Mary next week.

The rest of the conference will be in action Saturday with DePere Abbot Pennings at St. Mary, Oshkosh Lourdes at Marinette Central and Springs of Fond du Lac will be at Green Bay Premontre.

The setting for the Xavier-St. John clash is somewhat similar in one respect to a year ago when the two teams met. Last season the Hawks needed a victory over the Chuters to tie for the crown while a victory for the Dutchmen would have meant the solo title for St. John.

Xavier withstood a pair of goal line thrusts by St. John in the final quarter to pull out a 13-6 victory and shared the crown with the Chuters. This season, the Dutchmen are out of the running, but the Hawks are in need of a triumph to clinch the title tie again. Lourdes could tie for the championship by winning its remaining two games and Xavier would have to drop one its last two contests.

Xavier, featuring the league's best offense and the stingiest defense, will go into Friday night's game a definite favorite. The Hawks have rolled up 138 points while allowing foes only 37.

By contrast, the Dutchmen have scored only 27 points while giving up 67. St. John has a 1-4 record in league play, and the Chuters are 2-4 overall.

The balanced attack of the Hawks has netted 729 yards rushing and 552 on passes. Quarterback Paul Rechner, who had done practically all of the Xavier passing, has 25 completions out of 45 attempts. Four of his passes have been intercepted.

St. John is seventh on offense

Dallas Cowboys Hoping to Repeat Pre-Season Feat

Landry Has Problem at QB; Hayes Has Been Outstanding

GREEN BAY (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys, the one blot on the Green Bay Packers perfect 1965 record, are heading for Milwaukee hoping to do what they did in a preseason game in Dallas—beat the Packers.

The all-winning Packers, 5-0 in regular season play, lost only once in the exhibition season and that was to the Cowboys.

"I think we kind of caught the Packers on an off day," said Cowboys Coach Tom Landry of the 21-12 victory last August.

The Packers didn't score a touchdown in that game.

"If our defense can play an aggressive game like it did last August and if our passing game can start clicking, then we stand a good chance against anybody, including the Packers," Landry said.

The Cowboys, 2-3 on the season, have lost three straight. Last Sunday Cleveland beat them 23-17.

Landry's major problem is at quarterback. The man he started the season with, Don Meredith, developed a sore arm, then lost his timing. Landry has been going with two rookies, Jerry Rhome and Craig Morton.

"You can't go against the defense in this league with rookies," said Landry.

But even rookies have been having success throwing to Bob Hayes, the former Olympic sprinter billed as the "World's Fastest Human."

"Bob's been our offense so far," said Landry. "He's sparked our drives with key catches and leads our scoring (with five touchdowns).

Hayes and Mel Renfro give the Cowboys a dangerous punt return combination that should test the Packer kicker Don Chandler's ability to aim the ball away from the receivers.

Passing Proves Packers' Best Weapon in '65

Bays Rank Eighth In Total Offense, Seventh Defensively

NEW YORK (AP)—Green Bay is a super team in the league standings with the only perfect 5-0 record, but the National Football League statistics tell a different story.

Vince Lombardi's Packers, always a fine running team with an attack that emphasizes the power sweep, are seventh in rushing with only 587 yards. Minnesota, the running leader, has 888 yards.

Bart Starr has been hitting with the bomb and has thrown eight touchdown passes, but the Packers' air attack is sixth with 963 yards. St. Louis leads in that

Willie Smith, UCLA Guard, Has Hepatitis

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA defensive guard Willie Smith, out with infectious hepatitis, may be lost for the season, a team official has announced.

Smith's condition was diagnosed Wednesday after tests at the UCLA Medical Center. The 6-foot-2, 224-pounder has missed the last two games.

Gabe Paul Gains Support

Baseball Delays Picking Czar

By JOE REICHLER

CHICAGO (AP) — There is growing sentiment among the major league club owners to set the wheels in motion for a draft of Gabe Paul, part owner of the Cleveland Indians, as the next commissioner of baseball.

The inability of the owners to muster appreciable support Wednesday for a single candidate outside the confines of baseball has changed the moguls thinking again.

Most of the owners once again favor a ruler from their own ranks.

Paul's most enthusiastic supporter is Bill DeWitt, owner of the Cincinnati Reds DeWitt originally proposed Paul but the president of the Indians subsequently asked that he not be considered.

"And I put it in writing, too," Paul emphasized.

Undaunted, DeWitt said he plans to try again.

"A man can always change his mind," said DeWitt, "especially if it is in the best interests of baseball."

Precedes DeWitt

Paul preceded DeWitt as president of the Reds before leaving Cincinnati to become general manager and eventually president of the Cleveland club.

What started out as a list of 18 candidates when the club owners gathered Tuesday was reduced substantially with five men emerging as the leading candidates before the new development.

These five were Eugene M. Zuckert, secretary of the Air Force; Curtis E. LeMay, former chief of staff and head of the Strategic Air Command; G.

Jackson, Smith Obtained

Cardinals' Ken Boyer Traded to Mets; More Deals May be Coming

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ken Boyer, one of the greatest third basemen in St. Louis Cardinal history, has become the first to feel the bite of the Cardinals' plummet from world champion to seventh place in the National League

Boyer, the Cardinal captain, was traded Wednesday to the New York Mets for left-hander pitcher Al Jackson and third baseman Charley Smith. An unnamed triple-A player also will be sent to the Mets.

"If they started making trades, it figures that the older players would be the first to go," said the 34-year-old, $60,000-a-year power hitter.

If this is true, Boyer may be followed by others Shortstop Dick Groat, who fell from a .292 batting average in 1964, to .254 last season, will be 35 next month. Left-hander Curt Simmons, who dropped to a 9-15 record after an 18-9 season, is 36. And right-hander Bob Purkey, who was ineffective at 10-9, is 36.

Big Disappointment

Boyer, however, was the biggest disappointment. Only one year ago, he was named the National League's Most Valuable Player. He was the hero who helped the Cardinals win the pennant with a .296 batting average, 24 home runs and a league-leading 119 runs batted in.

As a result, he shouldered much of the blame in the 1965 collapse, hitting only .260 with 13 homers and 74 RBI. He was hampered much of the season by a back injury.

Now, after 11 seasons with the Cardinals in which he hit 255 home runs, drove in 1,001 runs

Bill Casper Leads 'Sahara'

Five Under Par Round Gives Him Lead by 2 Strokes

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Bill Casper Jr., who trailed second by one stroke at the finish a year ago, set out Thursday leading by two strokes in the second round of the $100,000 Sahara Invitational golf tournament.

The 34-year-old Californian apparently had a firm grip at this stage in this eighth annual event on the PGA autumn tour.

But there was the foreboding figure of Jack Nicklaus, five strokes back with 54 holes to play

Change Picture

And the weather and the condition of the greens, which tend to speed up in the late afternoon hot weather, figured to change the picture for the immediate challengers for first place.

Virtually all the low scorers in Wednesday's first round started early and finished early, including Casper. Nicklaus was a late starter.

Casper opened up with a five-under par 66. Bobby Nichols and Dave Hill had 68s, and 10 others jammed the 69 bracket

Eight more were tied at 70, and Nicklaus and nine companions were clustered at 71.

Play is at the 7,069-yard Paradise Valley Country Club, where par is 36-35—71.

Gary Bauer, 24-year-old pro from Fresno, Calif., who is the smallest man on the tournament circuit at 5-foot-6, 118 pounds, got a hole-in-one with an eight-iron on the 167-yard 16th hole. He finished with a 74.

Deanna Bauman Hits Honor Series

Rocks 600 in Classic League; Luella Hallock Has 558 Series

Deanna Bauman rocked an even 600 series in the Women's Classic League at the 41 Bowl Wednesday night to record the third women's national honor count of the season on Appleton lanes.

After starting with a 177 game, Deanna fired a 209 in her second game and then used a string of six strikes in a row to climb to a 214 in the last line for the 600 set.

It was the first national honor count in her bowling career which began when she started bowling as a regular four years ago. It also was the second national set in less than a week in the city. Grace Hansel had a 606 in the Hann's Navy League last Thursday. The season's high count is a 609 by Pat Lutz in Hahn's Women's League on Sept. 23.

Four Leagues

Deanna is a regular bowler in four women's leagues, the Classic Ladies American, Lucky Strike and AAL Women's. In addition she substitutes in another circuit. Her highest league average at the present time is a 167 in the Ladies American.

Deanna's best previous effort this season was a 580 series and last season she posted a 597. She has a total of 13 strikes in the three games last night.

Shirley Buren Heuer came in for a share of honors in the Classic League as she slammed a 225 game and a 550 series.

Geri Woodland had a 214 game and had a 517 series to lead the Lucky Strike League at the 41 Bowl last night. In the Wednesday afternoon Coffee League, Luella Hallock hit a 191 game and 558 series.

The Sabre Jets League at Sabre Lanes saw Joan Kolosso set the pace with a 220 line and 525 series. The only other honor score was a 504 by Marie Suttner.

Ehlke who has had trouble with his back and has been kept out of contact all week, but it is expected that he will be ready for Saturday's game and will start in the backfield at fullback along with Mark Dahlke and Howie Korth at the halves and Dave Tiedt at quarterback.

The line will have Dan Haase at center, Fred Huebner at one guard spot, James Verbeten and Mike Huebner at the tackles and Dennis Neumann and Mark Woods at the ends.

Coach Ed Pieper, of Northwestern, has the same problems Coach Umnus has as far as injuries is concerned. He has lost both his starting fullback and a 220-pound tackle.

Pieper is in the rebuilding stages with his team, which posted a 1-6 record last year.

Pieper has nine lettermen on his 26-man squad, and his starting line-up includes only four seniors and the rest juniors.

Northwestern beat Wayland in its opening game, 7-0. Wayland bowed to FVL 14-13, and then lost consecutively to Milwaukee Lutheran, 27-0; Concordia, 19-6; Concordia is the Foxes' final foe, and to Wisconsin Lutheran 41-13.

3 Teams Register For Women's League

Three teams were represented at a Women's Basketball League organizational meeting in the Appleton Recreation Department office.

The entry deadline for the circuit is Nov. 5. Four teams must register before league play will begin. A second meeting is planned for 7 p.m. Nov. 1.

NOTES and NOTIONS

John L. Faustian

After finally making the charmed circle of 80 per centers, I have a deep desire to quit while I'm ahead. But duty calls—and here goes another stab at trying to outguess Old Man Upset. Last week's .819 rating (30 right, 7 wrong, 2 ties) lifts the season's record to 74.7 per cent (148 hits, 50 misses and 7 ties).

Packers over Cowboys—It's difficult, indeed, for the Packers to top their smashing second-half act of last Sunday. But with a trio of incentives—to remain unbeaten, to stay ahead of Baltimore and to avenge an exhibition-game loss—the Bays are almost sure to come up with something heroic and effective.

Ohio State over Wisconsin—The Buckeyes have the stronger team—on paper, at least—and theirs has been a long history of domination over the UW. The intangibles—how well OSU can rebound from their Michigan State shellacking and how high the Badgers can be keyed for homecoming—could be the ultimate determinants, however.

Lawrence over Ripon—The form chart says the more experienced Redmen should have a slight edge on their home field. But, the Vikes have as much momentum going as Ripon and are probably a little "hungrier" than the twice-in-a-row champion Redmen.

Appleton over Manitowoc—The Terrors are coming on strong now, and aided by the recollection of last year's rousing comeback against Manty, they should extend their win streak to four.

Fox Lutheran over Northwestern Preps — This game could produce another of those nail-biting finishes which have made this season unforgettable for Coach Dave Umnus. Spurred by the opportunity to set a school record for wins, the '65 Foxes should come through.

Xavier over St. John — The Hawks' jet-flight to their fifth straight title shows no signs of slowing down. The Chuters won't be outbattled by anyone, but their manpower isn't up to last year's co-championship standards.

Kaukauna over Kimberly — The Ghosts have regained their winning touch, but it will take every bit of their offensive muscle and potential to budge the Papermakers—owners of an amazing defensive record. The leather will really pop in this one.

Neenah over Two Rivers — The Rockets should have no trouble zooming past the outgunned Raiders.

Clintonville over Menasha — Their title aspirations still high, the Truckers should get past the Jays, who have had trouble getting back on the track after a fast get-away.

New London over Shawano — The Bulldogs have developed an authentic bite, as the Indians will learn.

St. Mary over Pennings — The teams are well matched, so this is a hunch that the home team will prevail.

Other NFL games — Browns over Giants, Bears over Lions, Colts over Rams, 49ers over Vikings, Steelers over Eagles, Cardinals over Redskins.

Other MC games — Coe over Cornell, St. Olaf over Carleton, Grinnell over Beloit, Monmouth over Knox.

Other FRVC games — Fond du Lac over Southwest, North over Preble, Oshkosh over South, West over East.

Central Wisconsin — Weyauwega over Iola-Scandinavia, Marion over Manawa, Waupaca over Wautoma, Wittenberg over Amherst.

Little Nine — Freedom over Hilbert, Hortonville over Shiocton, Denmark over Omro, Reedsville over Brillion, Winneconne over Wrightstown.

Other games — Chilton over Oostburg, Seymour over Bonduel, Premontre over Springs, Lourdes over Marinette.

Baseball Fails To Pick Czar

Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange; Joe Cronin, president of the American League, and Louis Carroll, legal counsel for the National League.

Not one of these, however, could gather enough support to warrant even an unofficial ballot. Fourteen votes — seven from each league — are required for election.

When that fact became obvious, the co-chairmen of the screening committee, John Fetzer of Detroit and John Galbreath of Pittsburgh requested what they call an "advisory ballot," confining the candidates to men in baseball.

Ballots were passed out and the owners were asked to name their choice. Paul, according to reports, came through strongly in the unofficial balloting as did Cronin and Carroll.

The voting breakdown was unavailable.

"Paul would be very much acceptable to the owners if he made himself available," said a prominent club owner who did not want to be identified. "I feel he can get the necessary amount of votes."

In any event, the election of a successor to Ford Frick will not take place until the annual major league winter meetings in Miami Beach, Dec. 2.

The owners entrusted the screening committee with the job of contacting and interviewing the candidates and reporting back with recommendations to the Dec. 2 meeting.

Five distinct administrative positions, proposed by Reynolds and Dodger owner Walter O'Malley, were ratified. They were:

1. An administrator, not unlike the present secretary-treasurer of baseball.
2. Director of player affairs.
3. Director for public information.
4. Director for broadcasting.
5. Director for amateur baseball, encompassing Little League, American Legion, high school and college baseball.

This group will serve as a sort of cabinet for the commissioner.

Part-Timer Stars Again

Tom Moore Ranks 13th In All-Time Bay Scoring

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

Quiet, retiring Thomas Marshall Moore, who has to be the most effective "pinchhitter" in National Football League history, has been chief understudy to Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor for six years, which may be an all-time record for waiting in the wings.

But the well-knit Vanderbilt University alumnus, whose stirring 32-yard collaboration with Bart Starr for a third quarter touchdown loomed large in the Packers' highly successful "Operation Snapback" at Detroit last Sunday, is well adjusted to his unenviable assignment.

"It's sort of tough—you never know from game to game if and when you're going to get the call," he admits, "but I guess I ought to be used to it by now."

Familiarity did not eliminate apprehension when he was summoned to supplant a shaken up Hornung in the third quarter at Detroit, however. Tom also conceded. "At that stage of the game, you wonder if you'll get into the swing of things, or if it's too late."

Takes Short Pass

The former was answered in the affirmative two plays after Moore's arrival upon the scene, when he gathered in Starr's short pass, then shrugged off two Lion defenders en route to the Detroit end zone. "I think one guy had hold of me good back there right after I caught the ball, but the one down near the goal line was a sort of a desperation tackle — he sort of knocked me into the end zone as much as anything else," Moore explained.

Asked if he had acquired any painful souvenirs of his latest relief stint, Tom laughed and replied, "No, I didn't get hurt at all — that's one of the advantages of not playing. I only carried about 8 times — we were throwing a lot and that makes it a little easier. You don't have to block as much."

How much of a problem, as a sometime performer, is it to stay physically and mentally sharp? "It's difficult to be in the right frame of mind," Moore freely admitted. "You more or less have to push yourself in practice to try to stay ready. You have to keep thinking there's a possibility you'll be playing on Sunday.

TOM MOORE—230 T

He'll be Ready

"If you ever gave up in practice, it might be the week you'd have to play, and then you wouldn't be ready to go," said Tom, who will be standing by as usual, when the Packers oppose the Dallas Cowboys in Milwaukee in County Stadium Sunday.

There can be little doubt the 27-year-old Goodlettsville, Tenn., native has the psychological answer to this one. Although he has been actively employed for less than half of the available playing time since being drafted No. 1 by the Pack in 1960, he ranks a slightly incredible 13th in the team's all-time scoring table with 162 points, just behind such greats as Tony Canadeo and Tobin Rote and ahead of such other luminaries as Joe Laws and Andy Uram.

Moore, who also has averaged better than 4.3 yards per carry in amassing 2,035 in 495 attempts, almost apologetically dismisses his lofty rank. "I was sort of surprised to find that out when I looked over the all-time point totals recently, but a lot of the guys weren't here too long," he modestly pointed out.

Does he ever, in the light of these substantial accomplishments, find his second string status discouraging? "You've got to take it," was the matter-of-fact reply, "so I take it."

The father of three children (Karen, 5, David, 3½, and Barby, 2½), Tom is adopting a "let's wait and see" attitude about a football future for either of his sons. "But one of 'em will be big enough, it looks like," he drawled.

Cards Trade Boyer to Mets

and averaged just under .300, Boyer is in a position of having to make a comeback.

"Seventeen years is a long time," he mused, referring to his association with the Cardinals. "I wouldn't be truthful if I didn't say I was sorry to be leaving.

"But my brother, Clete, has always enjoyed playing in New York (with the Yankees) and if there is anything on the other side of leaving, it will be playing again for Bing Devine (a Mets' official). Devine is a former general manager of the Cardinals.

Power Hitter

"We hate to see a player of Ken's caliber go," General Manager Bob Howsam of the Cardinals said. "But we couldn't pass up a chance to get a man like Smith, a power hitter and a good fielder, and a fine starting pitcher like Jackson."

Smith, 28, has bounced around with several teams for six years, only three as a regular. With the Mets he has hit .244 and .239 in two seasons, slammed 36 homers and driven in 120 runs.

Jackson, who will be 30 in December, has been with the Mets for four season, with records of 2-20, 13-17, 11-16 and 8-20. He features a sinking fast ball.

The Cardinals, and other clubs, have had their eyes on the 5-foot-9, 163-pound Jackson for some time. "Good left-handers are few and far between," said Cardinal Manager Red Schoendienst.

department with 1,282 yards. It is startling to note that the Packers, dedicated to the run, actually are gaining almost 2-1 by the pass.

In total offense, the Packers rank eighth with 1,550 yards, far behind St. Louis' leading total of 1,946 yards.

Although Green Bay has yielded only 71 points, lowest in the league, they are 10th in rushing defense, fourth in pass defense, and seventh in total defense. The leaders in those three departments are Baltimore with 401 rushing yardage against them and St. Louis with only 649 passing yardage and but 1,211 total yardage.

San Francisco has given its quarterback the best protection as the enemy has broken through to throw their passer only eight times for 64 yards. St. Louis' pass rush has been the best, getting the quarterback 23 times for 208 yards.

Odds Favoring Tiger Over Giardello Drop

NEW YORK (AP) — The odds favoring challenger Dick Tiger of Nigeria dropped to 7-5 over middleweight champion Joey Giardello today and may even swing the other way by the time they climb into the ring tonight for their 15-round title fight.

Tiger, 36, was installed 3-1 by the odds-makers on Broadway when the Madison Square Garden fight was made several months ago. Since then the price has been dropping down as more support came in for the 35-year-old champion from Cherry Hill, N.J.

The aggressive, hard-hitting Nigerian was a 3-1 betting favorite the night he lost the title to the ring-smart Giardello at Atlantic City, N.J., Dec. 7, 1963.

"For the life of me I can't figure why the odds favor Tiger," said Giardello Wednesday night. "I beat him the last two times I fought him."

Capacity Crowd

The return fight has caught fire here and may lure a capacity crowd of 16,000 and a gross gate of $150,000 at prices ranging from $5 to $20. Fight time is 10 p.m., EDT (9 p.m., EST).

The fight will be telecast into homes over a regional network, covering mostly Eastern cities. The metropolitan New York area will be blacked out of the telecast. There will be a local radio broadcast.

Giardello, a veteran of 18 years of pro fighting, has been guaranteed $50,000 or the privilege of 40 per cent of the net gate and television receipts. Tiger, a pro 14 years, will collect $15,000 or 20 per cent of the package.

Giardello's won-lost-draw record is 93-22-7, including 32 knockouts. He's been stopped three times on cuts but the last time was seven years ago. The champion can take a good punch.

Tiger's record is 51-14-3 including 24 kayos. He's never been stopped.

Warfield to Miss at Least 2 More Games

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns will be without the services of receiver Paul Warfield for at least two more games, his doctor said Wednesday.

Dr. Vic Ippolito said Warfield is "definitely out" of Sunday's game at New York and the one the following week against Minnesota's Vikings.

Another X-ray has been taken of Warfield's injured collarbone, and Dr. Ippolito said not enough calcium has formed at the two fractures to permit grid contact. Warfield was injured in the Browns' first exhibition Aug. 6 against the College All-Stars.

At least one more X-ray will be taken before Warfield is permitted to rejoin the team, and Dr. Ippolito said it wouldn't be taken for another 12 to 14 days.

"The fracture is coming along extremely well so far," said the doctor. "But not well enough to take a chance on a boy like Paul Warfield."

Bob Rodgers Becomes Father of Twin Girls

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Judy Rodgers, wife of California Angels catcher Bob Rodgers, gave birth Wednesday to twin girls at St. Jude's Hospital.

The babies weighed six pounds, one ounce and six pounds, four ounces. They have not yet been named.

and fifth defensively. One category in which the Chuters are leading the league is pass defense. St. John has allowed only 16 complete passes while foes have taken to the air 60 times.

Jim Jensen, of St. Mary, who scored three touchdowns last week, has vaulted into the scoring lead. Jensen has 42 points while his closest competitor is Howie Peterson, of Marinette, with 30 markers. Rechner and Mike Heidemann, of Xavier, each have scored 25 markers.

Jensen also ranks as the league's individual rushing leader with 474 yards in 82 carries for an average of 5.7 per try. Peterson, of Marinette is next in line with a 5.5 average. Colin Smith is Xavier's leading gainer rushing with 310 yards while Gary Romenesko of St. John has picked up 194 yards.

The Abbot Pennings-St. Mary game shapes up as a close duel Saturday. Both teams have 3-2 records and both have equal defensive averages. The Zephyrs rate a slight edge on the offensive side with 115 points scored in the five games.

High School Football Deaths Mount to 21

Illinois Boy, 17, Dies; Had Played Again After Suffering Mild Concussion Sept. 24

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

High school football fatalities have mushroomed to 21 with two more deaths Wednesday.

The latest casualties were Sam Wortham, a 17-year-old fullback on the Titusville, Fla. High School team, and Leslie Pitts, 17-year-old guard for Orangeville, Ill. High School.

Wortham died in Orange Memorial Hospital in Orlando, Fla. of a brain hemmorrhage five days after collapsing in a huddle during a game at Melbourne.

Coach John Gaines said films of the game showed no blows which could have caused Wortham's injury. The youngster was his team's leading scorer.

Pitts, a 160-pound senior, fell to the ground unconscious after blocking a defensive player in a game against Galena Friday night. The youngster never regained consciousness and died at St. Clare Hospital in Monroe, Wis.

Pitts suffered what was described as a mild concussion Sept. 24 in a game against the sophomore squad of Rockford East High School. He was released from a hospital after a four-day stay.

Issues Warning

A week before Pitts was injured, Dr. Frank P. Smith, clinical associate professor and chairman of the division of neurological surgery at the University of Rochester, told a conference of 200 high school coaches, trainers and administrators that a player who continues in a game after a bruising tackle or block is a candidate for a fatal injury.

"We know from experience that it is the groggy player who is most likely to be killed," Dr. Smith said.

He urged the coaches not to accept the players' word that he is "okay" after an injury.

"Question them," he said. "Ask them their addresses, telephone numbers and the like to see if they are fully rational."

Dr. Smith explained that head injuries normally affect the central nervous system and prevent the players from reacting properly to protect themselves from impacts that are fatal.

Key Game for Both UW, Buckeyes

Hayes Plots OSU Comeback

MADISON (AP) — Woody Hayes was talking in terms of an Ohio State comeback after the Buckeyes were bumped 32-7 by Michigan State last Saturday "and he hopes to make a good start of it at Wisconsin."

That was the word Wednesday from Ohio State publicist Wilbur Snypp. Buckeye man in advance for Saturday's Ohio State-Wisconsin battle in Madison.

"It's a key game for us," said Snypp. "In fact, it is probably a key game for both teams. We don't have the usual Ohio State powerhouse and we figure Wisconsin is a lot tougher than we expected earlier.

"Both teams have the same problems, lack of speed and lack of depth and both do some of their best things defensively. We look for a close hard game and the team that wins should have some success down the stretch."

Turns to Passing

Ohio State, 23-7-4 in the series with the Badgers, has turned to passing this season. "We have passed 88 times in the first four games and when did we ever throw 23 passes a game?," asked Snypp.

"It's not that we want to throw. We've been forced into it," he said, explaining that the patented Ohio State rushing attack has been faltering.

In splitting its first four games, Ohio State has gained 485 yards in the air and only 456 yards on the ground despite having two strong runners in Tom Barrington and Will Sander.

Meanwhile, the Badgers, who picked up in their running attack in whipping Northwestern Saturday, drilled its offensive unit indoors Wednesday because of a rainstorm.

"We couldn't risk picking up any more injuries on that wet grass and mud," said Coach Milt Bruhn. Only fullback Gale Bucciarelli is definitely out of Saturday's game. The only other injured regular is wing back Gary Bandor, considered a doubtful starter.

Eagles' Tim Brown Spends Mondays at Drama Lessons

NEW YORK (AP) — Timmy Brown is a professional football player who travels 90 miles to take voice lessons every Monday afternoon and drama lessons every Monday night.

The handsome halfback of the Philadelphia Eagles is grooming himself for a show business career after his football days. At 28, he has a long way to go.

Actually, Timmy has been mixing the two careers for 3½ years, making night club dates as a rock and roll singer. Last summer, he appeared with Eddie Bracken, doing "Thurber Carnival" in stock at the Bucks County Playhouse in Pennsylvania.

Carmine Gagliardi, a voice teacher, has been working with Brown for about a month. Gagliardi said he has worked with Tammy Grims and Warren Beatty and recently saw his student, Robert Dunlap, make his debut as a leading baritone at the Met.

"Tim Brown has a very soft, warm quality in his voice," said Gagliardi. "He has made albums as a rock and roll singer but wants to do ballads.

"He has a voice that reminds you of Perry Como. He is a very gentle man, completely different from the person you might think of as a pro football player."

On Monday evenings, Brown is enrolled in the class for beginning actors at the Herbert Berfhof School on Bank Street away downtown.

Eventually, Brown hopes to make a career of it. In the meantime, he is busy Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and especially on Sunday with the Eagles.

Gordie Howe Leads All-Stars Past Montreal

Bobby Hull, of Black Hawks, Also Stars in 5-2 Win

MONTREAL (AP) — Gordie Howe, who's played in more All-Star games than any other player in National Hockey League history, showed the Montreal Canadiens why in the 19th annual classic Wednesday night.

Howe, at 37, starting his 20th season with Detroit, scored two goals and assisted on two others sparking the All-Stars 5-2 comeback triumph over the Stanley Cup champion Canadiens in a packed Montreal Forum.

Montreal had taken a 2-0 lead in the second period on goals by Jean Beliveau and Jacques Laperriere, when Howe and Chicago's dynamic Bobby Hull sparked the All-Stars' rally.

Howe and Hull set up Detroit's Normie Ullman for the Stars' first goal midway through the second period. Then the Black Hawks' star tied the game at 16:35, just four seconds after Montreal's Dave Balon was penalized for holding. Howe and Boston's Murray Oliver assisted.

Howe broke the tie with 41 seconds remaining in the period, steering Ullman's pass behind Montreal goalie Charlie Hodge.

In the third period, Boston's Johnny Bucyk made it 4-2, with assists going to Oliver and Detroit's Bill Gadsby.

Howe's second goal of the game and his ninth in All-Star play came in the last two minutes while he was killing a penalty. He stole the puck at the Canadiens' blue line and went in alone, beating Hodge with a waist-high shot.

Four of the All-Star goals went past Hodge with Gump Worsley, who alternated in the Montreal nets, allowing the other. Glenn Hall went all the way for the All-Stars when Detroit's Roger Crozier turned up sick after the pre-game workout.

NHL teams mark time now until Saturday when the regular season starts with Detroit at Montreal and Chicago at Toronto.

Howard Wins Comeback Honors in AL

Minnesota's Grant A Close Second In AP Balloting

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Howard, the towering, former Dodger who became a big man in Washington, has been chosen the American League's Comeback Player-of-the-Year for 1965.

The 6-foot-7 outfielder drew 61 votes in the annual Associated Press poll of 281 sports writers and sportscasters. The results announced today showed that Minnesota pitcher Jim Grant was second with 58 votes followed by Norm Cash, Detroit first baseman with 24.

Howard boosted his batting average 63 points the past season, finishing with 289 compared to 226 with the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1964. The Senators obtained him last winter, sending pitcher Claude Osteen, infielder John Kennedy, first baseman Dick Nen and an estimated $100,000 to Los Angeles. Pitchers Phil Ortega and Pete Richert accompanied Howard to RBI the nation's capital.

In 1965 during which the Senators advanced one place over their ninth-place 1964 standing, Howard collected 149 hits, including 21 homers. He had 84 RBI

Grant, a seven-game winner only three years ago, won 21 games for the pennant-winning Twins the past season, the highest number in the league. He had the highest winning percentage, .750. The 30-year-old from La-Coochee, Fla., pitched 14 complete games, including six shutouts, walked 61 and struck out 140, and had a 3.30 earned run average.

'Counterblaste To Tobacco' Written in 1604

King's Proclamation, Health Warning Don't Deter Smoking

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tobacco smokers don't change much over the centuries. They'd rather smoke than quit.

Back in 1604, King James I of England wrote a famous "Counterblaste to Tobacco." He urged his people:

"O citizens, if you have any sense of shame, or dread of infamy, left in your bosoms, lay aside the use of tobacco, a custom attended with ignominy, received through error and established by stupidity.

"Tobacco is a substance loathsome to the sight, disagreeable to the smell, noxious to the brain, injurious to the lungs, and by its clouds of black smoak, nearly resembling the horrid steams of hell."

360 Years Later

Three hundred and sixty years later, in January 1964, the United States government, through its Public Health Service, declared as firmly as King James, if not as flamboyantly:

"Cigarette smoking is a health hazard of sufficient importance in the United States to warrant appropriate remedial action."

The more you smoke, said the service's scientists, the greater your chances of an early death.

They said cigarette smoking is the major cause of lung cancer, and male cigarette smokers have a higher death rate from heart disease than nonsmokers.

The findings were publicized far and wide.

And what happened?

Slight Drop

Cigarette smoking dropped off a little, for awhile. The drop in 1964 was 2.5 per cent.

But this year, the Agriculture Department has reported Americans are smoking nearly 5 per cent more cigarettes than last year. They are expected to average 216 packs per smoker in 1965.

The department figured the total domestic consumption this year at 536 billion cigarettes compared with 511 billion last year and the previous record of 524 billion in 1963.

In 1966, it said, chances are good for a new record.

A team of researchers writing in this month's Journal of the American Medical Association reported that no single method has proved outstandingly effective in breaking the smoking habit.

Frequent Repitition

"The cigarette habit is ingrained by frequent repetition over most of an individual's adult life and is as difficult to break as other habits," the Journal article said.

Smokers puzzle nonsmokers with their reasons for smoking. Dr. G. M. Hochbaum of the Public Health Service has summed up some of the reasons:

"Smokers have claimed variously that cigarettes help them to relax, to concentrate, to sleep, to stay awake, to get over difficult situations, to feel self-assured, or to accomplish a variety of other things."

A new law will require, starting next Jan. 1, that each cigarette package must carry this warning:

"Caution. Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

Whether this will slow or reverse the upward spiral in cigarette smoking must — on past evidence — be considered highly problematical.

Wisconsin's Health

Responsibility for School Safety Must Begin at Home

BY E. H. JORRIS M.D.
State Health Officer

Accidents take the lives of more school-age children than all diseases combined. And, of course, some of these happen at school.

Accident prevention is a community-wide enterprise of which the school is only a part. While a child is at school we expect the school authorities to establish and maintain a safe environment. In spite of the safety measures taken by the schools we must recognize that the vitality of youngsters often leads to an accident even in the most hazard-free schools.

Parents can do a great deal to forestall accident situations if they condition their children to meet hazards. Consider the act of getting to and from school. If your youngsters ride a bus do they know how to get on and get off the bus safely? Have they been properly trained so that they don't dart away from a standing bus? Have they been cautioned about horseplay and moving about while the bus is in motion? The bus driver will provide a measure of discipline, but his primary job is the safe driving of the bus.

If Walking

If your youngster walks to school, does he follow the proper route so that he crosses where there are guards? Does he know and observe traffic signals? Does he obey crossing guards and police?

Certain rules have been set out for each child to follow while at school. Sometimes, failure to obey the rules can result in an accident. Does the school have regulations for the children about running in hallways, dashing up or down stairs, pushing and shoving on the playgrounds, and so on?

Parents can help immensely when they learn the behavior rules set up by the school and then follow these at home so that safe actions become natural actions. Our schools and teachers work diligently to care for our children; still, the foundation of their habits is at home and it is at home that we must by example and by design teach them to live safely.

New Urgency Seen for Housing Law

MADISON (AP) — There was new urgency in the old arguments for adoption of an open housing law in Wisconsin.

"If the door of opportunity is not opened through logical legislative means," a Madison woman told a Senate hearing Wednesday, "it will be battered down."

A Milwaukee woman, referring to the public school boycott in her community, predicted that housing legislation "will stop some of our other problems."

And an Assembly sponsor, David Obey, D-Wausau, told the Senate Welfare Committee, "I'm not worried about what happens if this bill passes, but about what will happen if it doesn't."

The speakers asked Senate approval of an Assembly-passed bill that would ban discrimination in the sale, rental or financing of private property. Gov. Warren P. Knowles already has said he would sign the measure.

The legislation would exempt owner-occupied rooming houses and apartments of four units or less.

Country Fair-Goers Harvest Bounty of Gifts

The fruits of the harvest season, and a similar season of endeavor by members, was displayed by St. Elizabeth Hospital Auxiliary Tuesday at its Harvest Country Fair at the Country Aire Club. The large upstairs room was devoted to a variety of sale booths. During noon and evening hours, the downstairs room was devoted to the serving of a country style buffet chicken dinner.

Those attending the event had a wide choice of 'keep' and 'give away' items from which to choose. Included were home canned fruits, pickles and relishes, jams and jellies, toys, autumn arrangements, plants, hats and purses, toys, aprons, knitted items, candles and sweets.

Mrs. Joseph Suess and Mrs. Carl Rechner served as co-chairmen of this bazaar, which the auxiliary hopes to make an annual event.

Growing Plants and Plastic ones that looked real enough to grow intrigued those who stopped at the Village Gift Shop. Above Mrs. Joseph Recker and Mrs. Max Bauer are assisted by Mrs. Carl Reitzner. Below, during the noon dining hour rush, Mrs. Kate Lamers, Mrs. William Bohm, Mrs. Richard Vanden-Heuvel and Mrs. Joseph Evers, all of Little Chute, found a table at which to enjoy their chicken buffet dinner.

New Members Introduced At Meeting

Six new members were introduced at the meeting of the American Legion Junior Auxiliary Saturday at the clubhouse. Mrs. Daniel Schultz is the new junior co-chairman, replacing Mrs. Clarence Bradle.

Mrs. Schultz, education and scholarship chairman, presented a movie, "Land of White Alice."

Halloween puppets were made for Plamann School.

The Junior Auxiliary will convene Nov. 13 at the clubhouse.

Your Problems

Busybodies, Gossips Don't Want Truth; They'd Rather Talk

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS Why don't people keep their mouths shut when they don't know what they are talking about? My niece was married last year Lorraine had a beautiful white wedding If ever a girl deserved to wear white she did Lorraine had such a saintly quality about her that if anyone said "hell" in her presence they felt ashamed

Lorraine became pregnant on her honeymoon The baby was born three days short of nine months. The tongues wagged all over town and everyone was busy counting The word got around that the baby was "a little early" One woman who didn't realize I was sitting behind her at a ladies aid meeting whispered to the person next to her, "Lorraine of all people. It just goes to show you can never tell about anybody."

Will you please explain to these ignorant busybodies that a baby can be born any time in the ninth month? Thank you — Mad Aunt

Dear Aunt: Of course, babies can be born anytime in the ninth month, but busybodies don't want an explanation. They'd rather talk. Now is a good time to remember that the Lord gave us two ears so all the rubbish we hear can go in one and out the other.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am bookkeeper and cashier in an office which employs 20 people I am responsible for the petty cash

Usually there's about $35 in the petty cash drawer In the last six months every time I've checked the drawer it has been short. Certain people have fallen into the habit of borrowing anywhere from 25 cents to five dollars The borrowers used to put in I O U slips but they don't bother anymore.

Every week I have to go around and ask who is in hock to the drawer. At the moment there's an $11 shortage which I can't account for Two people are on vacation and one is out sick.

If you have a solution I'd like to hear it. — J.

Dear J: A petty cash drawer, into which anyone may dip when he has the shorts, is an engraved invitation to steal.

Such a set-up is a poor one for both the employes and the company. Call in all "loans" and announce that in the future only one person will have access to the drawer—you. Then keep the cash locked up and relax.

DEAR ANN LANDERS. I'm a 15-year old girl and my parents won't let me grow up. Their parents let them grow up Why won't they do as much for me?

I am now a freshman in high school. My mother has arranged with my dad to leave the car in the morning and drive to work with a neighbor so she can chauffeur me to and from school. Ann, I don't want to be chauffeured to and from school. It's only 10 minutes by bus and on a nice day I can walk. But no, she insists it is her duty.

I have begged for an alarm clock of my own for two years but my mother says "No. I will get you up." She picks out the clothes she wants me to wear every day. If I select my own she is hurt.

Can you get to the nitty gritty of this and give me some help? I am — Like Suffocating

Dear Like: Your signature is an apt one. The word suffocating is synonym for being smothered—and you are. Your mother is not giving you room to breathe and grow.

A 15-year-old girl should be allowed to get to school and back on her own. She should be permittied to select her own clothes. And finally, she should be able to get out of bed in the morning without help.

If you think it will do some good, show this column to your mother. If you don't think it will help, show it to her anyway. You may be agreeably surprised.

If excessive drinking is wrecking your health or destroying someone you love, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-address, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envleope.

Princeton Book Has Raving Reviewers

By JERRY BUCK

NEW YORK (AP) — The reviews are in on the Princeton guidebook to girls.

Here's what some of the girls say about it:

Lisa Smith of Smith College: "Sort of funny."

Linda McVeigh of Radcliffe: "I've never met a Princeton man, and I don't want to."

Linda Love of Beaver College: "It's not accurate."

The guidebook, an 80-page compendium of brotherly advice and inside dope called "Where the Girls Are," was written by the staff of the Daily Princetonian, the campus newspaper of Princeton University in New Jersey.

'Stabbed in Back'

A student at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., who furnished information to the Princeton editors, said: "I was stabbed in the back. Princeton men cannot be trusted."

Lisa Smith, of Charlottesville, Va., editor of the student newspaper at Smith College, Northampton, Mass., said the girls found it misleading but funny.

The guidebook says Radcliffe girls are "self-consciously intellectual" and can be spotted by their dirty trenchcoats and long hair.

"It's too bad Princeton boys have to stoop to such gross generalities to render us comprehensible," said Linda McVeigh, a junior from Anaheim, Calif., attending the Cambridge, Mass., school

Bryn Mawr is classified as a "stronghold of the liberated intellectual woman"

At the Pennsylvania school the students admit to scholarly conversations, but say that's only one side of them.

"I think it's unfortunate that this is the main view of Bryn Mawr as a whole," said Lucy Jennings of Norwalk, Conn.

Gives Views

"I don't know much about existentialism, but I suppose it would be interesting. I don't know that I'd monopolize my conversation with it," she said, referring to one topic of conversation mentioned in the book.

Another Bryn Mawr student, Joan Cavallaro, of Pine Orchard, Conn., said she thought the Princeton editors were "underestimating us."

The guidebook says Beaver College in Jenkintown, Pa., is a school where "most of the girls are members of the landed upper middle class of the East, relaxing midway between prep school and marriage. After two dates they want you to meet mother."

"I talked to many girls and most of them are not out for what we call the M-R-S degree," said Linda Lowe, of Scranton, Pa., a senior at Beaver.

"We're not sore about the book. We just think it's kind of funny."

Boys Fare Well

What do the girls think of Princeton's tigers?

"They think they're so cool," said Kate McLean, of Pittsburgh, a senior at Beaver.

Virginia Cranch, of Ithaca, N.Y., a senior at Bryn Mawr, said she finds them "very nice boys, quiet without being the way-out, nutty types."

Others said they found Princetonians "girl crazy" and "staid and conservative."

Lisa Smith said the book's comments haven't soured her at all on Princeton men. She said, "The ones I've met are really very attractive — they are my idea of Ivy Leaguers."

Lucky Guess In Trumps Costs Game

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Bridge players take pride in strange things "What a good guess I made in trumps" South exulted after the play of today's hand "I'd have been down another if I had played the ace of trumps first"

South took the first trick with the ace of hearts and led a trump to dummy's king When West discarded a diamond.

South whistled a tragic note (You can't find this note on the piano unless you're a bridge player.)

Declarer led the ten of spades from dummy next and continued with two more rounds of trumps This left East with the only trump in the pack.

South led the queen of diamonds, and West took the ace and returned a heart to dummy's king When declarer tried to cash the king of diamonds, East ruffed and returned a club South lost a finesse and wound up making only four trumps, two hearts, and one club. Down three.

Right Time To Boast

This was the moment that South picked to boast about his good guess in the trump suit It was such a good guess that it cost South the game and rubber.

South should not guess the right trump play because he should not play trumps at all South should win the first heart in dummy and lead a diamond to force out the ace. South wins the heart return, cashes the ace of clubs to discard dummy's last heart and then proceeds to ruff clubs in dummy and diamonds in his own hand.

South wins eleven tricks without the slightest difficulty—even though he doesn't try to guess the right trump play.

angry," another member of the faculty said "He was well-behaved and spent a good period of time reading "

A student who is reported to have been the last to see Kappell alive on the campus, said Kappell had told him Sept 26 he was leaving the campus

The student, who requested to be unidentified, said he had tried to talk Kappell into staying, but "he just walked away."

Kappell had gone out for freshman football at the university, but was not too well known by his coaches.

Cause Unknown

Just what caused the death of the tall, heavily-built athlete has not been determined, but Chief Guenther said the youth probably drowned after he was in the water. He may have been unconcious when he hit the water, he said

An autopsy showed the college student had been beaten about the head "severely." His knees and ankles were tied and strips of cloth hung from his wrists A stone, one foot in diameter weighing 30 pounds, was tied to the binding on his legs.

Guenther said today his department has no suspects, no possible motives, no trace of missing clothing or a possible weapon used in the student

Oshkosh university authorities said today it would cooperate extensively with police authorities in investigation on the campus and detectives will begin questioning students, hoping to trace Kappell's brief life as a college student

But one college official said from our indications not very many people knew him at all "

"Fine Student"

Kaukauna Police Lt Robert Main called the freshman "very quiet and reserved" but "a very good boy," a former lifeguard, a "fine student" who had never been in any trouble

Lt Main said Kappell made a weekend visit to his parents two days before his disappearance Sept. 28 and told them "he enjoyed every minute" of college.

Kaukauna High School Football Coach Harry Wilson said of the 6-foot-2, 210-pound tackle, "I thought he always got along with the boys, but some of them said he never did get close to anyone, so I really don't know."

Missing Person

Kappell began football practice at Oshkosh State at the start of September. He was last seen leaving his dormitory on a Tuesday night two weeks after classes began Two days later a friend asked at the dormitory for him, his parents were notified, and police filed a "missing person" report.

An official of the Oshkosh Symphony Orchestra was fishing with his son on Lake Winnebago last Saturday when he sighted the body. It was identified through fingerprints Tuesday night at the State Crime Laboratory in Madison.

Funeral services will be at 10 a m. Friday in St. Mary Church, Kaukauna. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

Friends may call at the Greenwood Funeral Home, Kaukauna, after 2 p m. Thursday. The rosary will be recited at 8 p m. Thursday at the funeral home.

Wizard Shelton Is Silent

Shelton's United Klans was only about $450.

Shelton refused to answer.

Shelton's decision to keep silent about all Klan affairs apparently was a last moment switch of tactics

A source said Shelton and his lawyer walked into the committee offices on the eve of the hearing opening and promised to cooperate "to tell about the Klan and what he hopes to do with it."

If so Shelton obviously changed his mind

"Thin Ice"

There was surprise on the face of the investigators when, almost at the first crack of the bat Shelton refused to identify Georgia Klan incorporation papers under his name He also refused despite a warning from Willis that he was on "thin ice," to turn over subpoenaed records

In refusing he started a day-long ritual of invoking the protection not only of the Fifth Amendment but the First, Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments

Willis told newsmen afterward he hoped Shelton's performance wouldn't set a Fifth Amendment pattern for the Klan hearings

I am very hopeful that other people who feel like I do will say 'who's afraid of the big bad wolf'," he said.

Wears Diamond

The sharp-faced 36-year-old Alabamian, a diamond ring glittering on his left hand, generally was expressionless as the questions came, often in the Southern drawls of Willis, Rep Joe R. Pool, D-Tex., and Rep. Charles L. Weltner, D-Ga.

Shelton refused to tell anything about financial records, to admit he was the imperial wizard or to answer Pool's question, "Are you ashamed to be a member of the Klan?"

During the morning Shelton listened to committee investigators tell about locating 381 Klan Klaverns in a search constantly hampered by many Southerners' fear of the Klan.

"These people fear harassment, threatening letters, telephone calls, cross burnings on their property, beatings, bombings, and, yes, even death," said chief investigator Donald T Appell.

Veto Asked of Assassination Gun Measure

DENVER, Colo (AP) — John J King, who wants the guns used by John F Kennedy's assassin, asked President Johnson to veto a bill that would make them federal property.

In a telegram, King 43 president of the Cortez Oil Co., said the bill passed by the Senate and the House was an attempt to transfer a civil action from the U.S. District Court to Congress and called this a "direct insult to the system of checks and balances "

King claims he paid the widow of Lee Harvey Oswald a deposit of $10 000 for the rifle that killed Kennedy and the pistol that killed Dallas Patrolman J D Tippit. The balance, $35,000, was to be paid on delivery.

King filed suit last May in Denver against Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach. He said in his telegram that the Justice Department had delayed the suit, citing the legislation before Congress The U S. Treasury, whose division of internal revenue has possession of the weapons, is seeking to confiscate the weapons on the grounds they were never registered as required by the National Firearms Act.

One Ballot Makes Difference in Marinette Vote

MARINETTE (AP)— One vote did make the difference Tuesday in the Republican primary for the vacant Assembly seat for Marinette and Florence counties.

Unofficial but incomplete returns Tuesday night listed Daniel Myron of Peshtigo as the nominee in a 1,421-1,420 victory over Robert Angwall of Marinette.

Leslie Stevenson of Marinette won the Democratic nomination for the special election to be conducted next month.

Angwall, vice chairman of the Marinette County Board, said his decision on whether to ask a recount would not be made until the official tabulation of vote totals by the canvassing board.

Zoo Putting Up Anti-People Fence

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A fence is being erected at the St. Louis Zoo to keep people out.

The eight-foot chain fence, with a barbed wire overhang, is aimed at stopping vandalism.

"We have had people put detergent in the goldfish pond, try to steal parrots and break into some of the cages," said Henry Sanders, assistant zoo director. "People throw just about everything into some of the ponds," he said "It is pretty discouraging when you see our walrus swimming around with a clothes hanger in his mouth."

Sukarno Will Keep Contact With Peking

JAKARTA (AP) — Indonesia's President Sukarno and leaders of his government today were reported determined to maintain the Peking-Jakarta axis Sukarno proclaimed last August

After a meeting of the president and the other three members of his Cabinet presidium, Third Deputy Premier Chaerul Saleh told newsmen they had discussed the preservation and strengthening of solidarity with friendly countries, notably Red China.

Security forces were called out today to block a demonstration by some 10,000 persons protesting against foreign military bases and Communist China.

They were addressed by a speaker who accused Communist China of supporting the coup attempt, and called for a break with Peking

The demonstrators, belonging to the leading Moslem party, Madhatul Ulama, first gathered at Surapati Park here speakers demanded the abolition of the pro-Peking Communist party the PKI, but also supported the government's militant campaign against "necolim " The word is used here for "neocolonialism, colonialism and imperialism "

The demonstration was staged in connection with the Indonesian-sponsored "international conference for the liquidation of foreign military bases" being held at the Hotel Indonesia.

Anti-Draft Group Admits Some Are Communists

CHICAGO (AP) — Leaders of an anti-draft group which is making plans to counsel high school students on how to avoid military service concede there are Communists in their organization.

The group, Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), opposes U S military intervention in Viet Nam. SDS now is considering a program to advise unwilling potential draftees to list themselves as conscientious objectors with their draft board.

Tuesday, Richard Rothstein, 22, of New York, an SDS national staff worker, and Jeffrey Shero, 23, of Austin, Tex., SDS national vice president acknowledged that some Communists belong to the group

The only requirement for joining SDS, said Shero, is that the individual say he is a democrat. SDS has no screening board to determine whether prospective members actually believe in democracy, he said.

$38.8 Million in Bonds Issued for Construction Of State Buildings

MADISON (AP)—A $38 6 million bond issue was authorized by the State Building Commission Tuesday to finance construction of new college classrooms and State Department of Public Welfare Buildings.

The approval raised to $377 million the total now owed by state building corporations set up to borrow money through bonds for various projects.

An investment banker syndicate from New York was low bidder on the latest issue at a 3.48 per cent interest rate, compared with a 3 21 per cent rate bid on the last bond issue in February.

Ground Swell Developing

Antiwar Activities Bring Prowar Reaction

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A ground swell of American reaction is developing against demonstrations protesting U.S. policy in Viet Nam

The reaction began building after the anti-Viet Nam demonstrations reached a crescendo this past weekend Organizers of the movement vowed more protests including a march on Washington

Former President Dwight D Eisenhower said Tuesday he had been asked to take part in one effort to counteract the demonstrations

He said the protests "do our country a disservice," but declined to say immediately if he would participate

College students — from whose ranks most of the peace marchers sprang — are planning programs to show their support American combat troops Among them is a blood drive at Washington State University.

Jaycee Program

The national Jaycees are planning a massive program to counter the anti-Viet Nam demonstrations

The 2,500-member Huntsville Ala., Post 2702 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has launched "Operation Sweet Tooth" to show American fighting men that folks back home care

Plans for a parade down Fifth Avenue in New York City are being mapped by the newly formed Citizens Committee to Support American Viet Nam Efforts.

Eisenhower, visiting a cattle sale in Culpeper, Va., at first declined to discuss the demonstrations.

Then he said: "I will say this: they were very silly and based on ignorance without knowledge of the continuing threat of communism to this country.

"Now, I believe in free speech, but these people do our country a disservice and, as I have said before, I support the President and his policy in Viet Nam "

15,000 Signatures

An organization of about 75 students at Michigan State University headed by William Webb a junior from Detroit, has launched a drive to get 15,000 student signatures on a petition supporting President Johnson

"There are only about 80 students opposing the war in Viet Nam," he said "We want to show how many support it "

Petitions are also being circulated at West Virginia State College Student Council President Glen Knapp said he hopes to get 1,800 signatures supporting the American fighting men

Operation Sweet Tooth" is a drive organized by the Huntsville Ala., VFW to send packages of homemade cookies and candy to servicemen in Viet Nam

Counter Demonstrations

James Skidmore Jr., national director of the Jaycees said in Detroit a program is being worked out to counter the peace demonstrations

He said the program calls for such action as "packing" college meetings opposing the war public and Jaycee-compiled background information on leaders of the demonstrations, and sending speakers to college campuses to defend the U S position.

The executive council of the United Church of Christ termed "highly immoral" the efforts to "induce young men to 'beat' the draft."

These attempts "undermine the moral fabric of our nation," the council said, and should "not be countenanced under the cloak of free speech."

Miss Marquardt

LARSEN — A spring wedding is planned by Miss Karen Jean Marquardt and Dougles Gene Smith. The couple's engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Marquardt. Mr. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norvald Smith, 209 S. Lake St., Neenah.

The bride-elect attended Constance School of Beauty and is employed at Miles Kimball, Oshkosh. Her fiance is stationed with the Army in Germany.

Princess Margaret to be at Hollywood Charity Ball

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Movieland's social coup of the year — Princess Margaret at the WAIF Ball Nov. 8 — fell right out of the royal blue.

The princess herself asked to be invited, says Jane Russell, founder of the World Adoption International Fund group.

The actress said: "We owe it all to Sharman Douglas, a charter member of WAIF. She has been telling the princess for years that if ever she came to the United States, she should attend our ball which is really a fun ball.

"We always try to have visiting royalty as guests of honor but we never held any hope of getting the British royal family.

Then a few months ago, the British consul-general here called Mrs. Bill Welsh, who is president of the local chapter. He said that Princess Margaret wondered if she might attend the ball on her visit to the United States.

"'You know she can,' were Mrs. Welsh's enthusiastic words."

Sharman Douglas is the daughter of Lewis Douglas, former ambassador to Britain. As a child, her London playmates were the future Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret. They have remained friends and Sharman will travel with the princess on her 20-day tour of the United States.

The ball will be held at the Hollywood Palladium, home of Lawrence Welk and his television champagne bubbles.

Lyle Wheeler, movie art director who won an Oscar for "Gone With the Wind," will revio the big dance hall for the occasion. Jack L. Warner is loaning the big chandeliers used in the ball scene of "My Fair Lady."

The actress said the princess is very much interested in the worldwide work WAIF has done in placing 15,000 orphans in good homes.

The actress founded WAIF in 1955 after she and former football star Bob Waterfield adopted the first of their three adopted children, Tommy, the first, came from London.

Since then WAIF has taken up so much of her time that her current film, "Johnny Reno," is her first movie in eight years.

She spends much of her time lobbying for adoption legislation — and, she says, it's paying off.

"We have 60 white baby boys here in Los Angeles County alone and heaven knows how many other Negro and mixed-blood babies just crying for parents," Miss Russell said.

"And, thanks to WAIF, you no longer need to be rich to adopt a baby. Just bring love and proof of a good home.

"We have been told that Princess Margaret wanted to honor by her presence the great work the WAIF girls have done."

Klan Women Teach Bible As Well as Segregation

By DUDLEY LEHEW

ATLANTA, Ga., (AP) — They stand silently beside their husbands as fiery crosses light up the night and toss reflections on strands of their hair.

They speak from the back of a pickup truck about their duties to the white race — and then go home to teach the Bible to their children.

They wear flowing white robes and pointed hoods — even when they take a basket full of toys and food to Negro children.

They are the women of the Ku Klux Klan—sometimes organized and sometimes not, but always around when the KKK rings a blazing cross and listens to speeches about segregation.

Because the ladies auxiliary units are geographically separated in the South, their tasks and goals vary — from voter registration drives to sewing robes for their men.

Trading Stamps

Syble Jones of Granite Quarry, N.C., wife of North Carolina Grand Dragon J. Robert Jones, attends each rally and appeals for full trading stamp books. With 400 books collected, she needs only 1,600 more for an airplane for KKK usage.

Frances Daniel of Mableton, Ga., imperial commander of the Georgia Ladies of the KKK, speaks from the back of a pickup and says, "We need to teach our young boys and girls what the Bible really means.

"We, as Klan people, know God is with us."

Mrs. Bob Scoggin of Spartanburg, wife of the South Carolina grand dragon says the auxiliary spends its time in charitable work, along with mailing KKK literature and recruiting.

Helps The Men

Mrs. Robert Creel, wife of the Alabama grand dragon and an exofficio head of the Klan auxiliary, says her organization helps the men where needed. The last project was a voter registration drive.

There are no listed imperial commanders for Florida, Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, and Louisiana, but there are klavernsin those state. Klaverns have auxiliaries.

Mrs. Daniel says the Georgia Ladies of the KKK is not the same as the Klan auxiliary and not all members of the group have husbands in the Klan. Membership is open to any 18-year-old native-born, white female Protestant who is approved by other members.

The Ladies of the Ku Klux Klan was chartered in Atlanta in 1961. An original women's Klan group was founded in 1923 and disbanded in 1927.

A new member of the secret order, Mrs. Nealy Scroggs of Acworth, Ga., said she is proud of the Klan and what it stands for.

"Our children will be the mothers and fathers of tomorrow," she said. "Let us teach our children like we were brought up ourselves."

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Build Up Ankles

A teen lovely writes: Please tell me if skinny ankles can be built up. Even when I wear heavy socks, my ankle bones stick out like doorknobs.

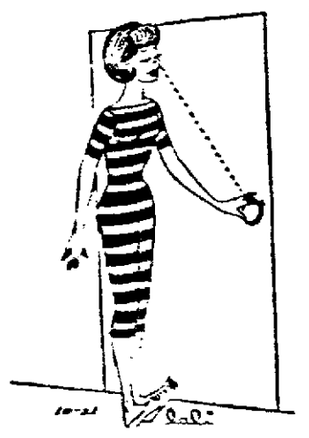
The Answer: Yes, knobby ankles can be plumped. The job is done with spot-increasing exercises — routines designed to build up flesh by strengthening the network of muscles beneath.

For the purpose, these routines are most effective:

1. Stand with feet together. Center weight on heels and lift soles of feet off floor, so that toes point straight up. Hold position for five slow counts. Then relax and repeat ten times.

2. Sit with left knee crossed over right knee. Leading with big toe, very slowly rotate foot from left to right ten times. Recross knees and perform with right foot, being sure to circle from right to left. Always work for maximum stretch.

If you perform daily, exactly as instructed, results begin to show in about two months. More perseverance is needed to increase than to reduce a measurement. So stick with it — don't work in spurts and never overdo. Strenuous workouts would only defeat your purpose.



One more point: Bony ankles often indicate a substantial frame. In that case a girl must try for normal weight. If she's even the least bit underweight, those big bones begin to protrude.

If your loveliness problem is thin, shapeless legs, send for my leaflet, More Curve For the Leglne. It shows how to build up contours with spot-increasing exercise. The leaflet also includes your ideal leg measurements, and tips on a graceful stance as well as flattering footwear. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Student Board to Parents Matter of Some Discussion

BY MARY FEELEY

It never pays to make a flat statement about anything—this is a good rule which I often ignore. I have said a number of times that a young son or daughter who is earning a salary and still living under the parental roof ought to contribute to the household. I've said that one-fourth to one-third of the earnings is a fair price to pay for the comforts and convenience of living at home.

I still say that's a sensible estimate for the cost of room and board at home. But now come the letters from readers who feel they are the exceptions to the rule. And I agree that they are, and they have a perfect right to speak up.

Dear Miss Feeley:

In one of your recent columns you stated that young wage earners pay an amount between one-fourth and one-third of their net income for the privilege of having a sympathetic home to live in and good meals on the table.

Now what, exactly, do you mean by that statement? I am a college student with two jobs—one full-time and one part-time. If I were to give 25 per cent to 33-1-3 per cent of my net income to my parents I would not be going back to school next year.

To me it is quite clear that you were referring to the person who merely works approximately 261 days a year and does not have any outside responsibilities such as a college education.

My parents think that you mean that the full 25 per cent to 33-1-3 per cent should be deducted from any young person's income who is living at home.

R.W.M., Fort Wayne, Ind.

Dear R.W.M.:

You win. I meant exactly what you though I meant.

In your case your earnings are being put to the best possible use—an education. Whatever you have left over from those two jobs—if anything—should be the amount you and your parents discuss where room and board are concerned. But put your tuition and college expenses aside before [illegible] about any other obligation.

Frankly, I think you're doing a pretty good job. If your parents don't need any help, I hope they'll let you off the financial hook entirely. It isn't every son who takes on two jobs to get himself through school. I'd say your parents are luckier than they realize. And tell them I said so.

Dear Miss Feeley:

Our daughter soon will be marrying a serviceman. They intend to live with us for awhile.

We can afford to keep them on, but feel that they should have some responsibilities. We would like to have them pay us so much a week for room and board.

[illegible] rate of rooms per month of $262. Please let us [illegible] them each week.

H.O., San Diego, Calif.

Dear H.O.:

[illegible] $262 a month [illegible] money. However, I agree that a young couple should start out with a sense of responsibility, and I think they should certainly pay something for room and board in your home.

If you want to charge them one-third of their income—or $94 a month—this would leave them $4.70 a week. On this amount they would have to cover such additional expenses as clothing and upkeep, transportation, savings, recreation.

Of course, a serviceman's wife, as a dependent, is entitled to hospitalization and medical [illegible]. Also, she may shop at a commissary if one is available near [illegible].

Also where else could they live as cheaply?

[illegible] write to Mary Feeley in care The Post-Crescent, Appleton, Wis., 54910.

Young Reader Shocked by Shocking Answer to Question

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: I am only 12 years old, not a parent. But I saw your column where in a bunch of suggestions you made to a mother of a 16-year-old girl who was still wetting the bed you told her to make certain her daughter was warm and to get an electric blanket for her. Your other suggestions made sense to me, but don't you know what accidents might happen if the mother follows your suggestion about the blanket? Do you know what happens when electricity comes in contact with water? Do you want this mother to electrocute her daughter? I hope you realize this was the worst advice you could give her. I'm shocked! Miss A. G.

DEAR MISS A. G.: I'm grateful to you for calling this to my attention. Well made electric blankets, of course, are well insulated and have many safety cutoffs that would prevent a shock from being passed through a broken circuit. But it's generally safer for people who bedwet to use thermal blankets or thick comforters. Thanks for being so alert.

Dear Dr. Jones: My husband and I adore our 18-month-old daughter, but for a month she has been impossible to handle. She always has been a healthy, happy and active baby. She walked at nine months, but she was always happy to stay for an hour or two in her playpen even after she learned to walk. Considering her age, she has always obeyed well — maybe because we have a bare minimum of things she can't touch just the phone, TV and bookcases.

Suddenly, she lost all interest in her toys and playpen. She sobs and follows me around from room to room crying, "Mommy, mommy." She won't go anywhere with her daddy. It's impossible for me to get any housework or shopping done, and my husband is beginning to feel completely unwanted. Mrs. S. N.

DEAR MRS. S. N.: She's too old to be going through the ordinary panic a younger child feels when she's trying to figure out who she is when mother isn't nearby. So let's asume that she's responding to some inner feelings she has about you, probably angry ones.

What did you start asking of her just before her clinging started? It's surprising how many different ways parents have of expecting too much of a bright child, years before the child can get any real benefit from such behavior. So check to make certain you haven't been asking her to use the toilet, to be very polite, to develop a huge vocabulary, etc. Also check to make certain you aren't expecting her to be a baby in ways no longer useful to her — such as staying in the playpen, letting you feed her, playing with infant toys, etc.

Her clinging won't be helped by scolding or by going in to her, so while you're trying to discover the cause of her problem, try to carry on about your usual housework as before and leave her with her father as usual. Tell her you're sorry she's unhappy, but that you won't let her tears keep you from doing the things you must do.

Write me in detail about how you have handled feeding, sleep, weaning, play, and discipline, so I may try to help you figure out what to do, if the answer isn't immediately apparent to you from these suggestions so far.

Road Work to Stop for Funeral Of State Man Scalped in 1876

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP) — Construction work on a highway interchange will halt briefly while a funeral service is held for a Wisconsin man killed and scalped by Indians 89 years ago.

The grave of William Cogan, Watertown, Wis., was uncovered last spring when work started on the Interstate 90 interchange near this western South Dakota city.

Cogan was killed by Indians May 4, 1876, while he was on his way to the Deadwood gold strike. A simple pine board with the man's name was found atop the shallow grave. The remains included Cogan's skull, crushed from a tomahawk blow, and remnants of his boots.

On Oct. 21, work on the interchange will be stopped during dedication of a historic marker and reburial of Cogan. The new grave will be in a small roadside park just off the interchange, close to the site of the original grave.

The Minnilus Pioneer Association of Rapid City, which will conduct the dedication ceremonies, says the story of Cogan's death has been told in diaries of Rapid City pioneers. The accounts relate that Cogan was on his way west from Fort Pierre, S.D., with a wagon train heading for the newly discovered gold fields in the Black Hills.

The Treaty of 1868 had given the Black Hills to the Sioux Indians "for as long as the sun shines and the rivers flow." The Sioux went on the warpath when hordes of prospectors began flooding the hills.

Gold fever apparently inspired Cogan to leave the wagon train. He became impatient and, against the warnings of the wagon master, he left the wagons and rode off alone across the prairie.

He was killed three miles from Rapids City, then a town two months old.

Judge Wants Youths to be Traffic Jury

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A Milwaukee judge, who tries to impress highway safety on teenage traffic offenders by having them visit the county morgue, plans to try still another device in December.

County Judge F. Ryan Duffy Jr. said Wednesday he'll use carefully selected teen-agers in the jury box to hear evidence in cases involving teen-age traffic offenses.

"I'll talk with them and ask them to confer among themselves on what they would recommend if they were in the judge's position. I'll take that into consideration before I decide the case," the judge explained.

"Their recommendations will be advisory. I might go along with them and maybe I won't, but it will be a good thing for the students and it will give me more insight into what juveniles think of their own traffic offenders."

Stock Yards Offer Luxury Facilities

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Your next steak may taste better because stock yards are offering country club facilities.

Swimming pool, Swedish baths and artificially perfumed air around livestock feed lots are now considered necessities. They provide livestock a kind and efficient trip to market.

John F. O'Dea, vice president of the Denver Union Stock Yards said Tuesday that the swimming pools provide relief on a hot day and also contain an insecticide that kills harmful parasites and makes animals more comfortable.

Air conditioning, O'Dea said, is a smart move "because cool, comfortable animals don't melt off pounds that mean profits for the industry.

O'Dea spoke at the American Humane Association's 89th convention.

Tourists in Italy

ROME (AP) — First official estimates say the number of foreign tourists to visit Italy in the first eight months of this year is up 5.7 per cent — 962,400 tourists—more than in the same period of 1964.

John L. Sullivan Was Champ

Without Fear of Future Door of Memory Opens

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Life is the opening of many doors.

One often opens them with trepidation, because they lead to situations one may never have faced before

But there is a single door one may open without fear, confident of what lies on the other side. That is the door of memory. For most of us it becomes an increasing pleasure to open that door more often and take a restful mental stroll back down time's past corridor.

You've had a pretty long walk in that corridor yourself if you can remember when—

People bragged about having shaken the hand of John L. Sullivan, the heavyweight boxing champion

Every fat man thought he looked slimmer in a vest and a double-breasted jacket.

Homes Had Mice

A fellow never had to borrow money from his wife for his midday meal if he worked near a saloon that served a free lunch

Most American homes still had mice in them.

Before the era when basements were turned into "rumpus rooms" they were often called "storm cellars."

You knew a girl was ready for matrimony when she started learning how to knit a pair of men's socks.

Anyone who had to have a blood transfusion worried about whether it would cause him to assume the personality of the donor

Every firehouse had a Dalmation dog and it was usually called "Spot."

The only Americans who regularly cooked their meals outdoors in summer were the residents of hobo jungles

Only children believed in Santa Claus

Isinglass Curtains

The owner of a new automobile didn't mind getting a scratch on the fender so much as he did a tear in the car's isinglass curtains

In 1926 Gertrude Ederle, whose dad owned a delicatessen, swam the English Channel —and came home to the greatest ticker-tape parade Manhattan ever accorded a woman.

Many a widow managed to eke out a living in prohibition days by selling home brew in her kitchen

A chocolate soda with two dips of ice cream sold for 15 cents

Children in a large family argued over which had to go first in the regular Saturday night bath lineup. Each one wanted to put off the ordeal and be last

Mistrust Rubyaiyat

An intellectual was anyone who could recite William Cullen Bryant's "Thanatopsis" by heart But mothers didn't like their daughters to go out with young men who could quote from Omar Khayyam's "Rubyaiyat"

Nobody wrote under water because no one had yet invented a pen that could do it.

People drank more buttermilk than skim milk.

It was firmly believed by common folk that all high society ladies carried lorgnettes.

The best friend of boyhood was the neighborhood iceman He would always let you eat the cold chips that fell on the floor of his wagon.

You knew the girl loved you if, when you took her to the local movie, she said, "Now, don't waste your money buying two sacks of popcorn. I can share yours."

Remember?

Dairy Surplus Declines in First Half of Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's dairy surplus declined and average prices received by farmers for milk and butterfat rose during the first half of this marketing year, the government reported today.

Total milk production in the first six months was about equal to that for the same period last year, but consumption of milk and its products increased.

Production of butter and nonfat dry milk was below last year in every month. Cheese output was above last year until September, when it also dropped below 1964 levels.

Government-held stocks of butter have declined from 347 to 72 million pounds since 1962 Cheese is down to two million pounds since 1962. Cheese is down to two million pounds from 94 million, and nonfat dry milk stocks have fallen from 572 million to 172 million pounds.

Tipsy Walker Called as Dangerous as Driver

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The drunken walker is just as dangerous as the drunken driver, says Commissioner Harry H. Brainerd of the Pennsylvania Traffic Safety Bureau.

Brainerd, in a publicity release, said more than 25 per cent of pedestrians killed on state highways in 1964 had been drinking.

Poverty Does Exist in U.S. Year Long Study Has Shown

Program Outlined to Officials At Municipalities Convention

GREEN BAY—While it has been functioning for only one year, the anti-poverty program has destroyed the American myths that there is no severe poverty in the country and that the poor are not interested in improving themselves.

Christopher Weeks, special assistant to the director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, included this statement in a summary of the anti-poverty program Wednesday to the opening session of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities convention at the Hotel Northland. The convention runs through Friday.

Week's appearance was part of the convention theme of federal-local government relations and federal aid programs.

The American myth that there is no extreme poverty has ended with discovery of such things as a 12-year-old Kentucky coal miner, a case of death by starvation in Arkansas, and children of migrant workers locked in cars while their parents work because there is no other place for them, Weeks said.

Better Themselves

The myth that the poor are not interested in bettering themselves now is faced with 340,000 applications for the 40,000 Job Corps spaces, 280,000 Youth Corps, and 595,000 preschoolers enrolled in the Head Start program, he said.

Weeks said the issue is not whether the poor are deserving or whether the nation has the resources but whether the nation can provide "everyone the chance to learn and earn to his full potential."

Weeks admitted that the community action part of the anti-poverty act is the most controversial. While whole states like Georgia and Kentucky have entered the program, many cities still are arguing about taking part, he said.

This part of the program has learned, Weeks said, that local organization is needed because "the answer to poverty cannot be provided by bureaucrats in Washington" and that the poor themselves must have a part in

Kappell's Last Traces Studied By Investigators

WSU-O Roommate Reported Youth Missing Sept. 28

OSHKOSH — Police investigation into the death of Stephen Kappell, 18-year-old freshman at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh from Kaukauna, is concentrating on his last moments on the university campus.

Kappell had not been seen from Sept. 28 until the finding of his beaten and bound body, weighted down by a 30-pound stone, in Lake Winnebago of the Miller's Bay breakwater near Menominee Park last Saturday afternoon.

Police Chief Harry A. Guenther said today his investigators and Winnebago County investigators are attempting to trace Kappell's whereabouts previous to his disappearance.

The Kaukauna athlete was reported missing from his Breese Hall dormitory by his roommate on Sept. 28, the chief said.

Lt. Richard Guenther, sheriff's department investigator, said, "At this point we are not discounting any leads."

Boat Studied

A boat found in Menominee Park two days ago is not thought to be connected with the case, but it is not being discarded. It is quite rotten and investigators think it was not seaworthy enough to have carried the body.

Chief Guenther said that as soon as the weather clears he is going to send investigators back to the scene at Miller's Bay on the northeast portion of Menominee Park.

The body was spotted by Harold W. Arentsen, director of the Oshkosh Civic Symphony Orchestra and retired head of the music program in the Oshkosh public schools, when he and his son were fishing Saturday. They saw Kappell's head bobbing in the water and reported it to the nearby Naval

American Can Head Sees New Fox Valley Industry

William F. May Considers It 'A Crime' That Chemicals Are Wasted Instead of Put to Use

BY DICK LYNEIS
Post-Crescent Business Editor

NEW YORK, N.Y — William F. May, board chairman and chief executive officer of American Can Co., believes the future may contain a new chemical industry in the Fox Valley.

During an informal interview Wednesday, the tall, well-conditioned chairman of the corporate empire which takes in plants and facilities in 136 cities in 30 states, Canada, Puerto Rico and American Samo, discussed the future of American's Marathon products group and the paper industry in general.

"It's a crime," May said, "to be using coal and oil as a fuel. And it's a crime that we are only using 5 per cent of the sun's energy."

Switching to American's Marathon products group, the pulp and paper industry, the self-assured Phi Beta Kappa who will be 50 on Sunday, said, "It's also a crime to be dumping lignin into the streams."

'Fascinating Chemical'

"Lignin," he said, "is one of the most fascinating chemicals in existence," and he hinted that this is the area where the paper industry could utilize chemicals to better advantage in the Fox Valley.

As our group of news media personnel listened to May expound on some of his knowledge of today's utilization of byproducts of pulp and paper manufacturing, we were amazed at his familiarity with this one segment of the packaging industry giant which has product groups for the manufacturing of just about every conceivable area of consumer packaging — plastic and metal tubes, cans, bottles and the hundreds of products with the Dixie label.

Yet May talked as knowledgably about the paper industry as paper industry officials in Wisconsin's Fox Valley.

He discussed chemicals while answering question about possibilities for greater production and employment in the Marathon products group.

Marketing in Northeast

Marathon products are marketed throughout the United States, except in the Northeast and in New York itself.

We asked him: "Is there a possibility that you will begin marketing Marathon products in the Northeast? And, if you do, would this result in increased manufacturing and more employment in the Fox Valley?"

May said marketing of Marathon products in the Northeast "definitely is in our plans." But he added that the "productive capacity of our existing Marathon plants is insufficient to supply the Northeast market."

"In all honesty," he said, "if we market in the Northeast, we would have to have manufacturing capacity in the Northeast." He added that such a move would require an "expensive effort" in marketing and promotion.

'Could Do It'

He added, as an afterthought, "While we would need the converting capacity in the East, we probably could economically manufacture pulp in the same area as now and then ship it East."

Marathon pulp manufacturing facilities are in Green Bay and Rothschild, Wis., and in Marathon, Ont.

Then, the man who has been at the top of American Can for only seven weeks, got back to chemicals again.

"Right now," May said, "we are the world's largest manufacturer of chemical vanillin." But in his opinion, scientific research will lead to many new developments.

"And there is another possible development in the paper industry that may result from continuing research," he went on, "and that is having paper respond to certain electronic stimuli which could change the paper's color."

Wolf River Area Called 'Untapped Reservoir' For Travelers' Funds

Group Told to Develop Region For Vacationers From Midwest

Wolf River Country must open its "great untapped reservoir" if it is going to compete economically with other Wisconsin, Midwest and national resort areas for vacationers' and travelers' dollars.

So members of Wolf River Country, Inc., were told at their annual meeting Wednesday night at Appleton's Terrace Motor Inn by James C. Alexander, manager of the Chicago ofice of the State Conservation Department's Wisconsin Official Vacation Center.

Wolf River Country is comprised of Forest, Langlade, Menominee, Shawano, Waupaca, Waushara, Outagamie and Winnebago counties. The group's purpose is to promote business in the counties catering to vacationers.

Boating Opportunity

"The Wolf River Country is really unusual" Alexander said. "Boating in this area is second to none in this part of the state, especially with the opening of the new marina in Oshkosh."

The problem, he added, is that most users of facilities such as the new marina are residents of the area, so that very little new business actually comes in.

The "basic mission" of Wolf River Country, Inc., Alexander explained, is twofold: "How can we get non-resident vacationers to come here and how can we get non-vacationers to take vacations and take them here?"

The job of Wolf River Country also is twofold, he said, in that it must act as an agent of the state to attract out-of-state vacationers and, once out-of-staters come here, it must win the battle against other in-state areas for those vacationers' dollars.

Non-Vacationers

The problem regarding non-vacationers, Alexander said, is that many persons in the Chicago area — which is where Wisconsin looks to for most of its non-resident vacationers — are classified in the high-income bracket yet fail to travel on their vacations. Instead, they stay home and "fix screens or paint houses."

Alexander suggested two things which could be instru-

Wet Leaves Are As Dangerous as Ice and Snow

Rain-soaked leaves can be as slippery as ice or snow, the Wisconsin Division of the American Automobile Association warned motorists today.

Francis J. Eckerman, safety director for the motor club, reminded drivers that after cool, damp fall nights, significant amounts of moisture collect between the layers of leaves lying on streets and highways.

"With visions of the brilliant hues of autumn leaves fresh in our memories," Eckerman added, "we may forget that the wet leaves can be slick and dangerous."

He urged motorists to reduce their speed when they spot leaf-covered portions of roadway.

Eckerman also pointed to the danger of children playing in huge piles of leaves at the curbsides. Motorists should be on the alert for the tot who mistakenly plays in the leaves and children should be taught by their parents not to play in the leaves.

Knowles Deplores Drain on Resource Talent From State

Governor Talks in Appleton on Industrial Growth, Development

BY RAY PY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Wisconsin must take complete advantage of what resources are available to compete favorably with other states in industrial growth and development, Gov. Warren P. Knowles reminded businessmen Wednesday during the first Eighth District Research and Development Conference at the Terrace Motor Inn.

Knowles was keynote speaker at the day-long discussion of ways and means available for the large and small businesses to maintain modern research and development programs.

The governor deplored, he said, what he called the "brain drain" of the state's resources to other states which have set the pace in the research and development business.

He said "our good minds are going to the east and west coasts and to centers in Texas which are setting the research pace of this country."

'Key to Growth'

Businessmen in Wisconsin "have to take a hard look at the whole concept of research and development and come to realize what it could mean. The examples of the effect of good research and development can be found in almost all other states," he said

"Innovation is the key to business growth, and without constant development," the governor said, "business will perish."

Knowles outlined for the 100 businessmen attending the conference, the thinking behind the conferences and development of study programs to increase business awareness in the state.

He said when he first took office, he had become concerned with the state's not keeping pace with other states in development, but "we found we were concentrating on our negative points and we decided to take more positive action." He said the conferences and other study groups were the result of this thinking.

How Ideas Develop

Business men earlier heard short talks by a three-man panel, one explaining how ideas developed into products, and, from two professors on the panel, what research information and facilities are available to business at Marquette and Wisconsin universities.

Rudy Small, vice president of Paper Converting Corp., Green Bay, explained developments in the making of toilet tissue. He said the tissue industry, through research, has eliminated almost all manual operations in the process of turning a raw material into a packaged product.

Dr. Joseph E. Matar, acting dean of Marquette University School of Engineering, outlined research projects being undertaken by Marquette faculty and listed developments in industry which were a result of faculty aid.

Research Program

Prof. J. J. Skiles, associate director of the university-industry research program at the University of Wisconsin, explained the founding of the research program to aid industry at the Madison and Milwaukee campuses and urged businessmen to "explore the wealth of services available through a telephone call or a contact" with the schools.

Dr. A. Neil McLeod, director of continuing education at The Institute of Paper Chemistry, showed examples of two industries — one an Appleton firm — which became leaders through products developed by research.

In 1956, Dr. McLeod said, a memo by a sales committee at

Policies May Aid Growth of Valley Housing

Realtors Claim U. S. Laws Provide Good Development Plans

Federal housing and urban development policies now in effect could materially benefit future growth and development of the Fox Cities region, realtors said today.

Otto Bytof, president of the Appleton Board of Realtors, announced the organization has been updated on past and recent legislation.

Bytof said a document, "Realtor's Guide to Housing Programs," has been received and considered it as possibly one of the most important handled by the board since receiving its charter from the National Association of Real Estate Boards in 1917.

The guide is of unusual importance and may have a positive affect on the community, Bytof said, because:

Methods for Clearance

—It indicates methods that make possible the elimination of slums and blighted neighborhoods without reference to government public housing.

—Ways are suggested to house low income families, through "a remarkable system of church or citizen-sponsored projects," that involves no expenditure of city funds and could cut welfare expenditures.

Assemblyman Seeks Work On State 76

Assemblyman Ervin W. Conradt of Shiocton met Tuesday with representatives of the State Highway Commission to stress the need for improving State 76 north of U.S. 45 from Greenville to Shiocton.

Conradt said he was seeking action in an effort to "eliminate some of the deaths and accidents that have been occurring" on U.S. 45, by rerouting much U.S. 45 traffic to State 76.

Commission representatives told Conradt they are conducting engineering studies for future location of a highway-type facility from the Appleton area toward New London and Clintonville.

Officials stated that while the future road will provide relief primarily for the present U.S. 45, its final location would have a decided effect on other highways in the area, including State 76.

Assuming that since State 76 serves the local area, any future construction normally would be confined to the existing location, commission officials noted

Stating that the commission is aware of the need to upgrade State 76, representatives said the "financing available at this time does not permit inclusion of this road in the presently approved construction program."

Lindstrom was arrested after being found sleeping on a public street.

Official Says School Can be Built, Equipped for $5 Million

Expect Federal Aids to Cut AHS East Costs by $120,000

Dr. Roy P. Whitney, president of the Appleton Board of Education, has written the Appleton Council that a new senior high school can be built and equipped for $5 million.

Whitney's letter was received at city hall Wednesday in the wake of aldermanic criticism over the school board's fiscal attitude toward the proposed Appleton High School East.

Tuesday afternoon a majority of the members of the board of public works claimed the school board had not lived up to an agreement, arrived at two weeks ago, to cut the overall school cost from $5.6 to $5 million

Defer $264,000

In his letter, dated Oct. 19 Dr Whitney said there had been new developments which enabled the board to reduce the deferment total to $264,000 and said only a portion of the amount would appear in the school operation budget, "and even this will be after several years."

Aldermen have contended the school board was deferring rather than cutting items from the total high school cost now and planned to include them in future operating budgets.

Dr. Whitney also disclosed that federal funds totaling $120,000 will be available.

(The school proposition will be aired again Monday night during a special committee of the whole meeting of the council following its regular business meeting.)

Extend Grant Extensions

Low bids of the five prime contractors were to have expired Monday (90 days after opening). It was learned the contractors have granted 30-day extensions at the request of the school board.

The prime contracts total about $4.1 million.

In his letter to the council, Dr. Whitney took note of his Oct 4 communication in which he said the school could be constructed and equipped for $5 million under certain conditions

He said following the letter, the city attorney ruled the school board could not alter the plans or specifications in any way without rebidding the project, and the council tentatively approved a $5 million figure with a strong appeal that the pool remain in the plans

Dr. Whitney said the board then made deletions and deferments to reduce the bond issue to $5 million as per an Oct. 12 proposal presented the council

"Since the Oct. 19 transmittal, several of you have indicated your disappointment, since we showed deletions of only about $199,000 and deferments of about $419,000," Dr. Whitney wrote city officials.

Operating Budgets

"You have assumed these deferments will appear in our next few operating budgets," he observed.

Dr. Whitney said the school board is now trying to show that the major portion of deferments can be financed through channels other than the operating budget—such as federal aid, rebidding of equipment and furniture and some possible economies during construction

Dr. Whitney said on Oct. 15 the State Department of Public Instruction informed the school board that its original ruling on federal aid for construction had been reversed, and a minimum of $70,000 could now be expected

He said the board was also told $50,000 could be expected through the Vocational Education Act of 1963

Do Own Work

Dr Whitney also indicated the school board intends to have its own maintenance staff develop a portion of the athletic field, revising the estimated cost from $64,000 down to $30,000 He said this was successfully carried out in the development of the Einstein field.

He said other economies and substitutions would be made.

"We believe that with some mutual faith and confidence between the council and the board of education, the new high school can be constructed and equipped for approximately $5,000,0000," Dr. Whitney concluded. "We hope sincerely that you will see fit to proceed on this basis."

CAB Denies Airline Fare Increase Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board suspended Wednesday a number of fare increases proposed by North Central Airlines, Inc.

The CAB, by a 3-2 vote, ordered a review of the proposed increases. It approved lower fares on 12 routes served by North Central.

The CAB also permitted Lake Central Inc. to increase minimum fares from $6 to $10 on 25 routes and to add 20 cents to 50 cents on numerous other fares.

Knowles Invites WSU-O Students to Attend Seminar at Madison Oct. 29

Governor Cites Role Education Plays in Wisconsin Economy

OSHKOSH — Gov. Warren Knowles Wednesday announced a student seminar at Madison Oct. 29 to which he was inviting WSU-O Student Government Legislature President James Larson of Waupaca and "Advance" Editor Sandra Therm of Oshkosh.

The governor made the announcement during his talk to more than 1,000 students at the Wisconsin State University - Oshkosh Albee Hall Wednesday afternoon. Sponsor of the talk was the university's YGOP Club.

Gov. Knowles said he was inviting student leaders from the public and private colleges and universities of the state to give them a chance to see government in operation and to interview the various state officials and department heads.

'Always Open'

"The executive office door is always open," he told the students as he suggested they write him with any questions or problems they might have. "Of course you won't always find me in. I might be out giving a speech someplace."

There is nothing partisan about education, just as there is nothing partisan about highways or highway safety or conservation of resources and water, the governor said.

He called it "frustrating" to see the activities of a small minority group give the universities and students a bad name, "but that is true in life also."

Speaking on higher education and its relationship to the state's economic development, Gov. Knowles stressed the increase in the budgets for education and the number educated. Fifty-one per cent of the state budget is for education. To that must be added monies spent at the local levels, he said.

One-fourth of the Wisconsin population of 4,500,000 is now in elementary and secondary schools with about 855,000 in public schools and 200,000 in private and parochial schools. Growth of the University of Wisconsin and its Milwaukee campus has been 16 per cent this last year while in the nine state universities the growth has been 28 per cent, Gov. Knowles said.

Lack of Communication

He feels there has been a lack of communication in making the public aware of the total part education plays in the state. In two years, the governor said, half of the population of Wisconsin will be under the age of 25.

"Education is the cornerstone of all social and economic growth — the passport to freedom — and provides the opportunity to succeed in this competitive world," he said. "Half of the children now in sixth grade will be working at jobs that do not exist today.

"There is a close relationship between educational institutions, business and industry and job opportunities. We should be interested not only in outer space, but in inner space — that space between the two ears," he said.

He warned of the "brain-drain" of college graduates for jobs in other states, stressing the need for education and industry to work together as a team for industry to use the multitude of skills and backgrounds available on the state campuses and for the campuses to train and provide the new horizons for the economic and industrial growth.

"The state must have a strong and growing economy and lots of new taxpayers if we are going to support the education needs of our society," Knowles said. "The horizons are unlimited in the development of our economy and educational opportunities."

City-Town Suit May Change Interpretation of State Law

GREEN BAY — The annual conference of th Wisconsin League of Municipalities was told Thursday the suit by the City of Menasha against the Town of Menasha concerning extra-territorial zoning may provide a new interpretation of the state law.

City attorney Richard Steffens told a discussion section of municipal attorneys the city now has a suit pending in County Court which would force the town to appoint three members to a city-town extra-territorial zoning commission.

He admitted, however, that even if the appointment was forced by the court, the town would not be forced to put any zoning plan into effect.

The discussion came up while the attorneys were discussing "Areas of Cooperation between Towns and Municipalities." Robert Mortensen, legal advisor to the Wisconsin Towns Association, was the principle speaker.

Possible Areas

He said that there are many possible areas of cooperation between towns and cities and that instances of cooperation are "increasing rather than decreasing."

Any cooperation he said, "results in tremendous savings in time and money for both."

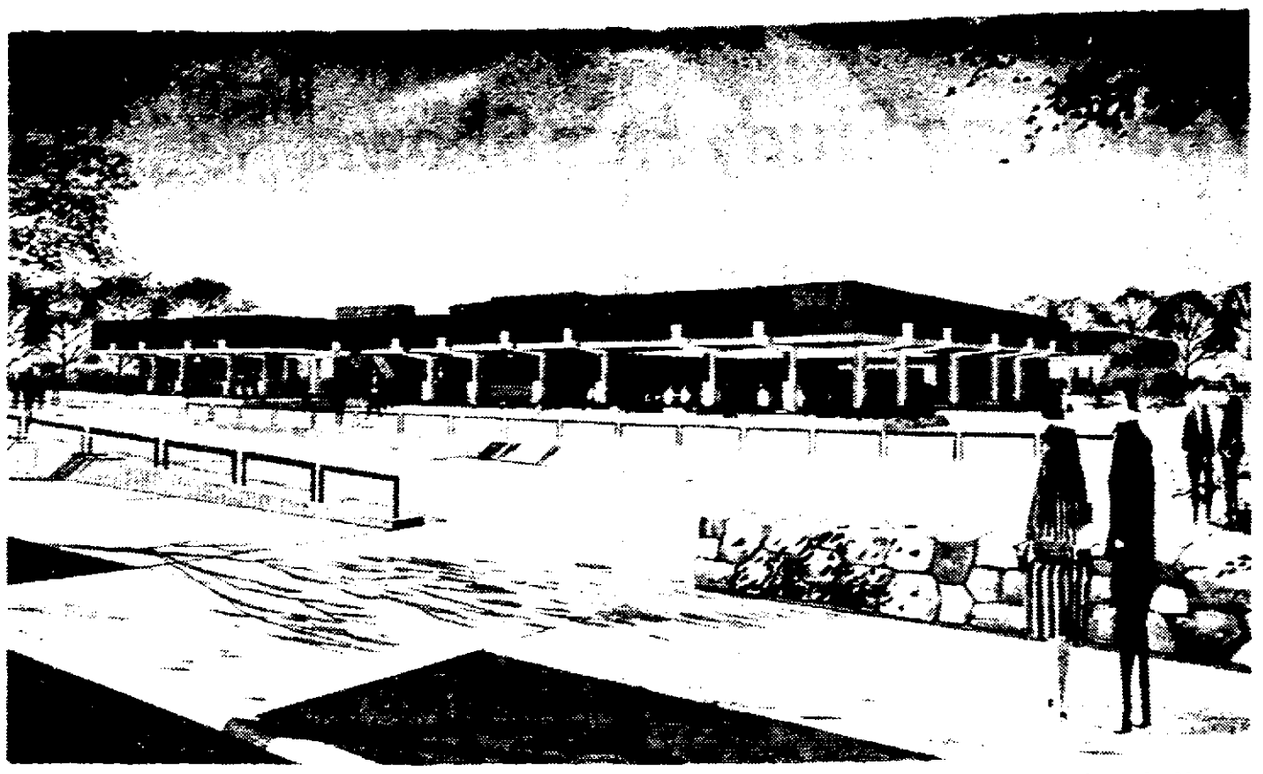
One of the largest areas of potential cooperation is the establishment of common zoning and building codes, he said, under the 1963 extra-territorial zoning statutes.

But, he warned, it is better for the cities to approach the towns with an offer to assist by using a larger planning staff.

Cites Townships

As an example he cited six townships around the city of Madison which are "toying with the idea of adopting the same building codes as the city."

Mortensen said that one factor that may accelerate cooperation will be the completion of county board reorganization.



The Foundation Now Is Being poured for this $1,635,000 food service building at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh which will feed some 2,400 students daily when opened late in January of 1967. Designed to accommodate students living in two "high-rise" dormitories, the building is being erected at the corner of Osceola Street and Pearl Avenue near the "high-rise" dormitory now under construction. Work will get underway on a second "high-rise" dormitory in March. This is the second separate food service building on the WSU-O campus. The first one, on Elmwood Avenue, will open in January of 1966. Other food facilities are operated in Reeve Union and Radford Hall. Dovermann Associates are the architects and Precour Co. of Oshkosh is the general contractor.

Funds Sought For Fair Building

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County Board's fair, park and conservation committee Wednesday night voted to request $30,000 in addition to insurance money to replace the exposition building which burned Sept. 4.

A total of $33,668 was received in insurance monies but $2,495 had to be paid to the various fire departments which battled the blaze plus $1,022 to the county highway department for cleaning up the fairgrounds area.

The committee, in a joint session with the fair association officers, explored possibilities for rebuilding the 95 by 210 foot tructure. Prices ranged from $60,000 to $70,000, depending on how complete the building was to be and whether to include insulation, washrooms and repair or replacement of the cement floor.

Billion Dollar a Year Business

K-C Officials Tell Rapid Growth In Household Paper Product Use

SAN FRANCISCO — Household use of paper products, now a billion-dollar-a-year market, is growing faster than such basic economic indicators as personal income, and spending and by 1975 will approach $2 billion in sales volume, an executive of one of the nation's leading paper companies said here today.

Harry J. Sheering, vice president and general manager for Kimberly-Clark Corporation's consumer products division, said consumption of paper products, including facial and bathroom tissues, feminine sanitary products, table napkins and towels, was growing at a rate of 6 per cent annually — faster than any other segment of the paper industry.

Advertising Expense

Sheerin told members of the San Francisco Society of Security Analysts that one out of every $5 worth of household tissue shipped in this country comes from Kimberly-Clark. Consumer paper products represent 45 per cent of the company's domestic sales and over 90 per cent of its foreign sales.

He said the company would spend more than $22 million this year to advertise and promote its wide line of products.

Executive vice president G. Kenneth Crowell said the company anticipates an increase in sales and earnings in fiscal 1966. Last year Kimberly-Clark had $35 million in earnings on $577 million in sales, ranking the company fifth in size among the world's papermakers.

Crowell said the company plans to apply a new system of papermaking called the "twin wire" technique to the making of tissue paper starting this winter at a Memphis, Tenn., mill. He predicted that the manufacturing process, if successful, "could well revolutionize the sanitary paper industry."

The system at Memphis, which was developed by company engineers, is designed to "greatly increase" manufacturing speeds.

He also revealed the company has a similar twin wire system already in operation at its Niagara, Wis., mill, the first installed in this country for the manufacture of book (printing) paper. He said initial results of the technique "are extremely heartening." He said the advantage, as with the projected tissue tests, is to make better paper in less time.

Crowell said the company looked to the international market for long term growth, noting that the per capita consumption of paper world-wide averaged only 64 pounds (and that half of the world's countries registered use of only 20 pounds) as contrasted to the U.S. average of 480 pounds of paper per person annually.

Crowell said Kimberly-Clark has producing facilities in 24 foreign countries and markets its products in 125 nations. Overseas sales, he said, will approach $200 million this year and some $50 million will be invested abroad in expansion programs, as much as possible in foreign borrowings and currencies to be consistent with the administration's balance of payments program.

Gov. Warren Knowles made a short speech at the annual meeting of Wolf River Country, Inc., Wednesday night at Appleton's Terrace Motor Inn. The governor discussed promotion of Wisconsin as a vacationland. Shown are, from left, T. R. Teschner, Crandon, treasurer; Luana Honnaman, Winneconne, Miss Wolf River Country; Gov. Knowles; Harry Emons, New London, president; James C. Alexander, Chicago, manager of the Wisconsin Vacation Center, and Murel Edinger, Appleton, executive secretary. Alexander gave the main address at the meeting. (Post-Crescent Photo) mental in Wolf River Country's bettering both ends of its dilemma.

First, he suggested less emphasis on fishing, which tends to attract only the men of the family. Resorters must "raise their sights and appeal to the whole family," he proposed. He added that fishing can be a recreation for the whole family, but that advertisements should carry not pictures of men with muskies, but rather of men and their sons with a string of pan fish.

Second, Alexander said, "You really make your money with man-made attractions, not natural ones. Fishing, in other words isn't the whole story." He pointed out that New York State, Nevada and California are top opponents of Wisconsin in seeking out the recreation dollar. The main attractions in these states, he said, are New York City, slot machines and Disneyland, which hardly can be classified as natural wonders. Alexander said he felt Wolf River Country vacation trade to the major business that it should be.

"You . . . doing the best they can with what they have, but they need better thinking, implementation, innovation.

"We have a tremendous potential, but it doesn't mean anything unless we do something about it. Nickels and dimes," he said, "will not be sufficient to increase the Wolf River Country vacation trade to the major business that it should be."

search and new products isn't at all surprising. He began his American Can career in 1938 as a laboratory technician in Maywood, Ill. This was after he received a chemical engineering degree from the University of Rochester and spent a year with du Pont.

May recalls that after he got his degree, "I thought a $10,000-a-year salary would be a great accomplishment. My ultimate ambition was to be a research director. I had no idea of going into administration.

From that point on, May held several positions with American Can in various production capacities. In 1956 he became assistant to the vice president of sales and, about a year later, he was elected a vice president of the executive department.

Two months later he became vice president and general manager of American's former Canco division (now the Canco products group), which operated 60 container plants in the U.S. and Canada.

Elected to Board

In 1960 he was elected to the board and executive committee and in 1962 was promoted to planning and development vice president.

The rise of Bill May's star then became astronomical. In 1963 he became an executive vice president and by the fall of 1964, when American's corporate structure was aligned into two major branches—administration and operations, each headed by an administrative vice president directly under the chief executive officer—May became the head of administration. (At the same time, Elmer T. Klassen, 55, who is now American's president, became the executive vice president in charge of operations.

May reached the top this Sept. 1 when he took over American's corporate reins from William C. Stolk, who retired after 49 years with the company.

He repeated a statement Wednesday that he had made three months ago to the New York press: "There's only one direction I can go now and that's down, but I don't anticipate that."

His actions prove he means what he says.

Policies May Aid Growth of Valley Housing

but also those on the books earlier, Bytof said.

In addition to an outline of the provisions of the laws, the guide contains interpretations of regulations laid down by federal agencies that administer the laws.

He said the guide was prepared by the National Association of Real Estate Boards and "is the single, most easily accessible source of such wide-ranging housing information available to realtors, the average home owner and businessman."

36 Programs Covered

Thirty-six housing programs are covered, all involving federal financial cooperation or assistance through loans, grants, or insurance of loans, Bytof said.

"Although the guide describes programs that benefit the average person who owns or wants to own a home as well as a plan that provides federally insured home loans on a liberal basis for peace-time veterans—both types handled by realtors in the course of their daily business—the programs of most significance to the whole community are those aimed at less fortunate citizens," Bytof said.

Bytof said the Board of Realtors would bring the programs to the attention of city groups in order that housing projects of benefit to the community could be studied and possible undertaken.

"With so many programs involving so much available assistance, it is essential that our community consider more positively adequate study of its housing needs," he asserted.

directing the programs to be successful.

An indication of the convention theme and the changing federal-local relationship was the appearance of William Mullen, a representative of Vice-President Hubert Humphrey, on the platform. Humphrey has been designated by President Johnson as a liaison for federal urban programs, and Mullin said the Vice-President particularly wanted to offer help to smaller cities.

Explain Program

In his address, John Kramer, Fennimore city attorney and league president, himself an active Republican, said the convention theme was to explain available federal programs for local officials who wanted to use them.

In the convention keynote address, Patrick Healy, executive director of the National League of Cities, dismissed the "ancient fear that the independence of states and local governments will be prejudiced by federal aid."

Healy also discounted the criticism that money is wasted in federal taxation turned into federal aid. A house subcommittee found the "freight charge" to be 1.6 per cent for collection, research, and administration, he said.

The federal government has the money, but the states and, particularly, the cities have the problems, Healy said. This demands a reallocation of national resources since cities no longer perform just housekeeping functions, he said.

Healy said this included economic renewal, racial relations, poverty and ignorance, housing, mental health, outdoor recreation and beautification.

Cities Dying?

Healy warned that some are saying that cities are dying institutions unable to meet modern problems. He said leadership was needed to blunt this criticism and that there is more to leadership than waiting to respond to the wishes of the people.

Reserve armory, from which police were called.

Officials believe the body was badly beaten and that the beating took place in the city. It was then taken to a spot where the body was dumped into the water.

Consider Suicide

Chief Guentner said Wednesday he was not discounting the possibility of suicide, although at this time, it may seem unlikely. "We will not discard the idea," he said.

Police also are investigating whether the stone, about 12 inches in diameter and weighing 30 pounds, was taken from the shoreline which is lined with similar rocks.

The cause of death has not been determined. The victim had mud from the lake bottom in his lungs, the autopsy performed by Dr. Helen Young of the Milwaukee Medical Examiner's office disclosed.

Positive identification of Kappell came late Tuesday on the State Crime Laboratory's comparisons of fingerprints and dental charts.

Fox River Paper Co. in Appleton, asking research for a better and cheaper papermark process, resulted, three years later, in the founding of a new business, the Customark Inc., and 4,200 sales orders for products "where, before, there was perhaps a handful of orders."

Researched at Institute

Procedures in developing the marks used on discriminating stationery, were researched through laboratories of The Institute of Paper Chemistry.

He also outlined the development of products by Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co., a firm which in 1925 manufactured only sandpaper but is today one of the leading producers of a variety of products.

He said the Minnesota firm and the Appleton firm "experienced growth because of a wealth of people and ideas, and a progressive management which provided an understanding of those ideas."

Senior Organ Student to Give Sunday Recital

Michie Kobayashi's Program at Chapel to Feature Bach, Dupre

Lawrence Conservatory senior Michie Kobayashi will be heard in a public organ recital at 4 p.m. Sunday at Memorial Chapel.

Miss Kobayashi, an organ pupil of LaVahn Maesch, dean of the conservatory, will perform Fete, by Jean Langlais;

Miss Kobayashi

Passacaglia and Fugue in C minor, by J. S. Bach; Sonato No. III, by Paul Hindemith; Humoresque - L'ogano Primitivo, by Pietro Yon, and Variations on a Noel, by Marcel Dupre.

The recitalist is a native of Tokyo, Japan. She is a former Milwaukee-Downer College student and a candidate for the bachelor of music degree with a major in organ.

Department Honor

She has been nominated by the Lawrence organ department to appear on next spring's Commencement concert with Lawrence Symphony orchestra.

Her apperances at Lawrence have included a junior recital presented last spring, participation in the American Guild of Organists student chapter recital in January, and as a piano accompanist for student recitals. She has been a member of the Women's Chorus, and formerly sang with the Downer Choir.

Her program focuses on the Bach and Dupre scores, both written in variation form. The Bach Passacaglia is based on a theme of Raison, a French composer who bridged the 17th and 18th centuries. It is written in a slow "peacock" dance form, a style later taken over by instrumental composers as a vehicle for elaboration on their orchestral resources. The accompanying Fugue is based on the first half of the work's main theme. Dupre's score is a tour de force consisting of 10 variations on a traditional French Noel.

The Hindemith sonata, the last of three he composed, dates from 1940. Written in 18th century style, it employs a linear contemporary counterpoint in each of three movements.

'Workman' Steals Mink Coats at Sheboygan

SHEBOYGAN (AP) — Five mink coats valued at $6,875 were stolen Tuesday by a thief who apparently posed as a workman and walked out of the H.C. Prange department store with the loot in a large cardboard box.

The theft was discovered Wednesday. Clerks in the fur department said they had seen a man in work clothes in the department about 5:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Nelson Praises House Approval Of Teacher Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D - Wis., has hailed final House action on the National Teacher Corps as "one of the most promising accomplishments of a remarkable session of Congress."

Nelson introduced the Teacher Corps amendment to the Higher Education Bill last February. It would authorize creation of a corps of 5,000 college graduates to work in local schools under the direction of experienced teachers.

The corps survived a last minute attempt to kill it in the House Wednesday.

The bill containing provisions for the corps will go to President Johnson for signing after the Senate approves the Senate-House conference report on the measure.

Jingo Regrets 'O'Brien' Series a Slow Starter

Believes Format Too Realistic for TV Success; More 'Ne'er Do Wrong' Needed

BY JINGO

Jingo notes with some sadness the slow starts CBS-TV's "Trials of O'Brien" has had, because the how is one of the more worthy new efforts.

Perhaps the competition is

Jingo

just too tough, with the highly-popular "Get Smart" running opposite on NBC and the durable "Lawrence Welk Show" maintaining its steady audience on ABC.

"O'Brien" is the familiar anti-hero found so often in literature; capable of mistakes, more or less a shady character, in constant trouble and not what could be termed lovable.

Yet these characters have found sympathy from discerning readers, which probably answers the question of why "O'Brien" has so far been a bomb on TV. Viewers just aren't sympathetic or discerning.

Star Dejected

Peter Falk, star of the series, is more than a little amazed at the show's rejection thus far. A bit weary after 15 hours on the set recently, Falk disgustedly observed: "Let's face it, we have a show strictly geared for an adult audience. We can't change it to please the younger viewers. If we do the whole concept would be ruined."

Jingo is of the opinion that Falk's judgement on what is wrong was faulty. It isn't that "Get Smart" and "Lawrence Welk" have attracted the young audience—they certainly have their share of older viewers—but rather that "O'Brien" is a little too real and points out personality flaws that hit just a bit too close to home for many.

To the credit of the network, "O'Brien" is still held in high esteem by those who make the decisions. New CBS president, John Schneider, has agreed to go along with Falk for at least 22 weeks, instead of the normal 13-week test period. And Schneider seems willing, if the poor ratings continue, to give it a more advantageous hour.

Problems Still There

Jingo is not quite that optimistic, however, about a switch of time. The basic problems outlined above will not change, regardless of time slot. The only solution that would work would be to change the format to make O'Brien appear in the ne'er do wrong light of a lawyer whose ideals are above reproach and whose morals are clean as can be, much like "Perry Mason." And if "O'Brien" doesn't want to suffer the same fate as "The Defenders," he hadn't better lose any cases.

That, my dear friends, is the sorry state of "How to Succeed in Television Without Being Trying."

Bewitched in One of Its Best Episodes

BY TV SCOUT

8-8:30-Channels 11-6-9 — Bewitched has one of its best episodes in a long time. Samantha is exposed to a black Peruvian rose, and develops what Aunt Clara (Marion Lorne) calls "the square green spot disease," because that is what covers Samantha's pretty face. But worse, her magic goes phfft. She breaks windows when trying to open them and puts doors where windows are supposed to be. Aunt Clara just happens to know the ingredients necessary for a curative potion, and it's up to Darren to get them. bats wings, porpoise milk, eye of newt and an ostrich feather. Phillip Coolidge has a delightful scene as the man who runs a witches' shop.

6:30-7:30-Channels 4-5 — In "The Trick," Daniel Boone is suckered by a bounty hunter claiming to be a representative of the colonial government. He wants Boone to find a renegade and deliver him to justice. Essentially, this is a two-man show, as Fess Parker captures the man (Aldo Ray) and gradually learns to admire his charm. (Color)

7-7:30-Channels 2-7-12 — The first part of Gilligan's Island has some fun with exclusive clubs, as Gilligan becomes a "tax-free millionaire" as the result of winning a sweepstakes. After he hears the news on the radio, the Howells admit him to their country club and teach him the proper attitude towards the poor. But soon Gilligan has loaned everyone on the island the $50,000 entrance fee, to the horror of the Howells. A dream sequence at the end is more tiresome than clever. (Color)

7:30-8-Channels 2-7-12 — Under the influence of a circus they have attended, Chip and Ernie become big-game hunters camping in the backyard on My Three Sons. So when a lion escapes the circus, and winds up in the backyard and then in the house, Ernie tries to warn everyone. But Steve thinks Ernie is still play-acting, and Robbie feels its Ernie's way of getting attention and love. (Color)

7:30-8-Channels 11-6-9 — O.K. Crackerby (Burl Ives) meets his match in Aggie Krancpool (Kathleen Freeman), a woman who once saved his life and now comes around for a favor. She wants St. John (Hal Buckley) to come tutor her two daughters, who, naturally, turn out to be gorgeous chicks once they turn their attention away from Indian wrestling. A funny episode (Color)

8-10:15-Channels 2-7-12 — The Clan—Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Sammy Davis, Jr. This is the detailed study of a gigantic plot for the simultaneous robbery of five Las Vegas gambling casinos on New Year's Eve. It has its moments, but not enough of them. (Color)

Dupre's score is a tour de force consisting of 10 variations on a traditional French Noel

The Hindemith sonata, the last of three he composed, dates from 1940. Written in 18th century style, it employs a linear contemporary counterpoint in each of three movements

Nelson Praises House Approval Of Teacher Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen Gaylord Nelson. D - Wis. has hailed final House action on the National Teacher Corps as "one of the most promising accomplishments of a remarkable session of Congress"

Nelson introduced the Teacher Corps amendment to the Higher Education Bill last February. It would authorize creation of a corps of 5,000 college graduates to work in local schools under the direction of experienced teachers.

The corps survived a last minute attempt to kill it in the House Wednesday.

The bill containing provisions for the corps will go to President Johnson for signing after the Senate approves the Senate-House conference report on the measure.

Jingo Regrets 'O'Brien' Series a Slow Starter

Believes Format Too Realistic for TV Success; More 'Ne'er Do Wrong' Needed

BY JINGO

Jingo notes with some sadness the slow starts CBS-TV's "Trials of O'Brien" has had, because the how is one of the more worthy new efforts.

Perhaps the competition is

Jingo

just too tough, with the highly-popular "Get Smart" running opposite on NBC and the durable "Lawrence Welk Show" maintaining its steady audience on ABC.

"O'Brien" is the familiar anti-hero found so often in literature: capable of mistakes, more or less a shady character, in constant trouble and not what could be termed lovable.

Yet these characters have found sympathy from discerning readers, which probably answers the question of why "O'Brien" has so far been a bomb on TV. Viewers just aren't sympathetic or discerning.

Star Dejected

Peter Falk, star of the series, is more than a little amazed at the show's rejection thus far. A bit weary after 15 hours on the set recently, Falk disgustedly observed: "Let's face it, we have a show strictly geared for an adult audience. We can't change it to please the younger viewers. If we do the whole concept would be ruined."

Jingo is of the opinion that Falk's judgement on what is wrong was faulty. It isn't that "Get Smart" and "Lawrence Welk" have attracted the young audience—they certainly have their share of older viewers—but rather that "O'Brien" is a little too real and points out personality flaws that hit just a bit too close to home for many.

To the credit of the network, "O'Brien" is still held in high esteem by those who make the decisions. New CBS president, John Schneider, has agreed to go along with Falk for at least 22 weeks, instead of the normal 13-week test period. And Schneider seems willing, if the poor ratings continue, to give it a more advantageous hour.

Problems Still There

Jingo is not quite that optimistic, however, about a switch of time. The basic problems outlined above will not change, regardless of time slot. The only solution that would work would be to change the format to make O'Brien appear in the ne'er do wrong light of a lawyer whose ideals are above reproach and whose morals are clean as can be, much like "Perry Mason." And if "O'Brien" doesn't want to suffer the same fate as "The Defenders," he hadn't better lose any cases.

That, my dear friends, is the sorry state of "How to Succeed in Television Without Being Trying."

Bewitched in One of Its Best Episodes

BY TV SCOUT

8-8:30-Channels 11-6-3 — Bewitched has one of its best episodes in a long time. Samantha is exposed to a black Peruvian rose, and develops what Aunt Clara (Marion Lorne) calls "the square green spot disease," because that is what covers Samantha's pretty face. But worse, her magic goes phfft, she breaks windows when trying to open them, and puts doors where windows are supposed to be. Aunt Clara just happens to know the ingredients necessary for a curative potion, and it's up to Darren to get them: bats wings, porpoise milk, eye of newt and an ostrich feather. Phillip Coolidge has a delightful scene as the man who runs a witches' shop.

6:30-7:30-Channels 1-5 — In "The Trek," Daniel Boone is suckered by a bounty hunter claiming to be a representative of the colonial government. He wants Boone to find a renegade and deliver him to justice. Essentially, this is a two-man show, as Fess Parker captures the man (Aldo Ray) and gradually learns to admire his charm. (Color)

7-7:30-Channels 2-7-12 — The first part of Gilligan's Island has some fun with exclusive clubs, as Gilligan becomes a "tax-free millionaire" as the result of winning a sweepstakes. After he hears the news on the radio, the Howells admit him to their country club and teach him the proper attitude towards the poor. But soon Gilligan has loaned everyone on the island the $50,000 entrance fee, to the horror of the Howells. A dream sequence at the end is more tiresome than clever. (Color)

7:30-8-Channels 2-7-12 — Under the influence of a circus they have attended, Chip and Ernie become big-game hunters campiing in the backyard on My Three Sons. So when a lion escapes the circus, and winds up in the backyard and then in the house, Ernie tries to warn everyone. But Steve thinks Ernie is still playacting, and Robbie feels its Ernie's way of getting attention and love. (Color)

7:30-8-Channels 11-6-9 — O.K. Crackerby (Burl Ives) meets his match in Aggie Kranepool (Kathleen Freeman), a woman who once saved his life and now comes around for a favor. She wants St. John (Hal Buckley) to come tutor her two daughters, who, naturally, turn out to be gorgeous chicks once they turn their attention away from Indian wrestling. A funny episode. (Color)

8-10:15-Channels 2-7-12 — The Clan—Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Sammy Davis, Jr. This is the detailed study of a Peter Lawford and Joey Bishop gigantic plot for the simultaneous robbery of five Las Vegas gambling casinos on New Year's Eve. It has its moments, but not enough of them. (Color)

Save Old Rope and Ribbon to Make a Beautiful Basket

BY CAPPY DICK

To make a basket like that in Figure 2 you will need a length of clothesline, a ball of ribbon that has been saved from packages and a large darning needle with a big eye. Thread the ribbon into the needle.

A darning needle helps

Put some paste on one end of the rope and wrap ribbon around it. When you have covered about an inch and a half of clothesline, coil that end into a tight circle and run the needle down through the center of the coil twice to hold it firmly together. Spread some more paste on the rope, wind about an inch and a half with ribbon and put the needle down through the coil again two times. The coil will now resemble that in Figure 1.

Continue wrapping ribbon around the clothesline and each inch and a half take two stitches between the coils, then wrap some more. When you have used up one piece of ribbon, thread another piece of contrasting color into the eye of the needle and continue. This will produce a basket of many bright colors.

When you have made a flat mat big enough for the bottom of the basket, begin building the slanting sides (Figure 2). Continue until you have a basket that is deep enough.

A coat of shellac will make the finished basket more durable because the shellacked surface will resist dust.

11 Hunters Lose Lives In Colorado

Shootings Account For Three Deaths; 7 Heart Attacks

DURANGO, Colo. (AP) — Eleven hunters have died in the opening days of Colorado's big game hunting season. The game kill is reported far below last year's bag.

Shooting accounted for three deaths and seven men died of heart attacks in the high country west of the Continental Divide. One hunter was crushed to death beneath a Jeep.

Seven persons are reported missing in wide areas of snow, fog and rain.

A Game, Fish and Parks Department spokesman said deer kills are down 41 per cent and elk kills off 22 per cent compared with last year. The season opened last Saturday.

Gov. John A. Love is concerned about the gunshot deaths. They already equal the number of hunters killed last year in the three-week season.

Gun Handling

Love said Tuesday he has discussed the possibility of requiring a gun handling test before hunters could be issued big game hunting licenses.

The three men who were shot were all Colorado residents. Three of the heart attack victims were from out of state. They ranged in age from 47 to 59.

Searchers in fog-shrouded southwestern Colorado have been looking for three days for Howard Deal, 36, of Houston, Tex., and a Cortez, Colo., man last seen on opening day while tracking an elk.

Another man, Henry Hunt, 60, of Monte Vista, Colo., has been lost since Saturday in a snow-covered region of Wolf Creek Pass, elevation 10,850 feet.

County sheriffs, also harassed by snow which fell over the weekend, have been busy searching for them and the four others who are missing. When the weather clears, helicopters will be used.

The Game, Fish and Parks Department estimates 26,000 Californians and 15,000 Texans were among the 60,000 hunters who entered Colorado. Another 60,000 state residents are said to be participating.

Candy Which Will Help send YMCA Hi-Y and Tri-Y delegates to leadership training camp, national Hi-Y assembly, state youth government conference and the YMCA World Service Program, was distributed to 500 members Tuesday. Mrs. Sedgwick Roberts, one of the 50 mothers of club members who helped pack the candy, assisted Natalie Buesing, and Lilary Ziven get under way. An awards dinner will be held in December for the members. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Actress Dies; Apparently Took Own Life

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Blonde actress Marie (The Body) McDonald was found dead in her rambling ranch home today.

Sheriff's deputies said the circumstances of her death were not known immediately.

Officers said Miss McDonald's husband, Donald F. Taylor, reported discovering his wife's body at 5:30 a.m.

Homicide investigators were dispatched immediately to the home in suburban Hidden Hills on the farthest side of the sprawling San Fernando Valley northwest of Hollywood.

The death of the beautiful curvaceous Miss McDonald, 42, ended a career that was one of Hollywood's most flamboyant but for all the headlines she made least successful.

Taylor, an independent film producer, was the actress' fifth husband, but her sixth marriage. She was formerly wed twice to shoe magnate Harry Karl, who is now the husband of actress Debbie Reynolds. Miss McDonald's other husbands were sportsman Richard Allord, her agent Victor Orsatti and attorney Edward P. Callahan.

Senate Okays Revamped Sugar Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a revamped sugar bill which authorizes more domestic production and sets country-by-country foreign quotas.

Approval came on a 66-16 vote Wednesday, and the measure now must go to a House-Senate Conference Committee.

Both chambers agreed on a 580,000-ton-a-year boost for domestic growers, but they disagree on the foreign quotas distribution.

The Senate version comes closer to meeting administration recommendations.

Under the quota system, both domestic and foreign producers receive a premium price of about 6.85 cents a pound compared to the open market cost of about 2 cents a pound.

Both House and Senate versions allocate about 65 per cent of the market to domestic growers.

Each would assign the U.S. market growth during the next six years to foreign quotas until nondomestic producers regain the 40 per cent share of the U.S. market they have held until this year.

Civic Orchestra Plans Concert After 20 Years

STANLEY, England (AP) — After practicing for 20 years, the Stanley Civic Orchestra finally is going to play in public.

Twenty years ago a group of local amateur musicians began playing together, but no one ever asked them to play. The Urban District Council built a civic center and asked the orchestra to play next Monday night. At the final rehearsal, the orchestra was told the concert must be postponed for another six weeks. The building isn't ready.

Initial Step To Top Taken By Brezhnev

New Additional Post In Government Could Add Power

BY FRED COLEMAN

MOSCOW (AP) — Leonid Brezhnev, following a pattern set by Nikita Khrushchev, has taken what could be the first step toward becoming undisputed No. 1 man in the Kremlin.

At last week's session of the Supreme Soviet—the Soviet parliament — Brezhnev got a government post in addition to his duties as first secretary of the Soviet Communist party.

Eventually it could help him, like Khrushchev ,to consolidate his power at the top of both party and government.

Or it could help him shift into the largely ceremonial post of Soviet president and turn the party leadership over to a younger man.

The first hint of awich way BreBre

The first hint of which way Brezhnev will turn is likely to come from President Anastas Mikoyan, who will be 70 next month and is rumored about to retire.

Top Job

As party first secretary, Brezhnev now holds the top job here. The party runs the government and Brezhnev heads the party.

But Brezhnev still shares his power with the "collective leadership" that succeeded Khrushchev, most notably with Premier Alexei Kosygin, who runs the government.

Both Brezhnev and Kosygin are on the 12-man presidium, highest organ of the party.

Until last week Brezhnev had no high government post. Now the party chief is a member of the presidium of the parliament.

The immediate effect is to give Brezhnev a position from which he as well as Kosygin can represent the Soviet government in summit conferences with Western government chiefs.

Khrushchev Pattern

This is what Khrushchev did.

As party chief alone, Khrushchev would not have been able to represent the Soviet government at the summit. This role would have gone to then-Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

But Khrushchev, like Brezhnev, had himself made a member of parliament's presidium. In that capacity Khrushchev attended the Big Four summit conference in Geneva in 1955 with Bulganin

At that conference Khrushchev's name was listed second to Bulganin But in 1958 Bulganin was out and Khrushchev was both party chief and premier Khrushchev also used his parliamentary post to make state visits in 1955 with Bulganin to India, Burma and Afghanistan Brezhnev and Kosygin have not yet traveled outside the Communist camp. When they do, they can now go as a pair.

Other Explanations

There could be two other explanations for the new post awarded to Brezhnev.

If Mikoyan retires, the man who succeeds him as president probably will be chosen from the presidium of parliament since the president is chairman of that presidium As a presidium member, Brezhnev would be eligible to succeed Mikoyan as president, a post Brezhnev once held before.

Brezhnev could then be both party chief and president. This, however, appears unlikely since the presidency involves time consuming ceremonial chores.

Brezhnev is only 59 but had had a heart attack, and there have been unconfirmed reports that he is anxious to move to a less demanding post

Under this line of thinking he could give up the party chairmanship and take over as president again. So far there has been no evidence that Brezhnev has such plans The first Soviet Communist party congress since October 1961 is scheduled for next March 22. The only leader listed to speak besides Kosygin is Leonid Brezhnev.
